Single Chief Vital

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's integration of defence headquarters under a single chief of staff is absolutely essential if savings are to be achieved, Defence Minister Hellyer said Tuesday.

Outlining his plan to the Commons defence committee, Mr. Hellyer said the number of generals, lieutenant-generals and major-generals is being reduced to 12 from 17, and similar savings can be achieved as integration of the armed forces on functional lines proceeds.

"We feel this will operate satisfactorily and efficiently, and that we will be able to keep our forces at a high state of readiness, and keep up the support which is absolutely essential."

CHIEFS OF STAFF

Under existing defence headquarters organization, the minister is advised on military matters by the chairman of a chiefs of staff committee and by the chiefs of the navy, army and air force. The chairman of the Defence Research Board and the deputy minister of national defence also have direct lines to the ministry.

Under the new setup, the chairman of the chiefs of staff and the three services' chiefs will be replaced by a single chief of defence staff.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) questioned Mr. Hellyer about the source of his new organization plan, and the real purpose to be achieved.

TO SAVE MONEY

Mr. Hellyer said it was to streamline the forces and use the money saved on new equipment purchases. The purpose, he said, was "to get the maximum amount of force in a high state of readiness for the least amount of money."

Mr. Lambert said it involved a fundamental reorganization of the armed forces which Parliament was being asked to approve "on his own word and the word of the government."

Grand Unfurling: Today's the Day

Which

Will It Be?

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's proposed maple leaf flag will be shown to Parliament for the first time today.

Prime Minister Pearson told Commons Tuesday that a resolution describing the new Canadian flag design would be published in today's votes and proceedings, a Commons document usually issued in mid-morning.

He also indicated that a pictorial representation of the flag would be distributed to MPs, by Thursday at the latest.

DEFINITELY READY

A spokesman for Mr. Pearson said Tuesday night that the pictorial representation would definitely be ready for today.

It was learned that the colored design would be disclosed publicly at 8:30 a.m. PDT in a committee room of the Parliament Buildings.

DEBATE SOON

Earlier, the spokesman said officials were waiting to see how the color reproduction turned out at the printers' plant before deciding when to reveal it.

Mr. Pearson said debate on the flag resolution would be started "in a matter of days." He wanted MPs to have ample opportunity to study the resolution and design first.

STRONG FEELINGS

On the eve of the new flag's parliamentary introduction, it still was not certain how the thorny issue would be handed to the MPs, most of whom have strong, and often divided, feelings on the matter.

Some Conservatives still speak privately in favor of a filibuster, confident they can rally enough support in the country to support their stand. But most Quebec Conservatives are anxious to see the proposed flag adopted without undue delay. So far there has been no indication of the party itself taking any stand.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

The Creditiste group has already pledged support to the government and a majority of New Democrats and Social Credit members have indicated they will support the maple leaf flag.

The design of the new flag still remained an official secret Tuesday—five days after the

Red Ensign Favorite On Ballots

First-day results of a national newspaper poll on choice of an official flag for Canada indicate more Canadians rallying around the Red Ensign than around a distinctive new flag.

Of 1,448 ballots received by the Toronto Telegram, 1,180 readers voted for the Red Ensign, while only 268 supported a distinctive flag, making the Ensign four-to-one favorite.

In Edmonton, ballots from Edmonton Journal readers show the Red Ensign winning with a smaller edge, supported by 316 votes compared to 288 for the new flag.

A special survey of readers by the Winnipeg Free Press shows an almost even split in voting.

'Cannibalistic'

Russian Raps Barry's Proposal

(From AP, UPI)

Soviet United Nations delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko Tuesday accused U.S. Senator Barry Goldwater of urging on the U.S. a "cannibalistic policy" of atomic warfare in South Viet Nam—and suggested that Goldwater be placed in a strait-jacket.

In other developments involving Southeast Asia:

- UN Secretary-General U Thant said in Ottawa he doubts the competence of the UN to undertake any task at present in Southeast Asia.
- U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon, South Viet Nam, said Communist Viet Cong guerrillas stepped up activities near that capital, wiping out a platoon of Vietnamese soldiers within 40 miles of the city.
- Reports from Vientiane said right-wing Laotian forces and pro-communist Pathet Lao troops were manoeuvering in evident preparation for a battle for a strategic point on the Mekong River across from Thailand.
- In Cambodia, Prince Sihanouk said he was ready to welcome UN inquiry teams and eventually UN troops to police his country's tense border with South Viet Nam.

Rare Type Of Blood Sought

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Red Cross Society is looking for two bottles of rare blood needed for the birth of an Oshawa baby June 1. The birth will be a caesarian section.

HALIFAX AREA

The Red Cross said the most convenient location for donors of this blood type is in the Halifax area. There are also some persons in the Alberta foothills, about 150 miles northeast of Edmonton, who have the same blood type.

The Red Cross said Halifax authorities have been notified but if two donors are not found in time to meet the emergency, a search will be made among those known to have the rare blood type in Alberta.

Planes Seek Missing Pair

WINNIPEG (CP) — An RCAF spokesman said a "full-scale" search will start early this morning for two Winnipeg men and a small plane, missing since they left Saturday morning for a fishing trip.

Aboard the plane, headed for a remote area on the border of Manitoba and northwestern Ontario, were the pilot Ivan Casselman, 42, and Malcolm Blake, 43.

Charge Dropped

100-Day Prisoner Deported

TORONTO (CP) — After languishing 100 days in Don Jail, a 27-year-old Buffalo, N.Y., man was given a swift plane passage back to the United States Tuesday.

The end came almost as an anti-climax for Eric Claude Hooper when immigration officials Tuesday dropped a charge they had laid 94 days after he was first imprisoned, and ordered him deported.

Hooper, who has been deported three times since 1962 when he was convicted on a narcotics charge and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, was taken to the plane by RCMP.

NO ACQUITTAL

A few hours earlier, defence lawyer Allan Mintz had insisted in court that the charge under the Immigration Act of refusing to answer questions be proceeded with so he could win Hooper an acquittal, but Magistrate S. T. Bigelow permitted the charge to be withdrawn.

Hooper had been remanded Monday to June 12 on the charge on personal bail, but was nabbed on a deportation order by RCMP officers.

Hooper said in an interview he had refused to answer any questions until he obtained legal counsel, and an immigration officer had told him:

Liberals Survive Another

OTTAWA (CP) — The minority Liberal government survived its 10th non-confidence vote of the 1964 parliamentary session Tuesday night with the backing of two New Democratic and eight Social Credit MPs.

A Conservative motion, accusing the government of failing to meet pressing agriculture problems, was defeated 130 to 112.

By DON GAIN
Colonist Military Reporter

NICOSIA — In the dry hills below St. Hilarion Castle yesterday morning I watched the second engagement of the Canadian contingent since their arrival in Cyprus.

It was probably one of the most serious incidents so far in the two months since the Canadian troops arrived on the troubled Mediterranean island.

It was directed by Major Patrick Tremblay, officer commanding Charlie Company, Royal 22nd Regiment, and squadron leader at Royal Roads from 1952 to 1955.

SIX RIFLE SHOTS

I counted six rifle shots from a Turkish Cypriot mud embankment half a mile up the hill from me. They were answered by two bursts of machine gun fire from Ferret troop carriers of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. There were no casualties.

Later, in the Kyrenia Pass, 10 miles north of Nicosia, Greek Cypriots fired on United Nations television and radio officer Antonello Marmaichi and Capt. Jean Lajeunesse.

PINNED DOWN

The two men were pinned behind their UN civilian vehicle by savage fire. While the bullets peppered the car as they lay behind it, they recorded a tape describing the scene, punctuated by the sound of fire.

Neither man was hurt. While they recorded the scene, four Canadians of the Royal 22nd regiment drove off under fire to reach Greek Cypriots and stop the shooting.

The Cypriots quickly apologized and a Cypriot government press release blamed the incident on "mistaken identity."

Marescalchi later told reporters: "We were flying UN flags."

SKIRMISHES

I left for Cyprus last week and walked right into the middle of this outburst of skirmishes between UN peace force patrols and Greek and Turkish Cypriot fighters.

A UN spokesman has accused the Cypriots of deliberately firing on the patrols in the Kyrenia Mountains when "there was no possibility the firing was accidental and due to mistaken identity."

A special military service was held yesterday for Finnish UN soldier Juhani Matikainen, who was shot and killed by

India's Chief Stricken

NEW DELHI (CP) — Prime Minister Nehru of India was taken seriously ill early today and his condition is causing anxiety, a government official told Parliament.

The 74-year-old Nehru had been ailing since last January with high blood pressure and weakness of the left side. There were reports at the time that he had suffered a stroke.

TREMBLING HEART

Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda said in the lower house: "It is with trembling heart that I have to convey to the house information about the state of health of the prime minister which has just been passed on to me by doctors in attendance on him.

"Suddenly at 6:20 this morning he (the prime minister) was taken seriously ill and his condition is causing anxiety."

THROMBOSIS

Nehru has been prime minister since India received its independence from Britain in 1947.

Reuters News Agency said usually well-informed sources said Nehru was believed to have suffered a thrombosis (blood clot). It did not say where. There had been a sudden drop in his blood pressure.

Chicken Settles Tug Suit

First Chop, Then Cheque

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—Two Chinese businessmen settled a suit out of court and in a Buddhist temple Tuesday by cutting off the head of a white cockerel with an axe.

Marine engine salesman Lai Teck Leong had brought the suit for $4,000 against tugboat company owner Chia Gek Khoon for payment for spare parts.

Chia said the salesman had guaranteed the parts would last for seven years, but they only lasted for one. Lai denied he had given a seven-year guarantee, and went to the temple to prove his point.

As anyone knows, temple authorities said, it is bad luck to kill a chicken in the temple if you are lying.

As Chia and 100 spectators looked on, Lai, to the roll of drums, severed the cockerel's head.

When lightning did not strike, Chia shrugged and handed Lai a cheque for $4,000 for the engine parts.

Governor Asks For New Troops

GEORGETOWN (CP) — Governor Sir Richard Luyt of British Guiana has requested more reinforcements from Britain, the local garrison commander, Col. Robin King, said Tuesday.

Fresh violence Monday night forced the authorities in this troubled colony to fly 150 armed police and British troops to the tense bauxite town of MacKenzie.

cabinet approved it. The 25 cabinet ministers and about half a dozen others who know the design have been sworn to secrecy.

Most speculation runs to the idea of three red maple leaves on a white field with a blue bar at each end. Others known to be considered by the cabinet include the same design without the blue bars and with the leaves on a plain blue background. There was also a report that a single-leaf design was among those considered.

The prime minister told the Commons Tuesday he wanted to give members a few days to study both the flag design and the resolution before the debate opens. Once started, he indicated Monday, the debate would not be interrupted and all members would have ample opportunity to discuss the issue.

After previous oral question periods in the Commons clearly revealed the government's intention to maintain flag secrecy until the resolution is presented, the normal barrage of questions tapered off sharply Tuesday.

How soon "after we see this pictorial obsession produced" would the debate be started? asked Opposition Leader Diefenbaker.

". . . I hope within a matter of days," replied the prime minister.

PEARSON PENNANT

Both Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) and Robert C. Coates (PC—Cumberland) fired off questions about the "Pearson pennant." Mr. Nielsen wanted to know whether instructions had gone out to any government department to "manufacture anything in the form of a Pearson pennant."

There was no reply.

Mr. Coates wondered whether, if the new flag is adopted, will there be educational programs in countries where Canadian troops are serving so the troops would not be fired upon.

That question was ruled out of order.

City Cluster Light To Be Given Seattle

A full-size cluster light standard, complete with hanging flower baskets, will be installed, with approval of city council, in downtown Seattle next month.

Mayor R. B. Wilson yesterday won the wholehearted support of public works committee for the venture, designed to publicize stepped-up air service between Seattle and Victoria.

He was prime mover in the campaign to get Trans-Canada Air Lines to popularize air travel between the two cities and Vancouver through excursion fares and increased the service.

A city delegation will make the presentation June 12.

Red Raps Goldwater

Mr. Fedorenko's comments on Senator Goldwater brought a sharp reply from U.S. envoy Adlai Stevenson, who said his country's foreign policy is made by the government's executive branch and not by Goldwater "or any other senator."

NO SENATOR

On the general policy of the U.S. in Southeast Asia, he added it was the intention of the U.S. to do "whatever is necessary to help the nations of Southeast Asia to remain free."

Stevenson accused Fedorenko of acting in "the worst tradition of the cold war" by making "allegations concerning military measures which the United States might take in the future in Southeast Asia."

He declared Fedorenko ignored entirely the actions of North Viet Nam and its Chinese Communist allies, and said these constitute the real threat to Southeast Asia.

In Laos' Mekong River action, right-wing forces were reported moving to encircle two Pathet Lao companies of about 200 men, moving south toward Paksane from the Plaine des Jarres which Pathet Lao forces earlier had cleared of neutralist troops.

LARGER FORCE

A much larger Pathet Lao force of four battalions was reported heading for Paksane from the east.

Prince Sihanouk's remarks from Cambodia followed charges by that country of aggression by both South Viet Nam and the U.S.

Same Seat, Same Job For Hawes

Coun. Fred Hawes resumed his duties with Oak Bay Council Monday—and took the same seat he vacated by retiring in 1962.

Coun. Hawes, elected in a by-election Saturday, also takes back his position as finance committee chairman from Coun. W. W. Wade, who takes over the works committee.

Former reeve George Murdoch was the subject of a bylaw given first reading Monday, appointing him Oak Bay's commissioner on the Capital Improvement District Commission.

Canadians Fire Back at Turks

Gen. Prem. Singh Gyani of India, commander of the UN peace force, has asked for apologies and explanations from Turkish Cypriot vice-president Fazil Kuchuk.

One of the incidents occurred while members of the Royal 22nd—the Van Doos—were escorting Greek Cypriot harvesters to work on a farm in the foothills beneath the Turkish Cypriot stronghold at St. Hilarion Castle.

The UN spokesman said the attack on the Canadian patrol was the first open attempt to interfere with the harvesting of crops which is being carried out under UN protection in the Kyrenia area.

He estimated that 250 rounds, probably from an automatic rifle, were fired at the Canadians before they returned 53 shots from .30-calibre machine guns mounted on Ferret scout cars.

THE ASSOCIATES:
who they are, what they do and how they can help you with a financing plan for every need

THE ASSOCIATES finance commercial ventures and private dreams.

You may never have heard of them, but they've been in business for close to fifty years. You may never have borrowed from them, but it's quite possible that the company you work for has done so at one time or another.

The Associates, with their affiliates, form one of the biggest and most experienced companies in the world of finance. They have assets totalling more than a billion and a half dollars. And they have a network of 600 offices in the United States and Canada.

And yet it isn't surprising that you may never have heard of them.

One good reason why their name is not more familiar is that the Associates are not in the business of persuading people to borrow money. They are in the business of lending to responsible companies and individuals at reasonable rates of interest. And that's a business that can be conducted quite quietly and calmly.

Some Canadian newspapers have had a good deal to say recently about exorbitant rates of interest, hidden charges and the dangerous game of lending money to people who are not qualified to borrow.

The Associates have never conducted business in this way. In many cases, their rates of interest compare very favourably with the rates charged at Canadian banks; there are no hidden charges and no obscure clauses in their contracts; and they never lend money to unqualified people.

IS THERE A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE ASSOCIATES AND OTHER FINANCE COMPANIES?

Most other finance companies specialize in certain kinds of loans. In automobile financing, for example, in business loans or in debt consolidation. The Associates, on the other hand, have a financing plan for literally every need. They make it possible for you to go to one company for all your borrowing needs and they simplify the paperwork both for us and for you.

Other finance companies normally limit the amount that can be borrowed. At the Associates, there is no limit. No request is too big; and certainly none is too small. The Associates make multi-million-dollar loans to companies and hundred-dollar loans to individuals. Repayment schedules are just as flexible. There's no rule that says loans must be repayed within a set time. Repayments can almost always be tailored to suit your budget.

YOU BORROW BEFORE YOU BUY AT THE ASSOCIATES

Borrowing ahead of time makes shopping simpler and often means that you can save by taking advantage of a bargain when you see it. The Associates call this "Look-Ahead Borrowing." It makes all kinds of sense.

Something else that makes sense for people who are buying houses is the Home Owner's Loan Plan. It allows you to use the equity you have in your home as collateral for a loan. You borrow over a longer term and at a lower rate of interest than you'd pay for an unsecured loan. And you qualify for the plan whether you've finished paying for your home or not.

A FINANCING PLAN FOR EVERY NEED

Generally speaking, people have the same needs, desires and ambitions. So 999 out of every 1,000 loans are made for the same comparatively short list of reasons. The Associates have developed a specific plan to fit every one of them. The list that follows is not complete. But it will serve to give you some idea of their scope and variety.

THE ASSOCIATES HOME IMPROVEMENT PLAN
This practical plan provides the money you need to make any one of a hundred different improvements in your home. You simply get an estimate from your builder and bring it along to the Associates.

THE ASSOCIATES HOME FURNISHING PLAN
When you furnish a home, you normally shop at several different stores, and pay separate finance charges at each. With the Associates plan, you avoid multiple interest payments by paying for your purchases with one monthly cheque.

THE ASSOCIATES BUSINESSMAN'S PLAN
Your standard of living is expected to advance along with your career. This plan helps you keep pace. It provides money to move into a new home, to buy a new wardrobe or a second car; money for business expansion, for new equipment or to meet sudden emergencies.

THE ASSOCIATES AUTOMOBILE FINANCING PLAN
You can often make a better deal on a new or used car when you have cash in your pocket. The Associates plan puts it there. You get terms sensibly designed for your budget and a contract that's crystal-clear.

THE ASSOCIATES BETTER LIVING PLAN
Sometimes luxuries are necessary, too. The Better Living Plan takes care of all the things you want to do and buy to make your life as full and complete as you want it to be.

THE ASSOCIATES FARM CREDIT FINANCING PLAN
The costs involved in operating a farm grow every year. The Associates plan makes money available for business and personal expenses at short notice. Repayments are arranged to suit seasonal incomes.

THE ASSOCIATES

THE ASSOCIATES ARE HERE IN VICTORIA

The office is at 885 Fort Street. The manager is Mr. Brian Coutts. He'll be delighted to answer questions and to give you details of any or all of the Associates financing plans.

Early Teens Not Best Time To Take On Contact Lenses

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been wearing glasses since the fifth grade. I am now 16 and fed up with them. I want contact lenses but my mother and our eye doctor are against it. He prefers for me to wait until I am 18. He says the eyes can easily be injured by a careless move in the case of contacts.

This sounds to me as though he thinks I am irresponsible and do not know the value of my own eyes.

Is it true that the eyes seldom change after one begins to use contacts? My girl friend's doctor told her so. —R.H.

I'm not opposed to contacts, but I think you are going overboard on this.

Age is not arbitrarily a barrier, but in practice it has been found that young people do tend to have more of some kinds of troubles.

One is that putting lenses in place is a delicate chore. It can be done by people of 16—or younger—but I wish you'd try to sympathize with us old fogies who notice that in the upper teens each passing year does add its bit to increased maturity and carefulness.

The activities of young people are such that they are more conducive to losing a lens. And a contact lens has to be fitted so precisely — optically correct, but also fitted perfectly to your eyeball—that it is a costly thing to make. A lost contact lens is much more expensive to replace than a pair of spectacles.

Temperament plays a part too. Some persons tolerate the lenses for long periods. Others find that the eyes become irritated and can wear the lenses for only short periods.

EYE DAMAGE

Damage to the eyeball is an inherent possibility, quite aside from the care required in putting the lenses in place. Ulcers can form, with a scar resulting. This is no trifling matter.

Climate also is a factor: other things being equal, contacts can be tolerated better in cold than in warm areas.

It is sometimes true that contact wearers can go longer between fittings than the wearers of ordinary glasses. At the same time, it is just wishful thinking to suppose that contact lenses never have to be replaced. As the eye changes beyond a small amount, the old contacts do have to be discarded and new ones fitted.

NO WAY TO TELL

But putting off getting contacts a little while longer will prevent more grief than it will cause, and there is no way in the world of being certain, beforehand, whether you are one of the people who can wear them, or whether this is going to be an expensive luxury which you can use only occasionally.

There are no calories in the artificial sweeteners. There are 16 to 20 calories in a teaspoonful of sugar.

Two-Year Wage Deal Urged in Rail Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — A two-year $50,000,000 wage package has been proposed for Canada's 100,000 non-operating railway workers, it was reliably reported Tuesday.

Mr. Justice F. Craig Munroe of Vancouver, chairman of a three-man federal conciliation board, is reported to have proposed a 19-cent hourly boost over a two-year contract for the "non - op" employees of the CNR, the CPR and several smaller railways.

His award—not binding on either the railways or the 15 unions representing the "non-op" work force—was supported by David Lewis, a Toronto labor lawyer and former New Democratic member of Parliament who represented the unions on the conciliation board.

Gordon Cooper, a Halifax lawyer who served as counsel for the MacPherson royal commission on transportation, is reported to have proposed a 12-cent hourly pay boost in his minority report as company nominee on the conciliation board.

Indications are the unions will accept the 19-cent proposal. The railways will favor the 12-cent suggestion of their nominee on the board.

Thant Says Barry Out of His Mind

OTTAWA (CP)—United Nations Secretary - General U Thant Tuesday indirectly accused Senator Barry Goldwater, U.S. presidential aspirant, of being "out of his mind" for advocating use of atomic weapons against Communist insurgents in South Viet Nam.

Senator Goldwater's name was not mentioned by the questioner nor Mr. Thant at a press conference.

Question: "Have you any comment on the suggestion that atomic bombs should be used in South Viet Nam?"

Mr. Thant: "As you are no doubt aware, I am against the use of atomic weapons for destructive purposes anywhere, under any circumstances. Anybody who proposes the use of atomic weapons for destructive purposes is in my view out of his mind."

Sergeant Strangled

Police Trio Murdered By Mob During Riot

LIMA, Peru (CP) — Three policemen were murdered by mobs during Sunday's soccer stadium rioting and panic, authorities said Tuesday.

Rioters strangled a police sergeant with his own necktie, civil guard headquarters reported. An officer who tried to save him was thrown from the stadium wall to his death 30 feet below. Demonstrators threw a third policeman into the path of stampeding spectators and he was trampled to death, authorities said.

The mad rush occured in the north end of the stadium after the police fired tear gas in an effort to quell rioting. The disorder had broken out over a referee's decision nullifying a Peruvian goal in a Peru-Argentina pre-Olympic match.

Synod Asked To Support Birth Control

TORONTO (CP)—Delegates to the annual Anglican synod of the Toronto diocese Tuesday were asked to support the drive to make birth control legal.

The unscheduled resolution was placed before the synod by Rt. Rev. H. R. Hunt, Suffragan bishop of the diocese, and Ven. E. R. Bagley, archdeacon of Toronto East.

The clergymen are calling for the endorsement of a private bill now before the House of Commons which would remove the present ban on the sale of contraceptives and distribution of birth control information.

Spy 'Got Information' From U.S. Intelligence

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — A Swedish colonel, who has confessed spying for the Soviet Union for years, contended he got vital U.S. nuclear secrets from the "head of the American intelligence service" in 1952, according to an official Swedish police report released Tuesday.

The allegation was contained in a 600-page censored account of the pre-trial examination of air force Col. Stig Wennerstroem, on trial on charges of espionage for the Russians.

According to the report, Wennerstroem said he was ordered to steal U.S. air defence and nuclear secrets and did provide the Russians with information concerning the U.S. Strategic Air Force (SAC) and its nuclear capability in 1952.

Knobby-Kneed Beatnik Loses Out on New Duds

HAMILTON — Hamilton's knobby-kneed beatnik, Percy Leggett, had a surprise in store for him when he was to meet with Hamilton's mayor Vic Copps at city hall — but he didn't show up. The 72-year-old non-conformist was kicked out of a senior citizens' club because of his flappy-wide short pants and dingy yellow tee-shirt.

Some of Hamilton's merchants were going to deck Percy out in the latest fashion — knee socks, Bermuda shorts and a snappy sport shirt.

However, Percy didn't show up. No one seemed to know where he was.

Your Merc dealer invites you to

The 100 hp Merc 1000 has at least 10 more horsepower than any other outboard. It will outrun and outpull any competitor's outboard . . . and do it on less fuel.

In actual tests on a typical family runabout, a competitor's 90 hp outboard used 30 per cent more fuel than a Merc 1000 when both outboards were traveling at the competitor's top speed. Of course, at full throttle the Merc had a top speed of more than 10 per cent higher than the 90 hp. Even the Merc 850, with 85 hp, was more than a match for the 90 hp. That's why the only outboard that could beat the Merc 850 is a Merc 1000.

In the same tests, the competitor's 75 hp outboard used 21 per cent more fuel than the Merc 1000 when the Merc was cruising at the 75's top speed.

High-horsepower Mercs (Merc 1000 and Merc 850) have six in-line small-bore cylinders instead of four big-bore cylinders like other outboards. These smaller cylinders are more efficient in squeezing the most work from every drop of fuel . . . to give you more miles per gallon. Power-Dome combustion chambers further reduce fuel consumption and boost the power. Small-bore, short-stroke design also allows Mercs to be made smaller and lighter . . . and still deliver more power at the prop than other outboards of equal or greater piston displacement.

Fuel economy, speed, durability, and tremendous pulling power are engineered into every Mercury. A Merc will consistently give you more miles per gallon and more miles per hour than any other outboard in its power range. Remember, only Mercury gives you a six. Only Mercury has Jet-Prop exhaust. Remember, also, that Mercury gives you the most hp per pound, the most hp per cubic inch, the most miles per gallon.

See your Merc dealer today. COMPARE the Merc 1000 and Merc 850 with competitors' 90 hp outboards. Learn why you get more RUN for your money with Mercury . . . 100, 85, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp outboards and MerCruiser Stern Drives . . . 100 to 310 hp gasoline; 60 and 100 hp diesel.

Too Many Cooks

ACTUALLY Canada hasn't had a two-party political system for many years but most people would agree that the lesser party groups have been the main cause of the vote splitting that results in minority governments and thus a bedevilment of national affairs. As with the kitchen stove too many cooks spoil the broth.

Last weekend a movement was set afoot in Toronto which may presage a new development. A group of MPs and other political figures met to fashion a new organization called Exchange for Political Ideas in Canada, with Mr. Douglas Fisher, prominent NDP member, as first president. One might think that MPs could find plenty of ideas by consulting their constituents but the movement apparently has further aims.

Most of those attending were from these two parties and the talk centred on these getting together, perhaps forming a union. Possibly the NDP has become so discouraged as to contemplate giving up the ghost, since the merger of the former CCF with expected farm interests hasn't proved at all fruitful.

One New Democrat speaker expressed fears that any alliance would mean the eclipse of the NDP but a Liberal proponent emphasized that the fragmentation of politics prevented a strong federal government and that the two-party system was the desirable one.

Nothing seems to have been said about the Social Crediters but another NDP MP claimed that some Conservatives were more progressive than some Liberals and that the Conservatives should be invited to join the new organization.

Obviously there was a feeling towards ending the stalemate that currently exists and prevents the clear-cut two-party system, in by far the largest measure at least, from providing the public with unambiguous and more definite voting choice and ensuring an even functioning of Parliament.

One thought, however, comes to mind. It is most unlikely that the Liberal and Conservative parties as such will ever abdicate their identities and if the new Exchange organization draws recruits from various groups it could become of itself a new political party, and thus defeat the proclaimed aim of a two-party system.

Unless of course it becomes in the main a union of the Liberals and the New Democrats, encompassing the end of the NDP, although Mr. Douglas Fisher at least and some others of his political faith can hardly be expected to view such a development with much pleasure. And there are still the splinter Socreds and Creditistes to be reckoned with, apparently not invited to the proposed Exchange alliance.

Another Hard Look

LABOR MINISTER ALLAN MACEACHEN says the federal government is looking pretty hard at its method of determining who among the unemployed should be eligible for free transportation to take jobs in other parts of the country. Now the only jobless persons who qualify for this assistance are those living in areas with a recognized surplus of labor.

Mr. MacEachen cites the instance of a man without work living in Toronto who knows he can get a job in Vancouver but who cannot at present have his way paid to the West Coast because Toronto is not one of the labor-surplus areas.

Maybe the minister has chosen an unfortunate example. Even without Ottawa's aid, there is a decided tendency to migrate to Vancouver and British Columbia generally, among those who are not apt to find employment as well as those who are. The big construction projects and the strong economy of the province and the comparatively high wage rates offer an inducement even if it often turns out that this is illusory for would-be workers who have neither special skills nor training. Nor are the seeming job prospects alone an attraction: the benign winter climate on the coast also is a magnet.

One can readily agree in principle with Mr. MacEachen that it seems unfairly discriminatory to give transportation to some of the unemployed and not to others who equally need it. He makes the good point that "the problems you face without a job in Toronto are no different than those faced by the unemployed Canadian who happens to live in a labor-surplus area."

But the illustrative circumstances he has picked would suggest that his department must have a hard look too at the need for guarantees of continuing employment in their new locations for the jobless citizens it thus helps, and the need to ensure that equivalent numbers will not be displaced from work, so that the taxpayers can be certain of not bearing the costs of seasonal junkets or, in due course, the overloading of some areas with welfare cases. A too-liberal application of free travel to jobs would only transfer problems from one part of the country to another without curing them.

Canada's Gain

IF THE UNITED STATES is willing to pay all the costs of paving the Alaska Highway through Canada, according to Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, Canadians should not oppose such an undertaking for fear of loss of sovereignty.

Many citizens of this country may indeed have some reservations about their southern neighbors bringing the road up to a comfortable standard without Canadian participation. The project will smack to some of the poor-relation treatment. This view, however, perhaps overlooks that if it were solely for Canada's need, the road would stay as it is.

Nevertheless there is no denying that the highway if paved would bring a flood of new economic gain to Canada. Not only would it draw hundreds of thousands of tourists a year up through Alberta and central British Columbia from the United States, in all probability, but when this province's ferry service between northern Vancouver Island and Prince Rupert is established, connecting with the Alaska State ferries, it would also undoubtedly increase the business on this route.

Even among those who see no threat to sovereignty in allowing the Americans to do the work, therefore, there will be a notion that Canada is not pulling its weight if the project proceeds without this nation taking part, paying at least a portion of the cost and incidentally providing business for Canadian contractors and suppliers. As a matter of pride as well as of equity, this nation surely should not accept the paving entirely as a gift.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax . . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

THEY bespeak much in travel folders about the Old World of Beefeaters and Venetian gondolas and ancient abbeys and cathedrals but the "old" is being renewed. So much you would guess if you lingered over the travel pages of the paper last weekend.

As I did, savoring these faroff places and imagining oneself there. It was a change, also, from thinking about national flags.

Nor was a vicarious journey difficult when I read of the scrubbing brushes being wielded in Paris, transforming some of that gay city's historic buildings so that they shine with pristine beauty. I was fortunate enough to catch a glimpse of this transformation while briefly there last summer.

* * *

Actually I didn't peer closely to see whether they were using soap and water or sandblasting techniques; I was sufficiently intrigued by the revelation that cleaning can bring about. The marvellous artistry of stone work in the Old World when visible as it would be originally was ample reward for my gaze.

'Twas like a miracle being wrought.

There was mention last weekend of Notre Dame Cathedral, but they hadn't started to rejuvenate the exterior of this famous church when we sailed past it along the Seine, half expecting as I was to see the Hunchback atop its parapets. I need scarcely say he didn't appear, and anyway it was at night and he'd be hard to see had he done so, but choir music floated gently over the river.

Alas, I believe it came from a recording.

* * *

But elsewhere the brushes were busy. The front face of the Opera House was as clean as a whistle and drawing whistles of appreciation. And the facades of the Louvre were half white and still half black. It is a major task to give this immense building a face-lift.

In other parts of Europe the cleaning brigades were also much in evidence, in Edinburgh, in Brussels, in London, and doubtless in many other cities where the grime of centuries has obscured the splendor of artistic endeavor.

The Old World is resurrecting its "newness" and with spectacular results that induce admiring eyes.

* * *

We live in the New World but the elements are impartial and they drape their greyness over our buildings as well. If not yet so deeply darkened these also might in some instances do with a scrubbing.

The Causeway wall, for instance, and the Parliament Buildings of James Bay themselves, already being dimmed by time and weather. Their grandeur would be revealed anew if we followed the cleaning programs now being undertaken abroad with great and profitable gusto.

Everybody washes his face of a morn, and a building is no exception; it can do periodically with soap or a sandblast too. And there's no need to wait centuries before doing so; 60 years is long enough.

A building may grow old gracefully, but it's nice to know what it looked like when young.

For Norwegian Lapps

Change Moves In With the Snow

By ROLAND HUNTFORD
from North Norway

"DICH?" said the old Lapp woman, "I don't know how many reindeer I've got. You could say I was average rich."

Her dress was of blue serge with red and yellow trimmings. Her legs were encased in reindeer fur, her boots were of the same material with turned-up toes. With the aid of a rough birch stave she had rapidly moved over the snow to meet my companion and myself. For the traveller in Finmark (the northermost province of Norway) is still pre-eminently the bearer of news rather than the provider of foreign exchange.

The Norwegian Lapps have retained their ancient dress and customs to a greater extent than those in Sweden and Finland, who have all but adopted European habits. Norway has the greatest part of the remaining Lapps—about 10,000 out of 15,000—and most of them are occupied in reindeer breeding. They have kept their nomadic way of life, following the migrations of their herds, to spend winter on "Finmarksvidda" and summer on the North Norwegian coast. They are now moving over the spring snow to their summer quarters, and the old woman's concern was for news of somebody who was to help her on her journey.

In another part of the wilderness, I saw the start of one family's spring migration. Their main herd, probably about a thousand animals, had already moved, and a score of draught reindeer had been harnessed to Lapp sleds. In each, well packed in reindeer fur, was a Lapp. A few of the men moved on ski, for reindeer, even in harness, are never really tame.

Quaint and charming as is the Finmark scene, it is changing. The Lapps' home used to be "kaatas", or crude tents built on birth poles like a wigwam. The Norwegian government has now provided wooden houses for winter.

No Lapp I have met has complained about the change, for when temperatures drop to minus 50 (Centigrade) a substantial house is not to be disdained.

Along the main reindeer migration routes the government has built mountain inns at 20-mile intervals. These serve as overnight quarters for herdsmen.

This is an odd time, like an extra season between winter and spring. Since the country lies above the Arctic Circle, it is light around the clock, and although there are still several feet of snow on the ground, the first birch buds have started to sprout. The real spring and the thaws come at the beginning of June.

The inns are in the charge of Lapp managers who are helpful but sometimes difficult to converse with, for Norwegian is a foreign language to them, often only imperfectly mastered. The Lapps of Norway have preserved their own language, which is ancient and of obscure origin.

The Lapps' origin is also somewhat of a mystery. Unrelated to the other well-known Arctic people, the Eskimos, there is a theory that they are the descendants of people who survived the Ice Age on the strip of North Norwegian coast which escaped the glaciers.

They are certainly the original inhabitants of Scandinavia, and have been driven back to their present retreats by successive waves of Finns, Swedes and Norwegians.

Today, civilization is moving in for its final victory. Tracked vehicles, radio, telephones, and in the larger settlements such as Kautokeino, the "juke box", are intruding on the wilderness. Many Lapps have begun to discard their national dress, and Lappish is beginning to decline.

Little Network

The Myth Talkers

By SHAUN HERRON

THE Nielson ratings are a rather sour joke to the cinderella men and women of American journalism, the television critics.

To most performers the ratings are a bitter conspiracy, to a few they are the oracle. To the network executives they are lurking death. But they are a sour joke, however else they can be described. Their intimidating power is responsible for a lot more damage than entertainers have mind or time to be aware of.

They nail the lowest common denominator to the top-mast. They therefore nail mindless political myths to the mast, and fasten their reiteration on the "think" programs.

The Huntley - Brinkley Report (NBC News) makes an interesting study. Chet Huntley has a most articulate face ("He has a kind face," the women say) which serves to lend italics to the news. If British buses for Cuba, or French locomotives for Cuba, or British long-term credits to Russia, or Canadian wheat to China should be in the news, Huntley's face, or his oscillating eyebrows, register the popular American viewpoint on heresy. Our "friends" says Mr. Huntley's eyebrow and his distended lips, are letting us down again. News readers, high and low, read the news when it touches on the nation's policy myths, with myth-endorsement.

A good deal of international news reading is loaded enough to be properly classified as editorial comment. One must read the serious news press to get the news (the New York Times, for example, which still keeps its comment to its editorial pages) and the readers of the serious news press are a statistically almost non-existent minority out of 196,000,000 people.

The only political discussion which is of any real value is that based on (a) knowledge, (b) judgment and (c) free minds in the participants. The discussion must roam where it will, without limitation and without any sense of uneasiness at being overheard by motive-questioners and political emoters. Defensiveness is alien to useful discussion.

Defensiveness, like a reflex, marks every political discussion on the three major U.S. networks. There is a power conflict going on in the world. It is not fundamentally different from the power conflicts which it has displaced. It is not basically affected by the thing called Communism except in so far as the dynamism of this notion and the dynamism of those who embrace it, have conjoined with the dynamism of this period in history to change the equilibrium of power in the world. The reality of the conflict is now what it always has been — power.

It should be possible, therefore, to discuss the realities of power and the naked facts of international politics in terms of the complex shadings of the national interest in different parts of the world. But it does not happen. The American program Meet the Press provides an opportunity for something of the sort to be done but although its resident member Mr. Spivak is an astringent and penetrating questioner, he is inevitably engaged in a contest with an elusive guest who is unable to answer for reasons of state; or else he becomes of necessity the acid counsel for the myth. In either case he is entertaining but not very useful as an educational force.

There is a fourth network where serious political discussion does take place and where some of the people who pay defensive tribute to the myths when they appear on the big networks, talk together on the little network as if they were closeted in an unbugged room and could speak without fear of misunderstanding. It is NET —national educational television.

It is a penniless enterprise, rich only in intentions and from time to time extremely rich in performance. The NET outlet in Boston, for example, is dependent for two-thirds of its income on contributions from the general public. The rest comes from a little earned income and institutional grants.

Their viewing audience is pitifully small and that segment of it which watches NET primarily for—perhaps—its music and its sometimes rather evangelical cultural programs (an earnest introduction to Nigerian drum music for example) may not find the NET political conversations either palatable or patriotic.

It is possible to grasp the tremendous cultural consequence for literate America of Nigerian drum music, without being at all aware of the emerging African states as anything but greedy, aid-gobbling newcomers of doubtful loyalty to U.S. interests. The small audience is therefore framented.

* * *

But the programs do go on and it is possible for a limited number of intelligent people to overhear men of sound knowledge and understanding talk together about the realities of power and the incidental or fundamental manoeuvres of the power game, without forever covering their reputations with formal declarations of loyalty, such as: "Of course, we don't approve of these Communist tactics but there they are."

It is possible to overhear Soviet-American, Sino-American or Soviet-Sino relations discussed without defensive declarations by the chairman that "of course we welcome every gesture but we are not lowering our guard."

These NET political discussions are not superior to the same sort of conversations in say, England or Scandinavia—they are serious, knowledgeable, but not exceptional—and their title to be considered somewhat special is in the fact that they take place at all.

They come as a well of water in a thirsty place. Especially in an election year when national and international myths assume the authority of holy writ or sacred cows, according to one's capacity for myth or skim milk. Candidates for every sort of office will henceforward cloud every issue, inflate every emotion and distort every reality until, after November, "democracy" subsides again and experts once again take up the art and science of talking safely beside the point without disturbing existing complacencies or cherished illusions.

Principle of Choice Is Important Issue

SINCE I am young, I cannot share your nostalgia for the Red Ensign, nevertheless I feel that here the principle of choice is the more important issue and your courage in challenging the right of an elected representative to dictate the desires of the people is admirable.

As an idealist still inspired by high school tales of Canadian courage in the face of adversity, I would like to think that every one of your subscribers, who daily retrieves your sodden missive from his porch roof, will be inspired not only to clip the coupon from the front page but will be moved to purchase an extra copy so that his wife might too excercise her duty as citizen.

Alas, as an increasingly disillusioned realist I know that very few of your well-intentioned coupons will feel the bite of patriotic scissors and that many of those that do will not find their goal for want of a nickel postage.

I am afraid that in spite of your editorial courage Canadians will take another step towards losing by apathy that which was won with blood and tears.

KENNETH J. KENNEDY,
1—1809 Crescent Road

Combine the Two

Seems to me Mr. Pearson has worked out a framework of subtle trickery to railroad the maple leaf flag through, without giving John Doe a chance. We'll be like one of those New African countries soon, without a background. Its a gutless shame and our MPs should voice a definite protest, for you cannot make the most of your strength and influence from a negative posture.

I've seen Quebec cities smothered with French flags as Victoria is today with Red Ensigns and B.C. flags. The answer is to combine the two national flags and shake them up with a maple leaf and there will emerge a true Canadian formula.

Mr. Pearson is working on the threat of MPs losing fat stipends, coupled with French-Canadians annoyance at losing their identity under a British flag. It could have been the other way about, you know.

F. RAIN,

A Postage Stamp

1—Why not retire senators at age 65 before they have to disclose their advanced years, poor dears! Industrious civil servants are retired at this age without benefit of annuity to add to their paid-in pension.

2—Why not accept Mr. Pearsons' choice of flag—with the "Red Ensign" as a postage stamp in the right-hand corner to assure its legal passage thro' the House, and to proclaim a people's pride in their progenitors, for all countries to witness. This will make Canada "ALL Canada"!

3—Why not remind Prime Minister Pearson that the Albernis lie in Canada—not even in U.S.A. where aid for Alaska's disaster was so promptly offered. Was it sent? Is this why the federal House is skimping Alberni, B.C., Canada? Let's vote on a course in the humanities for Ottawa.

K. M. WORTHINGTON-LAKE,
RR 2, Victoria.

Divided We Fall

Each child of the once British Empire, now termed the Commonwealth, seems to be endeavoring to secure their independence, Quebec being an example of this statement.

Canada has done everything for French Canada in adopting their national anthem "O Canada."

Now she demands a childish symbol of three maple leaves as a design for a flag for all Canada.

Very few French Canadians have lived abroad among foreign people. I have lived for some years in Quebec, and speak their language, and been called "Sacre Anglais."

If we abandon the British Ensign on the Canadian flag, we cut ourselves off from all our traditions.

N. E. FAIRWEATHER,
Saseenos, B.C.

Our Readers' Views

* * *

To be considered for publication in whole or in part, letters must be on subjects of general interest, and more than 300 words in length, and, if signed with a pen-name, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

Animal Raffles

I should like to express my disapproval of organizations being allowed to raffle ponies, dogs and other members of the animal kingdom whose fate is decided by the draw of a ticket from among thousands. I believe that if they wish to raffle cars, boats, bicycles, etc., which do not suffer misery at the hands of irresponsible humans, it is fine, but I know of specific cases, having been a horse owner myself and around horses and stables for several years, that often sickness and unfortunately sometimes death due to lack of knowledge by a horse's owner.

If a person buys an animal and pays a fair price for it he is usually more apt to have a genuine desire to look out for its best interests, but when something is acquired for nothing it may not be so appreciated and the picture could be quite tragic.

I don't feel it is right that animals who are so dependent on humans should deliberately be subjected to the possibility of falling into the hands of such persons and also feel that steps should be taken to put a stop to such raffles.

MRS. DONALD STRAITH,

No Meaning

The very obvious intent behind the demand to change Canada's flag, is surely aimed at destroying any connection with Britain and the Throne, as well as the Commonwealth—this cannot be allowed to pass.

What sort of symbol is the maple-leaf suggestion anyway? Something a bit syrupy in the spring, and highly colored in the autumn; but how can that compare with the Christian crosses representing all that is best in the Old Country background, as well as the French fluer-de-lis; these mean something worth while, whereas the maple leaves mean just what? Nothing.

E. W. ABRAHAM.

* * *

Maple Leaf

Why a green or red maple leaf? Why any maple leaf?

To base a national flag on something which for six to seven months of the year is non-existent, and which during the remaining period passes through many changes; dries, drops, is trampled upon and swept into the gutter — is hardly a proper symbol for a mature nation. Still, considering the lethargy of we Canadians in all matters of local, national and international importance, perhaps it is an appropriate symbol.

Assuming we are committed to a flag with a maple leaf design, it must be remembered that there are 75 known species of maple, all with slight variations in the leaves. Are we to choose the leaf of a tree indigenous to British Columbia?—Ontario . . . or that other place, Quebec? Or should we be neutral and use a leaf from the Japanese maple?

From a close study of the design which seems to have captured most support it would appear that this is a leaf from a Norway maple. Perhaps this whole leaf bit is a Scandinavian plot to force recognition of, and validate the prior claims of Lief Ericson, allegedly the first discoverer of this country.

BANNUM ABSURDO.

Regional Parks

Everyone will agree that regional parks are a good idea but beyond talking and writing about it for the last few decades, what has been done? My memory only gives me one—Bear Hill in Saanich—a lovely place.

The photograph accompanying your article showing Hibbens Close is interesting. This was the main entrance to Cadboro Bay beach years ago, but the steps were destroyed and the right-of-way closed by a mutual agreement between Oak Bay and Saanich, on whose border it lies. Don't ask me why, except that near the foot of the steps the effluent from the motor court and houses above reminded one of Clover Point. We Victorians do love our smelly beaches.

At the foot of the hill going down to Cadboro Bay was a right-of-way leading to the "glen", a most beautiful wooded ravine, unique to the Victoria district, and a perfect bit for a park. This year a house has been built on the Cadboro Bay end, thus closing the right-of-way. But the glen is still there. Also there are many acres of picturesque country off Tudor at Ten Mile Point. Would these places be considered as sites for regional parks?

At 49 Cents a Pound

Sirloin Selling Well

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)—Sirloin steak sold for 49 cents a pound at supermarkets in town Tuesday. Cattlemen bellowed like steers.

Already caught in a financial stew over falling meat prices, alarmed cattlemen watched a meat price-war spread from Abilene into Midland, Odessa and San Angelo in West Texas.

Supermarket butchers said it was a price war, but it had overtones of the depressed state of domestic wholesale meat prices.

A chain in Abilene reported its four outlets sold 90,000 pounds of meat, an increase of from 10 to 40 per cent in the individual stores, since the price cut began last week. Prices in Abilene were 20 per cent lower than average national prices.

In Odessa, two chain stores were selling chuck roasts at 29 cents a pound. Normally it sells for between 59 and 63 cents a pound.

Sirloin steak, normally between 79 cents and $1.19 a pound, was selling for 49 cents a pound. And selling well.

One butcher predicted the price war would last at least another three or four weks.

Cattlemen in the area blamed over-supply as well as large imports of foreign beef, but store owners said the meat was top quality, government inspected domestic beef, not imported.

Banquet June 3

Annual banquet of the Victoria Power Squadron will be held June 3 at the Ingraham Hotel.

Guests will include Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, flag officer, Pacific Coast, and Rear-Admiral R. D. Schmidpman, of the U.S. Coast Guard.

Power squadron certificates will be awarded to new members who have passed the piloting examination.

Sunday Baby-Sitting

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Sunday schools are generally the "biggest baby-sitting service in Canada," a United Church minister told the church's 40th Bay of Quinte conference Monday night.

Rev. William Piercy told a panel discussion that the effective teaching time in a one-hour Sunday school period is only 25 miutes and this is "useless in teaching the gospel.

"If you don't have the time to teach the gospel properly, then lessons just become a baby-sitting service while the parents are in church or at home in bed," Mr. Piercy said.

Keeping for Sale

Pair Fined $1,300 On Liquor Charges

Two people who pleaded guilty to keeping liquor for sale paid fines totalling $1,300 yesterday.

Kenneth A. Fisher was fined $300 in city magistrate's court for having liquor for sale at 766 Kings, and Mary Turko paid $300 on the first charge and $700 on a second charge of keeping liquor for sale at 732 Kings.

Robin Arthur Gordon of HMCS Ste. Therese was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place. Magistrate William Ostler asked the crown to withdraw a second charge of being in possession of liquor.

Fined for being minors in possession of liquor were Ronald Durrance, 20, of 3721 Saanich, $35; Ronald Lim, 19, Nanaimo, $20; R. W. Weir, 19, 474 Superior, $20.

Gerald D. Watson was fined $15 for being intoxicated.

Pleaded Guilty

Youth Remanded In Car Theft Case

A youth was remanded for sentence to June 2 after pleading guilty to three charges of car theft before Magistrate William Ostler in city magistrate's court yesterday.

Garry James Streeton, 18, 415 Old Island Highway, admitted taking a car from a service station lot and abandoning it. Damage amounted to $380 and windows had been broken by a rock, RCMP said.

Later the accused stole a truck which he abandoned and then a car which was also abandoned undamaged.

Two Women Complete Heavy Rescue Class

Two women qualified among 14 graduates of a civil defence course completed in Oak Bay.

Mrs. Carol Baxter and Mrs. Marlene Miles, who qualified in the country's first light rescue "petticoat brigade" two years ago, this time passed the heavy rescue crew qualifications.

Saanich sent along two rescue-equipped trucks which with the candidates demonstrated their skills in removing casualties—Canadian Scottish Cadet Corps volunteers—from various simulated distress situations.

Graduates were: John Meulblok, Henry Thornber, John Haas, Lloyd Daniels, George Porter, Don Bell, Stan Bell, John Van De Reep, Jim Taylor and Art Seysener.

Club Races Pigeons From Hope

Capital City Racing Pigeon Club had its third race of the Series Sunday from Hope, B.C. with 208 entered.

The birds left Hope in showery weather, with 110 air miles ahead of them.

Fastest 10 birds are as follows: Dave Hill 2 hours, 50 minutes, 29 seconds; Dick Nellestyn 2, 55, 30; P. Decico 2, 55, 43; Harvey Roth 3, 19, 25; George Tomas 3, 19, 30; Dick Roe 3, 19, 36; Charlie Wolley 3, 19, 36; Geert Norder 3, 19, 44; Joe Polz 3, 19, 55; Tony Birtwhistle 3, 19, 55.

Dust to Muskeg

Committee to See Farms of Canada

OTTAWA (UPI) — Agriculture Minister Hays is planning to load the 60-member agriculture committee into a Yukon transport plane in August for a province-by-province study of agriculture across Canada.

Mr. Hays announced his intention Tuesday during debate on a Conservative non-confidence motion against the government for failing to take action to help Eastern Canadian farmers.

In announcing his planned airlift, Mr. Hays was taking a page from the book of Defence Minister Hellyer, whose special committee on defence has flown to various spots in North America and Europe to get first hand information.

Mr. Hays said the committee's Canadian tour would take at least two weeks.

"I want to take Quebec farmers out to Saskatchewan where they can't see their hands in front of them for the dust; and I want to take Saskatchewan farmers out to Newfoundland where they are up to their knees in muskeg," he said.

Jew Denies Pope Silent On War Camp Deaths

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — A Hungarian Jewish leader Tuesday told a West German war crimes court that the late Pope Pius XII has been falsely accused of remaining silent during the Nazi extermination of European Jewry. He said later he had documentary proof to refute the allegations.

"The Pope was not silent," Jaenoe Laevi, 72, testified at the trial of two of Adolf Eichmann's aides accused in the murders of 437,000 Hungarian Jews.

The survivors of Eichmann's liquidation of Hungarian Jews said two Czechs escaped from the notorious Auschwitz death camp and wrote Hungarian Jews of the then-unpublicized mass slaughter of Jews. He said the letter was relayed to the Papal Nuncio in Switzerland who passed it on to the Pope.

He did not explain on the witness stand what he meant when he insisted the Pope was not silent, but added: "I will publish a book in six weeks in Switzerland giving my proof."

Negligence Hearing Starts

Preliminary hearing of a criminal negligence case against Rifleman Leslie Franklin Perry arising out of the death of a 19-year-old girl, May 17, opened in Saanich magistrate's court yesterday.

The 21-year-old soldier from Work Point Barracks was the driver of a car which was in collision with another at the intersection of Douglas and Kenneth Streets in which Della Mae Hoegi, of Raymond Street, was fatally injured and her companion, owner and driver of the car, Walter M. Allison, of 613 Kenneth, was injured.

Yesterday, St. Joseph's Hospital nurses Violet Kerr and Margaret Oakman testified the injured pair arrived at hospital at 1:30 a.m. and Miss Hoegi died just before 5 a.m.

Robert Courser, of 2553 Lee, said he was driving along Douglas Street approaching McKenzie Avenue when he heard what he thought was an explosion and saw metal flying through the air. He saw two cars had collided and returned to inform police.

WEDDING RECEPTION

Mr. Allison testified he and Miss Hoegi had gone to a wedding reception about 9 p.m. May 16 where he had drunk one glass of punch, which he understood to be alcoholic, and then two bottles of beer at a subsequent party after midnight. He said he recalled getting into his car on the driver's side after the party but recalled no more until he woke up in hospital.

POLICE EVIDENCE

Saanich police Const. R. E. Coulter produced pictures of the accident scene and Const. H. J. Coote gave evidence of damage to the side of the Allison car, to the front of Perry's, and of skid marks at the scene.

His evidence continues today.

Mare, Colt Neglected

Failure to care for a starving mare and her colt will cost Robert L. Fletcher, 233 Stormont Road, more than $200 by the time he has finished paying the costs.

He was fined $75 and $20.70 costs in magistrate's court in Victoria yesterday.

Magistrate D. G. Ashby said the reason for the trouble appeared to be that Fletcher was running two businesses at once and could not devote sufficient time to looking after the animals.

Evidence of lack of care was given by veterinarian Dr. David Gaunt. The horses were neglected from Oct. 24 of last year until the SPCA took action in March, court was told.

In addition to the court costs Fletcher must pay a stable and food fee of more than $100.

Kraft Pleads Not Guilty In Bank Case

Clarence William Kraft pleaded not guilty to a charge of armed robbery when he appeared in Saanich magistrate's court, yesterday. Trial was set for June 2.

Last week he elected for trial before a magistrate for the charge which arose from a bank robbery in Saanich last month.

Two other men pleaded guilty to the April 24 holdup and were sentenced to ten years in jail each.

No one posted the $18,000 bail which was set for Kraft.

Non-Smoking Healthy And Keeps B.C. Green

B.C.'s forests will stay green, and people will live longer if they stop smoking, says the provincial government.

An order-in-council yesterday proclaimed June 1 "Non-Smoker's Day" in B.C., and observed:

"That careless smokers have caused tremendous damage to our forests;

"And that protection of our forests is necessary for the prosperity of our province and it is essential that they be kept green;

"And that health authorities are reported to have established a link between smoking and lung cancer;

"And that the abstinence from smoking would contribute to the lessening of the damages attributed to smoking and the improvement of good health to the advantage of all citizens;

"And that it is deemed desirable to support the educational program of the Non-Smoker's Association of Canada."

The order said the association is sponsoring the observance.

The association, with headquarters in Vancouver, is interested primarily in a campaign to stop smoking at the school age level.

SEE WHAT JOHNSON OFFERS YOU NOW

NEW 9½ HP. JOHNSON
The Compact's Compact
(is it the shape of things to come?)

10 hp. Johnson features a new fixed high-speed jet carburetor that almost completely eliminates the need for carburetor adjustment and assures proper fuel-air mixture.

9½ hp. Johnson delivers up to 11 hours cruising on five gallons of gas. One reason it's the best selling small outboard in Canada. If you're in the market for a small outboard, see your Johnson dealer soon . . . he has more to offer for your money than ever before.

The motor in the background of our picture is a famous Johnson 10 hp. It is now replaced by the exotic looking new 9½ hp. Putting Johnson's classic 10 into the background wasn't easy. (Our competitors have been trying unsuccessfully for years.)

The new 9½ cost over a million dollars to develop. Several years work in all. It weighs 10 pounds less than the 10 hp. and is a whole 8½" lower. It's exactly the kind of light, bulkless outboard fishermen expect from Johnson. All controls are up front where they belong. The right side is completely free of levers and protrusions for easy stowage in cars, cottages and garages and the carrying handle is positioned for perfect balance, like a good gun.

Like all Johnson compacts the 9½ has many big motor features; full gear shift, fuel pump, thermostat-controlled cooling, and the like. The new Johnson 9½ is indeed the compact's compact. A lot of outboards may look like it in years to come; but, right now, there's nothing can touch it.

Wouldn't you like to be the first on your lake to own one?

2 YEAR WARRANTY

13 models in nine hp. sizes:
OMC stern drive power

Space Study Ordered In Square Building

Mayor R. B. Wilson yesterday ordered a study of space to be allocated in the old Board of Trade Building on Bastion Square to the fledgling Victoria school of music.

Applications for accommodation in the four-storey building are expected from other community groups connected with the arts. It will continue to be occupied by a cartage firm until the end of the year.

Crackdown If–

Fear Groundless But Pesticides Watched Closely

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter announced yesterday he will crack down on the improper use of pesticides in British Columbia.

Acting quickly after a statement by Dr. A. B. Swackhamer of the federal food and drug directorate that pesticide counts in milk have reached "significant levels" and that the government may have to start seizing milk products, Mr. Richter said:

- Food as well as milk will be tested at a laboratory in Vancouver, starting June 1.
- An act controlling the use and sale of pesticides will be introduced at the next session of the provincial legislature.
- Until the pesticide control act becomes law, the government will try to educate people on how to overcome the problem if any food contamination is detected at the laboratory.

Mr. Richter, however, was critical of statements which he said tend to destroy public confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products.

"There is absolutely no need for public alarm," he said, because "British Columbia producers enjoy the highest quality milk in Canada."

The minister said the new act will establish regulations for the proper use of pesticides and control sales to guard against indiscriminate use.

SURPRISED

Much of the milk consumed in Victoria comes from the Fraser Valley area, and Mr. Richter said earlier that while there has been evidence of pesticides contaminating B.C. milk, he was surprised that federal officials said it was dangerous.

Mets Clobber

Chicago, 19-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick Farrell, Houston right-hander, became the winningest pitcher in the major leagues Tuesday and the lowly New York Mets went on a rare offensive spree in a red-letter date for the National League's expansion clubs.

Farrell won his seventh of eight decisions, cooling off Milwaukee Braves on four hits and striking out 11 in the Colts' 4-2 victory. The Mets established club records for runs and hits by burying Chicago Cubs 19-1 under a 23-hit attack.

Jim Pagliaroni's grand slam homer paced Pittsburgh to a 13-4 rout of Philadelphia and Cincinnati tripped Los Angeles 6-2 in other NL games. The San Francisco-St. Louis contest was rained out.

Wally Bunker, Baltimore's rookie pitching sensation, picked up his fifth straight victory with help from Stu Miller as the Orioles edged Detroit 2-1 in one of three American League cliff-hangers.

New York Yankees nipped Cleveland 3-2 on Bobby Richardson's bases - loaded single in the ninth and Boston shaded Washington by the same score on Ed Bressoud's ninth-inning hit. Chicago and Kansas City were rained out.

SUPPORTS FARRELL

Mike White supported Farrell's strong pitching effort by collecting a double and three singles and lifting his batting average to .395. Joe Torre had two of the Braves' hits, climbing to .376.

Dick Smith became the first Met to stroke five hits in a game and Charlie Smith homered and drove in five runs as the New Yorkers punished six Cub pitchers. Jack Fisher was the winner, going the distance for the first time in 17 starts.

The Pirates scored five runs in each of the first two innings and Vern Law breezed to his second victory against four losses. Pagliaroni connected in the second off reliever Dallas Green.

BAD INNING

Don Drysdale allowed Cincinnati only three hits through seven innings but they all came in the Reds' three-run fourth. Bob Purkey had a shutout until the ninth, when Tommy Davis singled and Frank Howard hit his 13th homer.

Bob Johnson's pinch single in the seventh inning drove in Baltimore's winning run. Bunker gave up two hits through seven innings and Miller retired the Tigers in order over the final two innings.

WIN FIVE STRAIGHT

After hitting two wasted triples, Richardson grounded through the Indians' drawn-in infield to score Elston Howard and give the Yankees their fifth straight victory over Cleveland.

Bressoud singled pitcher Earl Wilson across to give Boston its fifth consecutive victory and eighth in nine games. Washington's Jim King hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and home run—and delivered both Senator runs.

EIGHTH LOSS

Angel right-hander Ken McBride allowed only three hits and one earned run in eight innings but suffered his eighth consecutive loss. He hasn't won since opening day.

Kaat, touched for eight hits, struck out nine and walked one. McBride fanned eight and walked two.

With the score tied 1-1, Don Mincher led off the Minnesota seventh with a single, moved around to third on a bunt and an infield out and scored when Kaat beat out a bouncer to second for a single.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

HERE WE GO AGAIN: One of the brightest feathers in the head-dress of accomplishment so proudly sported by Premier Bennett and his government is the one which represents the B.C. Ferries. Instituted as a needed service, the project, rather unexpectedly one has to believe, became a huge financial success. This was because, obviously, the service was so badly needed but, somewhat ironically as well as somewhat exasperatingly, service has become somewhat secondary on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run which has proven so profitable.

As much as it has done for the economy in these parts the service will not be complete, or completely satisfactory, until it provides later sailings from both terminals to enable Island and Lower Mainland residents to avoid expensive, in both time and money, overnight stays necessary when business or pleasure visits cannot be satisfactorily completed by 8 p.m., when, if we wish to get home before a new day dawns, we have to head for the terminal.

Another case in point is the upcoming international soccer match at Vancouver's Empire Stadium on June 6 between Liverpool, England's first-division champions, and Meidericher, West Germany's second-best league side. Because of the cost of providing such an attraction the match has been scheduled at night for maximum attendance. And because there is no late ferry service, hundreds of Vancouver Islanders have the choice of either passing up something they want badly to see or paying more for it than they can rightly afford.

Interest is extremely high, and has been ever since Liverpool clinched the Division I championships. Quite a number of fans have called to find out if it was going to be possible to make the trip in one day and Hans Deniseger, manager of Victoria Kickers, says that he would have at least four busloads of fans if someone in authority would just relent and permit a late sailing.

Without it, the match will be denied to most. A late sailing would enable fans to make the trip for approximately $10, and between 5 p.m. and midnight. The way it is, one has the choice of paying $25 or more along with the added inconvenience of overnight stay or of staying home.

One understands that there are some problems to overcome in providing later sailings but, surely, a start has to be made some time if there is any intention to provide a wanted service. And to give this taxpayer-owned business an image other than that of a corporation all too intent on gaining a maximum of profit from a minimum of service. A good time to start would be June 6.

It might be argued that giving the chance to take in a sports event, no matter its magnitude or significance, or even the number of taxpayers to whom it appeals, is something too minor to be considered in the operation of such a vast enterprise as B.C. Ferries has become. But there is more to it than that. It's not one event, but dozens, being denied to Islanders who cannot afford the time or money to stay over night—and that's most of us. More to the point, it's a B.C. ferry system risked with B.C. tax money and made profitable by British Columbians paying tolls no better than reasonable. Most of us, I'm certain, would accept a little less profit and a bit more service.

COME OFF IT: Hilarious is about the only word to describe the current flare-up between hockey and lacrosse for designation as Canada's national game.

Jack Roxburgh, a Liberal member of parliament and a former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, gleefully claims there is no substance to the long-held belief that lacrosse was designated as our national game by an act of parliament. Just as gleefully, he says he is about to introduce a bill which will officially give that distinction to hockey.

It has made the flag issue of minor import. In Ontario, Ed Blair, president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and James Naish, president of the OLA, got together to issue a joint communique. In New Westminster, Harry McKnight, president of the Inter-City Lacrosse League club there, and aspiring to higher rank, rallied the forces on the west flank (there is no centre).

"We're going to fight," McKnight grandly proclaimed, "and if we have to introduce a bill of our own we'll do that, too."

Harry isn't fooling. He's reportedly alerted NDP leader Tommy Douglas that a new cause is his for the taking and briefed Barry Mather, the New Westminster MP, about this foul political machination. To prove that this could well be an issue that could topple governments, fans in ICLL arenas will be asked to sign petitions of protest. They'll be forwarded to Prime Minister Pearson, who, presumably, will suddenly discover that the FLQ is, after all, only a minor problem in his life of travail.

One can hardly blame lacrosse for its discomfiture at the prospect of losing its cherished "officially national" designation. It matters not that its only claim is that it was played here by the Indians, who seem to have been sort of forgotten as being the bona fide Canadians, before the white man took over. In a country in which baseball, rugby, football, badminton, tennis, soccer, hockey, golf, softball, bowling and curling are played from coast to coast by far more people than play lacrosse, this is something not to be given up without a fight.

Hilarious is right. Lacrosse today is about as national in Canada as pickled eels, and no amount of law-making is going to change that fact. No act of parliament could do for the game what a particularly aimless group of officials isn't doing and, surely, no one can expect legislators in a country which after 97 years of nationhood has finally come to grips with the question of a national flag to pay much attention to a squabble over a national game.

Shamrocks Protest 9-8 Loss Argument Continues Tonight

Error Makes It Easy

Routine relay is dropped by Dodger catcher John Roseboro in eighth inning at Cincinnati as Reds' catcher John Edwards swings around him to score smiling. Dodgers protested Edwards left basepath, but run counted and Reds won, 6-2.—(AP Photofax)

VANCOUVER — Victoria Shamrocks, their tempers snapping along with their four-game unbeaten streak, lost, 9-8, to Vancouver here last night, and at the rate they were going they'll still be snarling when the clubs meet again tonight in Victoria.

Shamrocks have officially protested the loss, which lifted Vancouver into first place in the Inter-City Lacrosse League. Point of contention is a goal scored by Shamrocks' Reg Foster with four minutes left in the game.

It would have tied the score, but while referee Whitey Severson signalled a goal, referee Ralph Plumridge indicated that Foster had scored with his foot in the crease, so the goal was disallowed.

"How could he have been in the crease?" a Shamrock official said. "Two Vancouver players were in front of him, and the whole Vancouver team thought it was a good goal."

| | GP | W | L | T | F | A | Pts |

| VICTORIA | 9 | 3 | 5 | 1 | 74 | 80 | 7 |
| Nanaimo | 8 | 2 | 6 | 0 | 66 | 101 | 4 |

Last night's score: VICTORIA 8 at Vancouver 9.
Next game: tonight — Vancouver at VICTORIA, 8 p.m., Memorial Arena.

Shamrocks contend that either Foster scored, or he should have been given a penalty for playing the ball in the crease. No penalty was called.

ONLY ONE MISSED

It was about the only penalty the Rocks missed. They drew 61 minutes, including three 10-minute misconducts, while Vancouver was assessed only 15 minutes.

Barry Ashbee, who scored twice, drew two of the misconducts and three minors, and Jim McNeill got the other misconduct in a post-game argument when Shamrocks stayed on the floor to argue with the officials.

BRUISES FOOT

Shamrocks were ahead for almost three-quarters of the game, although they lost starry Tom Collett early with a bruised foot.

They led, 3-1, at the end of the first quarter and 5-3 at the half, but the well-balanced Vancouver club came on to tie it at 7-7 going into the final period.

SHUT OUT

Sid Warick was held without a goal for the first time this season but drew three assists to tie New Westminster's Jack Blonda for fist place in the scoring list. Both have 32 points, followed by Gimple with 30.

Juniors Handle Legion

Junior Shamrocks, who must win half of their 12 games to qualify for playoffs in the Inter-City Junior Lacrosse League, whipped South Vancouver Legion, 19-8, to square their record at 2-2.

Al McLean and John Allen each scored four goals for Shamrocks, who led, 12-2, at the half. Charlie Granewell, Ranjit and Nirmal Dillon and Don Munro scored twice, the other goals going to Tom Black, Rod Kilduff and Rod Nesbitt.

Sigmund, Hornby, McDonald, Ciccone, Dawson, Jensen, Treloar and Robinson got the Vancouver goals.

National League Umpires Threatening Strike Action

CHICAGO (AP) — The National League Umpires Association served an ultimatum Tuesday that if the baseball umpires do not receive a pension increase by July 3 the group may be forced to go on strike.

The announcement was made by attorney John J. Reynolds of Chicago, who represents the organization. The association comprises 20 umpires.

Eighteen of the umpires met with Reynolds in Chicago Monday and drafted a letter which was sent to Warren Giles, president of the National League, and to each of the clubs.

It read in part that "it is the position of the association that we have been courteous, patient and reasonable in attempting to negotiate an increase to the plan but have not been given an opportunity to negotiate on the increases."

"Therefore, we wish to advise that in the event we do not obtain the consent of the National League of professional baseball clubs to the increase by 3 p.m. July 3, 1964, we will have no alternative but to take appropriate action."

RETIRE AT 55

Under the existing pension plan, which has been in effect since 1955, an umpire, when retiring at the age of 55, receives $200 a year for each year of service. This meant that an umpire serving 10 years would receive a pension of $2,000 a year.

The group now seeks a minimum of $300 a year for each year of active service.

Two weeks ago Reynolds said he received a letter from Giles in which the league recommended to increase the plan to $250 a year a man retroactive to last Jan. 1. The umpires, however, rejected it.

The American League has no umpire association. Its pension plan provided for $150 a year a man until this spring when it was boosted to $250.

Ike Wows 'Em With Long Putt

With the match over at the 16th, officials asked Palmer whether the match should continue the last two meaningless holes.

"It's up to the general," the four - time Masters champion said.

'LET'S GO'

The former president, tanned and fit for his 73 years, turned to an aide who said: "I think it would be better if we leave, general."

"Ah, let's go on and play it out," Eisenhower said. Then he proceeded to the 17th hole where he ran in a 40-foot putt over two rolls for a birdie deuce.

LIMITED CROWD

The limited crowd of 700—200 patrons who paid $100 and 500 who forked over $50 each for the Heart Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania — became delirious.

"You're great, Ike," some yelled. The five - star general had even captured Arnie's army.

KEY SHOTS

The fabulous putt on the 17th was just one of a half-dozen key shots turned in by the spry former president whose golf up to now has been a classified secret.

He never missed a fairway, and he chipped and putted brilliantly as the partner of Palmer, whose booming drives, although often wild, kept the team in the vicinity of par.

On stroke scoring, the Eisenhower - Palmer team scored 37-34 on the par 36-34 Merion course. Bolger - Demaret had 40-34.

Moseley threw a four-hitter as Greaves beat McLarens, 4-1, in the Senior Amateur Baseball League. He struck out 11 in the seven-inning game, and finished with a real flourish.

Mike Hodge and Gerry MacAdams started the seventh with successive singles off Moseley, putting the potential tying run at the plate. But Moseley reared back and set Bob Lumley, Joe Patterson and Larry Johnston down on strikes to end the game.

Greaves, now two games out of the lead, play Independents tonight at 7.

Fireball 'Critical'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Glen (Fireball) Roberts remained in critical condition Tuesday with severe burns suffered when he was trapped in the blazing wreckage of his race car Sunday.

Memorial Hospital officials said the 34-year-old veteran circuit driver was conscious but still in critical condition.

Fog Fouls Trials

GOSPORT, Eng. (UPI) — The second series of trials to determine a British challenger for this year's America's Cup races opened yesterday amid incredible confusion.

When the Sovereign and Kurrewa sailed out of Gosport Harbor they ran into fog and fickle northeast winds.

The Royal Thames Yacht Club committee boat decided to move the starting marker and disappeared into the mist. The yachts finally found the marker, four miles from its announced destination. It turned out it had not been anchored.

The start of the race was delayed for another hour by lack of wind. When the trial finally got underway, the Sovereign lost sight of the weather mark and its navigator wheeled off in the opposite direction from the Kurrewa.

That's when officials decided to call off the entire show. They'll try again today—weather permitting.

Ten farmers' irrigation ponds in Saanich Peninsula have been recently stocked with big rainbow trout, especially to provide fishing for eight to 16-year-old youngsters.

Last year 100 members of the Fish Builders' Club enjoyed 483 fishing days in eight ponds and landed 621 rainbow trout weighing up to, and some over 1½ pounds.

This year two more farmers' ponds have been added to the club's fishing territory and any youngster is eligible for membership through registering with one of the farmers.

This year's season started May 16 and a special field meet will be held June 16 at the pond of Howard English, 6470 Patricia Bay Highway. It will include a talk by a conservation officer, fly casting information and modest prizes for biggest fish taken.

"Some youngsters have taken up fly fishing seriously and a lot more have just developed an exciting new interest in fishing," reports English, who organized the club two years ago.

Farmers taking part in the program include A. Bean on Bryn Road, G. Doney on Simpson Road, John Arnaud on Patricia Bay Highway, J. Severs on Central Saanich Road, G. Rendle on Tanner Road, W. Michell on East Saanich Road, T. Mitchell on Island View Road, J. Godfrey Jr. on Mt. Newton Cross Road, P. Hoole on Oldfield Road and English.

Changes to the B.C. Fishery Regulations made this month prohibit the taking of ling cod less than 23 inches in length, measured from the point of the nose to the tip of the tail.

Fisheries officials advise that the size limit applies to sports fishermen as well as commercial fishermen.

The 23-inch length is the average size of a three-pound ling cod and has been stipulated as a ready reckoner for fishermen.

Another change in the fisheries regulations outlaws the use of jigs, gaffs, spears, rakes or any sharp-pointed instrument for crab fishing.

This means that sportsmen will no longer be able to use garden rakes and the like to take crabs.

Officials explain that considerable mortality was resulting from crabs, especially undersized ones (under 6½ inches) being returned to the water with pierced shells due to the use of spears, gaffs and similar equipment.

The regulations also move to conserve the Campbell River and Comox tyee salmon runs.

Following the fisheries department policy of closing important spawning grounds to all fishing for salmon at certain critical periods, it will now be illegal to fish for, catch, kill, or have in possession salmon in Campbell River between Tyee Spit and Elk Falls from Aug. 15 to Nov. 15 each year.

Salmon fishing is also banned in the Puntledge River upstream from the B.C. Hydro power station to the diversion dam from June 15 to Sept. 30.

Tenpinners Organize

TORONTO (CP)—Milton Webber of Toronto has been named the first president of the newly-formed Canadian Tenpin Federation, the first national organization for Canadian tenpin bowlers.

Representatives of provincial tenpin associations created the CTF to make Canada eligible for world tournaments organized by the Federation Internationale des Quilleurs, which comprises 30 member countries.

Webber, executive director of the American Bowling Congress in Canada, said Canadian bowlers previously competed only in major events under ABC auspices.

Other CTF officers are: John Allenby, Vancouver, first vice-president; Frank Degenstein, Regina, second vice-president; John Trager, Winnipeg, secretary-treasurer, and Deane Morgan, Calgary, and George Smith, Montreal, directors.

Court Halts Rangers' Plan

EDINBURGH (AP) — Five Scottish soccer clubs Tuesday won a court order blocking a move by Glasgow Rangers to oust them from the Scottish League.

Rangers have sponsored a move to reconstruct the league and reduce it in size. It was scheduled to be discussed at the annual meeting of the league Thursday.

Under Rangers's plan five clubs were to be thrown out—Berwick Rangers, Brechin City, Albion Rovers, Stranraer and Stenhousemuir.

Lord Cameron, presiding over the court in session in Edinburgh, made a temporary order banning Rangers from trying to alter the league rules in this way.

Ian Robertson, counsel for the five teams faced with expulsion, claimed it was beyond Rangers's powers to suggest such a reconstruction.

"It is just a device to get rid of us," Robertson said.

Rangers are the most powerful soccer club in Scotland. They have dominated Scottish soccer during most of the last 50 years.

Last month Rangers met with 28 other clubs and won their approval for the reconstruction plan.

Robertson claimed that Rangers had threatened some of these clubs. He said they had been told that if they did not vote for the reconstruction they themselves would be asked to withdraw from the league.

The Scottish League consists of 37 teams—18 in the first division and 19 in the second division. Rangers want two divisions of 16 teams each.

'World's Strongest Man' Healing Old Scars

By JACK MORRIS

VANCOUVER (CP) — In a small basement gymnasium beneath a suburban pool hall a man once acclaimed as the world's strongest is groping in search of new strength.

Doug Hepburn, Canada's weightlifting wonder scant years ago, is trying to heal old scars and make a new beginning for himself from the ashes of self-doubt and fear.

Pipe-smoking Doug Hepburn, now 36, is a squat, powerfully built weightlifter who rocketed to fame in 1953 when he was crowned heavyweight weightlifting champion of the world.

Born a cripple, a boy with a club foot, he still bears the facial scars of a hard forceps delivery. Operations corrected an eye impairment. But doctors could only fuse the ankle of his club foot; that ankle never moved again. As a consequence, his right leg never developed to the size of his left.

SLEPT IN GYM

Deapite physical drawbacks, Doug dreamed of becoming the strongest man in the world. He turned to weights and literally lived in a gymnasium, sleeping there on a bed of potato sacks.

In 1953, a strapping young Canadian relatively unknown even in his own country flew to Stockholm and, with an injured foot, tossed more than 1,000 pounds in three Olympic lifts and was declared the champion, the "world's strongest man."

He had reached his Everest, even though he had injured the bones of his left foot and could not train for three weeks prior to the contest.

"I had to pull myself off that plane at Stockholm with my hands. I couldn't put weight on that foot."

The following year he won a gold medal for Canada at the British Empire Games in Vancouver—and he did this with an injured knee.

Then came the letdown.

"I had attained my dream. I was the strongest man in the world and I felt my country owed me something. Maybe it was a child's fantasy, a dream of immaturity, but that's the way I felt."

HATED WRESTLING

Pushed by promises of $100,000 a year, Hepburn turned to professional wrestling.

"I hated wrestling. I hated physical violence. Every time something went wrong, or I'd get depressed or lonely or tired, I'd go back to the weights, back to where I was the king."

"One day I walked to the door of the Hollywood Hospital (a suburban hospital for alcoholics) and asked for help. I got it, and for nothing."

Long talks with a psychiatrist helped. Doug stayed at the hospital for a year after his own treatment, helping others.

"I realized that something inside me, something more than just will-power, gave me the power to lift weights. Body alone was not enough. And that spark, that something, I realized, could be transformed to another field — maybe writing or something. I'm not really sure yet."

Again Doug turned to the weights. With a partner, he opened a new Doug Hepburn gym—smaller than the others, but quiet, clean and "dedicated to weightlifting."

"I can't regain my amateur status now, since I've been a professional. But with about 16 months of training I know I could lift enough to place in the Olympics for Canada.

"Since I can't do that now, I'm hoping to train some youngsters who can."

Hepburn still is searching for the answers to his problems. He believes he has found at least some of them.

'Fixing' Federal Offence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Tuesday passed and sent to the White House a bill making it a federal crime to fix a sporting event or influence the score by shaving points.

The penalty could be a $10,000 fine or a five-year prison term or both.

Enactment of the bill was an outgrowth of a number of scandals in sports in recent years.

The bill would not replace any state laws pertaining to bribery in sports, but would apply to any event that involves interstate or foreign commerce. This would include transportation and communications.

It would apply to anyone who attempts to influence in any way a sporting event, professional or amateur.

HOME NEEDS GROW

The CMA was warned that Canada's house-building industry may be required to produce 200,000 units a year by 1971, compared to 135,000 now. The prediction came in a paper prepared by the late Stewart Bates, president of Central Mortgage and Housing, who died Sunday.

Toronto Volume Booms On Speculative Mines

TORONTO (CP)—Volume on the stock market Tuesday swelled to 6,944,000 shares, the highest since April 29 when 8,167,000 shares crossed the tape.

Chief reason for the increase was a burst of activity in a handful of speculative mining issues.

* * *

Rowen Consolidated paced the speculatives as it turned over 1,266,958 shares—most of them in the last two hours of trading—and more than doubled in price from 12½ cents to its closing level of 27½. Other active issues which moved higher were PCE Explorations, Bunker Hill, Goldfields Mining, Genex and Belleterre.

Another feature of the market was Highland - Bell which climbed to $7.55 before closing with an 85-cent gain at $6.90. Leitch gained 40 cents to $4.80. Bay Street's rumor mill has many stories concerning these two companies in one deal or another, but so far all rumors remain unsubstantiated.

* * *

The Toronto Stock Exchange executive committee—which is not connected with brokerage firms — has held discussions with Leitch directors and are aware of conditions making Leitch move. However, the TSE stressed that its board of directors — comprised of brokers—does not know what is going on in Leitch and therefore has no information which could be used to its advantage.

Meanwhile, industrials took a minor index loss. Price Brothers dipped 1¼ to 43. CPR 1¼ to 47¼ and Interprovincial Pipe Line $1 to 83½. Smaller losses went to such key issues as Algoma Steel, Dominion Tar and Steel of Canada.

* * *

Canada Iron was prominent on the upside gaining 1½ to 36¾. Maple Leaf Milling, a lightly - traded issue, was the most active industrial on the board as it gained ⅝ to 17¼. Bell Telephone tacked on ⅜ to 55⅞.

Senior base metals had Denison up ⅝ to 14¼ and Falconbridge ahead ½ to 72¾. Hudson Bay dipped $1 to 67.

Dome paced a gold uprising with a $1 gain to 29¾. La Luz was ahead 35 cents to $6.70.

Home A spurted ⅞ to 20⅝ as western oils moved fractionally higher.

* * *

Steels Ease Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels posted a string of small gains Tuesday as the over-all stock market went through another session of slow, irregular decline.

Volume of 4,300,000 shares was only slightly better than Monday's 4,000,000, the lowest total of the year.

The hesitant, drifting action of the market was blamed by analysts on the approaching three-day U.S. Memorial weekend. The market will be closed Friday. Many traders had taken to the sidelines, waiting for a clearer determination of where the market's next sharp move would be—up or down.

* * *

Prices Mixed

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were mixed to narrowly lower on the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges Tuesday.

Trading was extremely active among industrials and moderate in mines and oils with turnovers of 239,500 and 867,300 shares respectively.

* * *

Largest declines appeared in pulp and paper issues as the index dropped 1.1 to 135.8. MacMillan fell one point to 43½, B.C. Forest ⅜ to 28¼, and Domtar and Great Lakes ¼ each to 22⅝ and 26¼.

Banks were down 0.5 to 126.9. Montreal declined ⅜ to 65¼, and Nova Scotia ¼ to 71⅝. Banque Provinciale advanced ⅝ to 55½.

* * *

Industrials slipped 0.1 to 152.2, but many gains were made. Du Pont rose 1½ to 48⅝. Southam ⅜ to 29¾ and Dominion Textile ⅛ to 27¼.

Utilities were unchanged at 137.5. CPR lost one point to 47¼ after a two-point rise Monday. Trans-Mountain Pipe Line advanced ⅜ to 20.

* * *

Hudson Bay Mining dropped 1¼ among senior base metals and International Nickel ½ to 85. Hollinger picked up ⅜ to 30¼.

Among senior oils, Home picked up ⅝ to 20½. Pacific Petroleum lost ¼ to 14.

London Unsettled

LONDON — Gilt-edges were narrowly irregular in an unsettled London stock market Tuesday. The Financial Times daily index of 30 London industrials was 340.4, off 1.7.

Businessmen Told: Boost Your Exports

* * *

Secondary Industry Lagging

* * *

Canadian businessmen were rapped again Tuesday at Montreal because they don't export enough.

Two speakers at the 93rd annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association had some sharp words for the 1,300 delegates, many representing firms taking part in export programs.

ONLY ONE WAY

J. Gordon McMillen, president of Keeprite Products Ltd. of Brantford, Ont., told the meeting there is only one way Canada's secondary industry can experience the growth it needs—by exporting.

"I think it is obvious that as yet we Canadians are doing a poor job on exporting the products of secondary industry," he said.

FALTERING BADLY

"That we will find world markets in ever-increasing proportions for our raw materials I have no doubt. But the place where I fear we shall falter—and falter badly—is in the progress and expansion of our secondary industry."

Increased exports are vital if Canada is to develop, he said.

NOT AGGRESSIVE

Vernon O. Marquez, executive vice-president of Northern Electric Co. Ltd., Montreal, told the meeting that Canada's secondary manufacturers "have not been conspicuous by their aggressiveness in seeking export markets."

"Canada's exports have been predominantly agricultural products and raw or partially processed materials. . . .

"One might say of Canada that our economy presents a paradox in that we have the external appearance of a fairly well industrialized country while at the same time maintaining a pattern of international trade which resembles that of the less-developed countries."

PERCENTAGE LOW

Fully manufactured goods made up about 80 per cent of Britain's exports and 70 per cent of the United States, but less than 40 per cent of Canada's.

Mr. Marquez said design capability is the Achilles heel of most Canadian manufacturers.

"I suspect that a good deal of the talk we hear about Canadian manufacturers finding it difficult to compete in overseas markets with low-wage-rate countries . . . is something of an oversimplification, if not sometimes an outright alibi.

"More often than not, what appears on the surface to be a problem of price is in reality a challenge in creative design, which needs to be undertaken by people whose experience, up to now, has been woefully lacking in this essential area of manufacturing skill."

* * *

ALASKA OIL BOOM

Oil men are preparing for another full summer of exploration in Alaska, apparently convinced the great earthquake left the state's petroleum resources untouched. Major sale of oil and gas leases on the Moquawkie Indian reserve on Cook Inlet brought $13,000,000. And Phil R. Holdsworth, Alaska's commissioner of natural resources, says, "there was no apparent damage to producing wells, and wells which were being drilled at the time of the quake are still being drilled.

Travel Firms War On Cars

EDMONTON (CP) — Commercial transportation firms are engaged in all-out war against a mode of travel that accounts for nearly 80 per cent of the annual travel mileage in Canada—the family car.

A spokesman for the travel industry said recently that competition between rival transportation concerns has been sidetracked in favor of battles against the common enemy.

"Since air, rail and bus accounted for less than 15 per cent of the miles travelled last year, we'd be foolish to compete against each other," the spokesman said.

CUT-RATE FARES

The spokesman said cut-rate fares and travel schemes designed to provide maximum comfort and leisure with minimum effort and expense have slowed the trend toward automobile travel.

Greyhound Bus Lines led the assault with a catchy advertising slogan and other organizations quickly followed.

CNR FARE PLAN

Canadian National Railways, with a fare plan that encourages travel on light-traffic days, and Trans-Canada Air Lines, with a plea to take the time out of travel, have pioneered attractions to lure travellers from personal driving.

Travel industry officials say the automobile is the most expensive means of transportation.

Spring Race Close In Island Waters

Salmon fishing in lower Island waters is picking up and so is competition for top spot in the spring salmon division.

Yesterday Gerald McDormand, 3420 Woodburn, took the lead with a 32-pounder from Oak Bay waters off the Gap on a Minnow-Teaser. As a Colonist subscriber he is in line to win everything . . . a trophy, a gold Prince Button and merchandise prize in addition to chances on all hidden weight prizes.

City Entry Ninth In Roadeo

Brian Unwin, 17, of 2741 Burdick, Victoria's entry in the B.C. Jaycee teen-age safe-driving roadeo finals at Cloverdale, came ninth out of 31 entries.

Winner of the roadeo was Jim Merrill of Whalley, who goes to Toronto next month for the national finals.

CANADIAN SPENDING

Canadians spent $605,000,000 on foreign travel in 1962, a decrease of nearly six per cent.

B.C. Firefighters Plan Convention

Close to 60 delegates from B.C. professional fire departments are expected to attend a convention June 1 and 2 in the Ingraham Hotel.

Hosts will be Victoria and Oak Bay fire departments.

Vancouver lawyer Charles R. McClean will address the convention at a banquet at 7 p.m.

Delegates from Local 730, Victoria and Oak Bay, will be Eric Simmons, president; Fred Leeke, vice-president, and Alfred Adamson, secretary-treasurer. Representing Saanich Local 967 will be William Holmes, president, and Dave McGregor, secretary-treasurer.

Education in Spotlight

Education will be in the spotlight at a general meeting of the Association of Women Electors of Greater Victoria at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The meeting, open to the public, will discuss Community Colleges—the New Look in Education.

Speakers will be Dickson M. Falconer, Mount View Senior Secondary School teacher, and John G. Dalgleish, director of adult education for School District 61. The meeting will be followed by a question period.

SMOKING WAS FATAL

IWA MEMBERS

ACCEPT!

THIS SETTLEMENT

✔ Proposed by Conciliation Officer E. P. Fisher
✔ Recommended by the IWA Policy Committee.

MAKE SURE OF THESE GAINS, THE BEST YET OBTAINED BY THE IWA

- Every worker in the coast lumber industry to get a pay boost of 28 cents an hour in two years.
- The proposed new base rate, $2.36 an hour, is as high as the base rates won by the 1963 IWA strike in Washington, Oregon and California.
- Journeymen tradesmen to get a pay boost of 30 cents an hour next June 15, and 43 cents an hour in two years.
- Shingle sawyers and shingle packers to get a floor under their earnings of $3.11 an hour and $2.57½ an hour, respectively.
- Planermen to get a survey of rates and categories.
- Paydays to be every second week.
- Health and Welfare weekly sickness and accident indemnity payments to be raised to $50.00 for 39 weeks.
- Qualifications for paid statutory holidays to be clarified.
- Earned vacations with pay to be taken.
- Travel time provision for loggers to be improved.
- Arbitration procedure to be clarified.

REJECTION IS A GAMBLE AGAINST ODDS

We must be frank with ourselves.

A membership rejection vote will invite a rejection vote by the employers. This will put the IWA back at the bargaining table to make a fresh start on negotiations.

Objectionable proposals made by the employers and omitted from this proposed settlement, such as higher board rates, a re-scheduled work week with less overtime on weekends, reduced travel time rate, loss of rest periods, and less fare allowance, etc., will be demanded again.

The ordinary conciliation procedures have been exhausted. If the employers should choose to defy a decisive government-supervised strike vote for higher demands, the Union would have no alternative but to strike. A satisfactory form of mediation is uncertain. No one can predict the outcome.

With this settlement assured, why gamble on uncertainties? Our 26,000 members and their families cannot afford a gamble of this sort for the uncertain prospect of a few cents more on the hour.

VOTE "YES" TO ACCEPT

MAKE SURE OF WHAT WE HAVE!

City Goes from Cold to Warm

By MIKE GADSBY

After being the second coldest city in Canada Thursday, Victoria bounced back yesterday with its warmest day of the year.

Although the temperature only rose to an official 66.4 degrees, it was several degrees hotter than that downtown, and after the recent big dose of cool weather, it probably felt like the middle of summer to most Victorians.

Weatherman William Mackie said we are still far behind last year's heat, when the temperature rose to 83 degrees on May 20, after several days of sunshine and high temperatures.

This year's warm weather started yesterday, when clear skies helped the temperature rise to 60 degrees at the Gonzales Observatory. But even that rather chill air temperature made it warm enough to sunbathe in the city.

Mr. Mackie said temperatures yesterday probably rose to about 70 degrees in many low-lying areas on the Saanich Peninsula north of the city.

For contrast, three days this month have set records as having had the lowest maximum temperatures on record for the Victoria area.

The temperature only rose to 48.6 degrees May 12, 51.1 degrees May 20, and 49.4 degrees May 21, so the current weather is a welcome relief, especially when you consider Victoria on May 21 was the second coolest place in Canada.

Mr. Mackie said today should be much the same as Monday and Tuesday, but there will be increasing cloudiness toward evening which will continue, along with occasional rain showers, over the next several days.

He said the squeeze is coming from two weather systems, one moving north through Oregon and Washington from the lower American coast, and a similar one moving south from the Gulf of Alaska.

The combination of clouds and showers will mean cooler weather for the Victoria area during this period, and it is not known when the heat is likely to return.

So enjoy today—it will be the last one like it for a while.

Four Days—$7,400

Shower Shy Of Objective

With only four more days to go before the end of the campaign, the Shower of Dimes total collection so far stands at $7,600—just $7,400 short of the $15,000 objective.

More than 50 of the campaign umbrellas are in strategic spots in Greater Victoria department stores, supermarkets, banks, restaurants and shops, but people just haven't been throwing in their dimes, say officials.

54 PATIENTS

The cash is to go towards maintenance of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, where at present there are 54 patients, children up to the age of 12.

Friday, seven of the 42-member, red-jacketed campaign committee will visit the Empress Hotel with collection umbrellas, to canvass at the Alma Squares' annual square-dance jamboree at 7 p.m.

TAG DAY

There will also be an extra 300 volunteers in the campaign Saturday when the committee will run a big tag day downtown and in districts surrounding Victoria.

"We need donations badly to reach our objective," said an official last night. "Patients at the Solarium have an average stay of 312 days and it costs $14.88 per day per child to run the home."

Donations may still be made to PO Box 177, Victoria, B.C., or for further information, call EV 4-9301.

Metro Talk Set June 20

Municipal officials and representatives of unorganized territory in the Greater Victoria region will meet June 20 with Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, to discuss possibility of a voluntary form of metro services.

The scheme was proposed by Mr. Campbell, who hopes regional boards can be formed to look after such services as sewers, parks, health and hospitals, and planning.

Intermunicipal committee last week asked the minister to set up his proposed meeting as soon as possible.

Capital Plan Backed

By IAN STREET

Unanimous endorsement of city council's proposed $3,387,000 capital budget, which is to be voted on by Victoria ratepayers June 18, was recorded yesterday by representatives of some two dozen community organizations and businesses.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said he was "most encouraged" by the reception given the scheme by guests at a city-sponsored luncheon in the Empress Hotel. Including aldermen and city officials, 32 attended.

GUEST LIST

The guest list was made up of representatives of such organizations as the PTA Council for Greater Victoria, Association of Women Electors, Victoria Labor Council, Downtown Businessmen's Association, Jaycees, Chinese Community Association, Victoria Real Estate Board, and the Chamber of Commerce.

There were also representatives of the Community Planning Association, Advisory Planning Commission, Capital Region Planning Board, Greater Victoria school board, several large businesses, newspapers, TV, and radio stations.

SINGLE SUGGESTION

Mayor Wilson said later the only suggested change during discussion following the luncheon was that the $3,387,000 limit placed on the five-year program might have been increased to carry out a greater number of necessary capital projects.

"City council believes that the program we propose can be justified on a sound actuarial basis with a very modest increase in taxes amounting to a net .86 of a mill over the next five years," the mayor said.

ONE ALTERNATIVE

In a brief introductory address Mayor Wilson said there is only one practical alternative to the capital budget scheme.

"This, of course, would be to include individual projects on the list in our annual budget," he said. "But this would mean a drastic increase in the mill rate."

ALL BENEFIT

The capital budget scheme is also preferable, Mayor Wilson added, because it spreads the tax load and recognizes all citizens will benefit from the proposed projects for many years to come.

All the organizations who were asked to support council actively in its three-week campaign to sell the capital budget agreed to do so.

Chinese Dragons On Loose Tonight

Victoria Chinatown Lions Club will turn the dragons loose on Fisgard Street tonight when they play host to 1,000 people coming here for the 42nd annual Lions Club district convention.

Fisgard Street will be blocked off to traffic from Government and Store Streets, and a big program of Oriental entertainment—open to the public as well as the visiting Lions—will be staged in the street at 8:15 p.m.

Firemen Hopeful

Saanich firefighters, hopeful council will change its decision and promote a new fire chief from the ranks, will take a brief to next Monday's council meeting.

They are also encouraging the circulation of petitions in the municipality protesting the method in which city firefighter Joseph Sutherland, 52, was given the post effective June 1.

Mill Blaze Doused Once More

Fire flared up again at Ideal Sawmill plant on Tyee Road last night but was quickly extinguished by the city fire department.

Investigation is continuing into Monday night's spectacular $25,000 fire which gutted the building. The origin is still unknown.

Last night's fire started in a sawdust hopper which the department sprayed down, then called the mill owner to haul the sawdust away.

Chief J. F. Abbott said Monday's fire started at the south end of the mill and under the main structure. The building was partly insured.

He said officials from the Vancouver fire marshal's office, who are investigating the blaze, would likely be busy for the next two or three days.

Banquet at Empress

100th Birthday Tuesday For St. Louis College

St. Louis College, second oldest private school in British Columbia, will mark its 100th anniversary with a banquet at the Empress Hotel Tuesday.

Founded in 1864 by Bishop Modeste Demers, the school is second in age to Victoria's St. Ann's Academy.

GOLDEN JUBILEE

The dinner will also mark the 50th anniversary in Victoria of the Christian Brothers of Ireland, who teach at St. Louis College.

All former pupils, their friends and relatives are invited to attend the dinner. Special guests will include Bishop Remi de Roo, Bishop of Victoria, Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. G. R. Pearkes, a representative of the provincial government and the city of Victoria, and Archbishop Harold E. Sexton, Anglican Archbishop of British Columbia.

Festivities will start at 6 p.m. when old classmates will have a get-acquainted hour prior to the 7 p.m. dinner.

The dining room will be decorated with pictures of classes and school activities, and a special book commemorating the event has been compiled and edited by Victoria historian James K. Nesbitt.

OLD EVENTS

The book includes data on concerts and sporting events at the school over the years, excerpts from newspapers and class pictures.

About 500 people are expected to attend the dinner.

Gorge Swim Too Invigorating

Anyone driving along Tolmie who noticed two girls' swimsuits dangling from telephone wires between Arcadia and Arm shouldn't be too worried —they were really there.

Christine Dawson, 901 Shearwater, Carol McCuaig, 846 Carrie, and Ernestine Nyeste, 901 Shearwater, all 13 years old, were returning from a swim at the Gorge and were so invigorated by the swim they started to throw their suits in the air—too high.

Weekend Rates Off For Ferries

B.C. government ferries are so crowded on weekends and holidays that the provincial cabinet is trying to discourage group travel at those times.

A provincial order-in-council yesterday eliminated special group rates on weekends and holidays, leaving it cheaper on weekdays for groups to travel via ferry to and from the mainland.

BARGAIN RESTRICTED

Premier Bennett said the travel bargain was restricted because group travellers have been interfering with regular ferry patrons at peak periods.

Normal passenger fare on the government's Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen and Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay runs is $2. Under the group rates tourists can travel in groups of 10 to 14 for $1.50 each. Groups of 15 to 24 are charged $1.25 a person and larger groups go for $1.10 a head.

WHEN TRAFFIC SLACK

Mr. Bennett said it was decided the special rates should be in effect only when traffic is slack.

Monty Aldous, general manager of the ferry authority, said the change will not affect regularly-scheduled bus runs.

Famed Swiftsure

600 Yachtsmen

Harbor to Fill for Sea Classic

By MIKE GADSBY

The largest number of yachts ever assembled in Victoria will sail into the Inner Harbor Friday afternoon to start the official ceremonies leading up to the opening of the 34th annual Swiftsure race Saturday.

Greetings to the fleet of yachts will be extended by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow on behalf of the city of Victoria, by Commodore Peter Redpath of the Bellingham Yacht Club and by Commodore Frank Piddington of the RVYC.

Square Dance

About 150 pre-teen square dancers, the Alma Squares, will put on a dancing display on the lawn of the Empress Hotel beginning at 7:45 p.m., followed by a sunset ceremony on the nearby lawn of the legislative buildings.

The sunset ceremony will be performed by Western Canada's oldest regiment, the 5th B.C. Independent Medium Battery Royal Regiment of Canadian Artillery.

Battery commander will be Captain J. A. B. Hill, and the party will include a brass and reed band, escort guard and color party.

Inspection

Captain Hill will first inspect the guard himself, then will accompany Ald. Edgelow while he inspects it.

Following the flag-lowering ceremony, James A. McVie, FPSA, will show colored slides of previous Swiftsure events on a large screen set up on the lawn of the Empress Hotel.

Included in the ceremonies will be the observance of a one-minute silence in honor of Ray Cook, of Seattle, who won the first Swiftsure in 1930. Mr. Cook had entered every Swiftsure event since then, including last year's.

The race itself will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday from a starting line set up between two naval vessels near Brotchie Ledge.

It is expected to end sometime late Sunday afternoon, after completion of a 136-mile course to Swiftsure bank and back.

Good View

A good view of the race's start can be enjoyed from the Dallas Road waterfront; Saxe Point, on the Esquimalt waterfront, or later along the West Coast as far north as Port Renfrew.

Trophies offered in the annual classic include the Swiftsure Trophy for best overall handicap time; City of Victoria Trophy, first to finish the race; B.C. Cement Co. Trophy, first in AA class; T. Eaton Co. Trophy, first in A class; Seattle Yacht Club Trophy, first in BB class; Royal Vancouver Yacht Club Trophy, first in B class; Juan de Fuca Trophy, best overall handicap in C class, and San Juan Trophy, first to finish in C class.

Trophies Split

The race, which used to be dominated by American yachts, has split its trophies between Canadian and American yachts over the past few years.

This year about one-third of the entries will be Canadian, although several American entries will be by boats made in Canada.

MR. AND MRS. D. W. BRITTAIN

Guides Form Honor Guard

Rose Couling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moore, Hilliers, and Mr. Donald William Brittain, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brittain, Coombs, were united in marriage recently at Grace United Church in Coombs.

Rev. Walter Crane performed the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her step-father, the bride chose an afternoon-length, white lace gown with three-tiered skirt, taffeta cummerbund, square neckline and short sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a pearl tiara. She carried a cascade of shocking pink roses and white carnations.

* * *

Miss Mary Couling, bride's sister, as maid of honor, was in shocking pink organza over taffeta and carried pink roses and white carnations.

Miss Kay Brittain, groom's sister, as junior bridesmaid, and Miss Elizabeth Moore, bride's sister as flower girl, were gowned alike in pale pink organza over taffeta and carried pink roses, white carnations and Shasta daisies in their colonial bouquets.

Mr. Bob Brittain was his brother's best man. Ushering were Mr. Hugh Campbell and Mr. John Brittain, groom's brother.

* * *

Mrs. T. S. Floyd was soloist and Mrs. J. Allen the organist during the wedding.

Mr. Fred Philps proposed the toast to his cousin at a reception which followed in Sunset Inn.

For a honeymoon trip to Salt Spring Island the bride topped her wedding ensemble with a beige coat styled with wedding ring collar. Her accessories were white and she carried a sheath of beige and yellow roses. Her only jewelry was a small black diamond pendant, gift of the groom.

Tea June 2

On Tuesday, June 2, the Dunsmuir District of the Girl Guides, Lady Douglas Division, will hold their annual tea in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

There will be a door prize and sale of home cooking.

This district includes Brownie and Guide packs of St. Albans', St. John's and Belmont United Church, also St. Margaret's School.

Scottish To Mark Jubilee

Mrs. Frank MacKenzie Ross will come from Vancouver to open the Golden Jubilee Garden Party to be given by the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) at Glenlyon Boys' School on Saturday, May 30, from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Regimental pipes and drums will play during the afternoon and there will be Scottish country dances by cadets and girls from Adeline Duncan's School.

Special invitations have been sent to Mrs. Cy Peck, Mrs. R. B. Wilson, Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Mrs. J. S. Adam, Mrs. J. Gallagher, Mrs. Ian Simpson, Mrs. T. Burge, Mrs. M. W. E. Allen, Mrs. A. Cox, Mrs. H. Raby and Miss Urquhart.

Mrs. A. Crabbe will convene the tea. Those in charge of stalls will be Mrs. J. Stothard, home cooking; Mrs. M. Carver, candy; Mrs. R. Curtis, white elephant; Mrs. G. Taylor, plants; Mrs. E. Edlund, sewing.

Wood Look In Kitchen

MONTREAL (CP) — North American kitchens are taking on the "wood look" if those shown at a home show here are an example of what is to come. Wooden beams, both oak and oak finish, are making an appearance. Several kitchen wallpapers have a grained wood design.

In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary there will be an at home for friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Davidson at the home of their elder daughter, Mrs. Dennis (Ruby) Walker, 440 Dupplin Road, on Sunday, May 31, from 2 to 4 p.m. Present will be their son, Mr. Donald W. Davidson and daughter, Mrs. Gordon (Pearl) Taylor, nine grandchildren and one great-grandson. The couple was married in Winnipeg, Man., on June 1, 1914 and moved to Victoria, where they have lived ever since, in May, 1923. Mr. Davidson has been a member of the Daily Colonist staff for 40 years and is a 50-year member of the International Typographical Union.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mansfield, 980 McKenzie Avenue, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Anne Jennifer, to Mr. Henry James Pylypa, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pylypa, 1683 Feltham Road. The wedding will take place Saturday, June 6, at 7 p.m. in St. Peter's Church, Lake Hill.—(Jus-Rite)

Beaver and Mink To Hold Interest

MONTREAL (CP)— The Canadian woman shopping for a fur coat this fall will find slimmer lines, lighter weights and shorter sleeves.

The Fur Trade Association of Canada's 1964 fur fashion preview here indicated a trend towards more fitted, belted fronts, straight backs and smaller collars.

Lengths of coats will remain the same—about an inch below the knee. Sleeves are shorter, ending an inch below the elbow. Some sleeves can be worn long or rolled back to the elbow.

Some interesting details shown were side slits, patch pockets and small, notched collars.

J. K. Walkden, vice-president of the National Federation of Fur Retailers of Canada, forecast a "big future" for long haired raccoon and skunk coats, especially in three-quarter length for wearing over slacks.

He said in a press conference the greatest interest this year is expected to be in beaver and mink.

Mr. Walkden said beaver is one of the best buys in furs.

"The actual cost of the skins is less than it was 15 years ago." This is partly due to the efforts of the Quebec government. Beaver now is much more plentiful and the pelts are better quality."

He said spotted furs are over-priced, and mentioned an auction where six skins for a leopard coat cost $9,000—and this was before the cost of labor.

On the other hand, black and grey lamb is currently under-priced, Mr. Walkden said.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: When my husband and I married in 1961 he was in the army. I had a baby boy the first year and it was very rough on me physically. The doctor said I needed complete rest so my mother-in-law took the baby and I stayed with my folks for three months.

After that my mother-in-law encouraged me to go to Arkansas and be with my husband. She said she loved keeping the baby and that I shouldn't worry.

My husband got out of the army six months ago and now we have a nice little house. I am expecting again and everything is fine—except we can't get our boy back from my mother-in-law.

She says the child is the most important thing in her life and if we take him she will die of a broken heart. Last night we had a big row. She called me selfish and cruel, said I'd have many more children and would not miss this one.

Our son calls me "Auntie Lou" and my husband "Uncle Jim". He thinks my mother-in-law is his mommy. Please tell me what to do before I lose my mind.

—BIG MISTAKE.

Dear Mistake: Does your mother-in-law think that children are like waffles—the first one doesn't count? Quit horsing around and get your son back with you, where he belongs.

Your mother-in-law should take a foster child into her home since she seems to need to lavish love on a youngster. The local Family Service Association can direct her.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I am 24 years of age, but you'd never know it. I'm a size 7, with coal black hair and a pixie face. I could pass for 18 with no trouble although I have two little girls.

The problem is that whenever my husband and I go out someone mistakes him for my father. Rudy is only 30 but his pot-belly and bald head makes him look about 40.

I've tried high-style clothes and severe hair-dos to make myself look older but they don't become me. I look as if I am playing house. Rudy didn't say anything but I know he felt terrible when the waiter who took our order last night asked, "And now what would your beautiful daughter like for dessert?"

Do you have any suggestions or advice?—PATTY

Dear Patty: This situation is going to get worse before it gets better. Wait till people begin to mistake his children for his grandchildren.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: My mother works part time in a bakery to buy extra things for the house. She keeps the money in a pickle jar behind the canned goods.

My 15-year-old sister helped herself to $11 and bought a lace blouse to wear with her black velvet skirt. She told me the blouse was on sale and she just couldn't pass it up. I promised I wouldn't say anything because she plans to put the money back as soon as he gets paid for her baby-sitting jobs.

Mom hasn't missed the money yet but one of these days I'm afraid she might. My conscience is bothering me. Should I tell mom and get it off my mind?—LITTLE SISTER

Dear Little Sister: You did nothing wrong so what's bugging you? Snitching wouldn't make you feel better but it could make you feel worse.

One of these days I suggest you tell your mother that keeping money in a pickle jar makes as much sense as keeping pickles in a bank.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Joan Fortt Bride Of Harold Tanner

A wedding of wide interest took place in St. Luke's Church yesterday afternoon when Miss Beatrice Joan Fortt was united in marriage with Mr. Edward Harold Tanner of Calgary.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fortt, Windsor Road, and the late Col. Ronald L. Fortt and the groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Tanner.

The slender, dark-haired bride who walked to the altar with her uncle, Mr. Donald S. Fisher of Sackville, N.B., was radiant in her wedding dress, a Balenciaga original of pure silk chiffon over shimmering peau d'ange. The dress was a floor length sheath, jacketed and slimly elegant. Hand embroidered Guipiere lace and ribbon applique encircled the long line jacket and edged the bouffant Watteau cathedral train that drifted gracefully from the shoulders.

A softly tiered veil of tulle was held by a sparkling crystal coronet and she carried a single white orchid surrounded by cascading lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Douglas W. Cunnington of Ottawa was matron of honor and her dress of delphinium blue imported lace was sheath style with short sleeves. Her crownless hat was of the same material interwoven with veiling of the same shade. Gardenias and freesias were in her bouquet.

Mr. C. Reginald Tanner of Vancouver was best man for his brother. Dr. W. H. R. Tanner of Calgary and Mr. Terrence Tanner of Vancouver ushered guests to the pews.

The reception was held at the Victoria Golf Club where the fireplace was flanked with tall standards filled with white gladiolus, white snapdragons and white stock. Bowls of the same flowers were placed throughout the lounge.

Leaving for a wedding trip to Hawaii, the new Mrs. Tanner travelled in a Chanel-inspired jacket dress of DuBarry blue silk Pesaanti. The sleeveless bodice of shirred silk chiffon topped a slim sheath skirt. Her hat was a floral model of multi hued tones of blue and accessories were white.

Mr. and Mrs. Tanner will live at 863 Prospect Avenue, Calgary.

Cmdr. and Mrs. Henry Gardner announce the engagement of their daughter, Caroline, to Mr. Donald William McNevin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Donald McNevin of Belleville, Ont. The wedding will take place on June 6 at 2 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents, 3845 Duke Road. Rev. A. Hodgkins, grandfather of the bride, will officiate.

Grandmother's Pendant For 'Something Old'

Jacquelyn Rose Shepard became the bride of Mr. Ronald Dennis Parker at Garden City United Church on the wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Shepard, 210 Homer Road.

Rev. H. R. C. Whitmore performed the ceremony. Mrs. T. Crosland was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina-length gown of white peau de soie, in belled skirt style. The fitted bodice, featuring scooped neckline and lily-point sleeves, was enhanced with an overlay of French Chantilly lace. Her five-tiered veil misted from a tiara of seed pearls and for "something old" she wore her grandmother's emerald and pearl pendant. Red roses, pink feathered carnations and ivy were in her crescent bouquet.

* * *

Mrs. David Hopwood of Vancouver was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a sheath-style gown of blue crystal charm with floral headpiece and shoes en tone. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of pink tulips and feathered carnations.

Mr. Hopwood was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker are now making their home at 831 Selkirk Avenue.

Mrs. J. W. Mulcaster of Port Alberni, bride's grandmother, was among the out-of-town guests.

ST. AIDAN'S UCW

The UCW and committee of stewards of St. Aidan's United Church will hold a spaghetti and meatballs luncheon on May 30 with luncheon to be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the lower auditorium of the church. Auction sale will be held in the hall, Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Seeks Change

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto social worker said Sunday society is "at worst downright hostile and at best negative" in its attitude toward working mothers.

Mrs. Jean Woodsworth told the Congress of Canadian Women at its national convention that "community acceptance would relieve part of the working mother's heavy burden."

She said that although working mothers' hours of work were extremely long, their "chronic condition" of exhaustion was the result of worrying about their childrens' welfare.

Mrs. Woodsworth criticized the lack of day-care facilities for children in Toronto and recommended parity of wages for men and women doing the same job.

IODE Writes To Pearson About Flag

FREDERICTON (CP) — Members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire at their annual meeting here wrote letters Tuesday to Prime Minister Pearson and members of parliament about feelings on the Canadian flag issue.

Some 300 members from across Canada were urged by the national president, Mrs. D. W. McGibbon of Toronto, to write notes during the lunch hour between business meetings after newspaper reports said Mr. Pearson told parliament he was not sure whether he received a telegram the order sent Monday.

In the telegram, the order said that they "deplore that in this democratic country individuals are deprived of the right to vote on an issue as vital as the flag."

Hazel Craig Honored At Shower

Hand-made aprons were presented to the honored guest and her mother, Mrs. R. Craig. Cluster of balloons contained slips of paper indicating where the gifts were hidden in the room. After breaking each balloon for the directions, Miss Craig had to search for her gifts.

Miss Z. Harmon presided over the refreshment table decorated in blue and white. Miss M. Marshall played several selections on the piano.

Other guests were Mrs. B. Lang, Mrs. H. Watson, Mrs. G. Griffin, Mrs. D. Kendall, Mrs. J. McDuff, Mrs. B. Montgomery, Mrs. G. Sinclair, Mrs. N. Woodcock, Mrs. E. Noel, Mrs. D. Belleau, Mrs. B. Horseman, Mrs. B. Black, and the Misses Jannette Watson, P. Townsend, E. Milligan, E. Whiteley, R. Lang, Mr. J. Gilstrap, M. W. Ballendini, Mr. Horseman, Mr. Lang.

Expert Says:

Reports and Exams Can Be Damaging

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP) — Report cards and examinations can be damaging to a child's mental health if his parents and teachers fail to put them in the proper perspective, says a former dean of education at the University of Saskatchewan.

Dr. S. R. Laycock, now a special lecturer in education at the University of British Columbia, writes in the April issue of the federal health department publication, Canada's Mental Health:

"There is little in education that can be so damaging to the self-concept and to relationships with pupils as most types of report cards.

"In our society where success in moving up the socio-economic scale is a major criterion of an individual's worth, children who do not receive high marks on a uniform curriculum for their age group are apt to receive severe blows to their self-esteem from their middle-class parents."

In an article on Promoting Mental Health in the School, Dr. Laycock says if "pep talks, scoldings, exhortations, pressure, punishment or bribes could solve the problem of low marks, it would have been solved long ago."

A host of factors are involved in school failures, including emotional and character disturbances, personality factors, home conditions, cultural standards and environmental situations.

Dr. Laycock believes most types of report cards should be replaced by parent-teacher conferences.

"Since this is now impossible because parents seem wedded to report cards complete with percentages, the only practical alternative would seem to be to try to reduce the harm done to children's self-concepts and to their relationships with parents and teachers."

This could be done by using "intelligently conducted" parent-teacher conferences to supplement report cards.

"At such conferences teachers and parents could search together as to how they can co-operate to help the child achieve his potentialities and at his own rate of learning."

Dr. Laycock feels examinations in themselves are not a danger to students' mental health.

"It is the undue emphasis placed on competitive examinations by parents and teachers that may cause damage.

"Actually, children continually seek to test themselves in athletics, games, and in many other ways. So far as school work goes there should be more, not fewer, examinations in which pupils test their progress and growth."

But in testing, teachers should move away from too great an emphasis on fact-getting, towards ways of testing pupils' ability in fact-using, Dr. Laycock advises.

"Examinations should test the ability to solve problems in new settings, to do logical and critical thinking, to ask questions, to foresee consequences, and to produce new ideas."

Garden Notes

Colors at War

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I have often heard the theory advanced that no two colors found in nature can ever clash. As I mentioned yesterday when we were discussing color harmony in the garden, I don't think this is quite true, for I have seen flower beds planted up with some combinations which set the teeth on edge.

Some colors, whether in art or in nature, are forever at war. Orange and pink are blatant offenders, and one of the most jarring groupings I ever saw was a large front bed planted out with alternate panels of pink and orange snapdragons.

Pink and lemon yellow snaps would have been grand. Pink and blue nemesias make a most satisfying combination, while scarlet salvia with deep blue larkspur or anchusa go together like ham and eggs.

Pink and red are poor team mates too, for the pigments are too near alike ever to harmonize, and this combination is seen only too often, particularly with snapdragons. As I mentioned yesterday, pink flowers of any kind are discordant against a background of harsh red brick.

One particularly unpleasant combination I once ran across was crimson bedding fuchsias with purple heliotrope. The crimson of the fuchsia isn't a pure color—it seems to have a touch of blue in it—needs either a white flower or a silver-foliaged plant to set off its charms. The purple of heliotrope — affectionately known as Cherry Pie because of its fragrance—has maroon hidden in its pigmentation, and looks well with a clear light pink flower as a running mate.

It isn't too late to sow grass seed, either for the making of a new lawn or for the renovating of bad patches on an old one, but this work should be completed while the nights are still cool and before the summer dry spells arrive.

In the sowing of grass seed, we have two situations that work against one another. Once sown, grass seed must never be allowed to dry out, for the tiny emerging sprout can be killed in less than an hour if moisture is not available. On the other hand, grass seed needs lots of light, preferably bright sunshine, to induce strong germination. This means very shallow covering, or better still, no covering at all.

Ideally, the seeds should be just pressed lightly into the soil surface, and fully exposed to the rays of the sun. Trouble is, how can we give our germinating grass seeds a sun tan and keep them moist at the same time?

The U.S. Experimental Station at Beltsville, Maryland, has worked out a surprisingly simple solution to this paradoxical situation. The seeds are sown in the ordinary way and pressed into close contact with the moist soil by running a light roller over the sown ground, then the site is covered with a sheet of clear plastic held down with rocks or bricks or pegs. The atmosphere remains moist under the transparent covering, while the seeds can sunbathe to their heart's content. The plastic is removed, of course, after the seeds have germinated.

JOHN CROSBY Reports

Hobo Vanishing Species

LONDON — The hobo, who tramped England's green hedgerows, sleeping in haystacks, expert at keeping himself warm and dry (which isn't easy in England), is vanishing and with him a whole way of life.

George Orwell, who took to the road in the '20s and '30s, has written of his Irish hobo mate, Paddy: "One would have known him for a tramp a 100 yards away; there was something in his drifting style of walk and the way he had of hunching his shoulders forward, essentially abject. You felt instinctively that he would sooner take a blow than give one.

"He had the regular character of a tramp—abject, envious, a jackal's character. Nevertheless, he was a good fellow, generous by nature, and capable of sharing his last crust with a friend.

"He was probably capable of work, if he had been well-fed for a few months. But two years of bread and margarine had lowered his standards hopelessly. He had lived on this filthy imitation of food till his own mind and body were compounded of inferior stuff. It was malnutrition and not any native vice that had destroyed his manhood."

Today's English tramps, the few who are left, haven't changed character much. They are still an envious, self-pitying lot. Maybe there are a few who fill the romantic image of a blissful vagrant who delights in the open road—tramps who love to watch the changing of the seasons, listening to the birds, watching the rabbits.

"I asked a London bobby what he felt about tramps. 'There's an awful lot of 'em but not a quarter what there was before the war,' said the bobby. (On Sept. 1, 1939, 7,220 vagrants slept in the "spikes," the name tramps use for the reception centres England maintains for them. In all of November, 1962, a busy month for vagrancy, only 1,500 slept in spikes.)

The bobby said there were all kinds of tramps, "good and bad, like anywhere," some ex-criminals, who had got too old for crime, many well-educated, some even had been teachers. "One claimed he's been to Eton, which was quite likely from his accent and vocabulary."

In the old days the spikes were spaced one day's walk apart (and you could only spend one night, so you had to move on). Now the country spikes are largely closed because the authorities disapprove.

The spikes are in towns and cities and they're too far apart for walking. Today tramps are forced to thumb a lift, a form of transport the old-timers despised.

"Nowadays," the bobby told me, "it's more that they're fed up with society. They want to break away from conformity; they just don't care; they sort of break up."

An expert has said the old tramp was a self-contained man who had learned the trade of vagrancy; the new ones are on the run from something and can't endure responsibility. They're social outcasts, misfits.

There's a canteen run for hobos, down by the river at Charing Cross, and the first thing I noticed there was the way the tramps kept very much to themselves, not even talking to each other.

The urban hobo, like the urban commuter, doesn't communicate with his cellmates. Most of them looked old, probably older than they were, and they didn't want to talk to me, harboring their resentments and their deep suspicions.

In winter the tramp sleeps in the spikes, but in summer he sleeps in bomb sites or on the Embankment on the Thames, or sometimes outside the Carlton Club on St. James' Street, where the hot air from the kitchen come up through the pavements.

It's unusual to find tramps sleeping on pavements in London, though it's common in Paris, where they like to sleep under bridges on the Seine.

Anatole France once wrote: "The law in its majestic impartiality gives the rich as well as the poor the right to sleep under bridges."

But even that may be taken from him. A bill was introduced in the French Assembly recently to put an end to the clochards. It was defeated, but still, the end is in sight.

SHEILAH GRAHAM

Dinah Pays For Failure

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Dinah Shore is worrying her friends. The break-up of her marriage is hard for her to take, apparently. She doesn't often make mistakes and she feels that her marriage to tennis player Maury Smith was a big one, from her point of view. When the break came they were in the middle of building a huge and handsome home in Palm Springs. And that is one reason she is going back to work—to pay for it.

★ ★ ★

A letter from Dirk Bogarde in England. He is making another movie, Hamp, with Jon Lassy, his winning combination director for The Servant. "In Hamp I co-star with Tom Courtney of Billy Liar fame. It's about the First World War, and we hope to release it on the 50th anniversary which is August this year."

★ ★ ★

While Eleanor Parker is in Salzburb playing a leading role in 20th's Sound of Music, Paul Clemens, her husband, from whom she is separated, is living in Newport taking care of their son and her three children by her previous marriage. Too bad about their breakup. They were introduced to each other many years ago by William Holden when Bill made a film with Eleanor. And just in passing, she didn't come off any too well in her last picture, Panic Button, which is now being released.

★ ★ ★

When you are geared to work, it is hard to relax on a vacation, and when Inger Stevens travels to her native Sweden in August, she will film a special TV show—something like Inger showing us Stockholm. Also some segments for her Farmer's Daughter show. Her crew and cast and hair-stylist Leslie Blanchard will accompany her.

★ ★ ★

E. G. Marshall is a ringer for Bob Hope, and James Whitmore looks a lot like Spencer Tracy. It is usually the kiss of death to resemble another star, but two have survived the look-alike . . . Robert Goulet, singing for his supper at the Town and Country in Brooklyn, is talking to Coward-McCann about his autobiography. Mrs. Goulet, Carol Lawrence, expecting their baby, is along for the ride. Before they leave New York they hope to sign up for a play for next year.

★ ★ ★

Alan Jay Lerner will be getting away from his marital troubles, he hopes, when he goes to London to stage Camelot, which Robert Helpmann is directing. They wish they could get Richard Burton to repeat the role he originated on Broadway in those long ago days when he was happily married to Sybil.

★ ★ ★

Ace director Tony Richardson will film the very French Colette story Cheri in England—with the very French Simone Signoret and the ditto Alain Delon, who has more pictures lined up than any other very French actor.

Queer Goings-On at a Happening

Women Lick Jam Off Wrecked Car

By HERBERT G. PELKEY

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Men gather at the city dump, where they build a tower and wait for a crowd. Women arrive and lick jam smeared on a wrecked automobile. Refreshed, they destroy the tower and proceed to rip off men's shirts. The men hurl flares. The women shed their blouses and wave them overhead.

Such antics are the ingredients of a "Happening" a new, avante garde, three-dimensional art form that combines symbolism with sculpture and elements of the theatre.

"It is a raw and brutal spectacle in a way" and "important both as a movement and historically," says Professor John L. Asuire of Cornell University.

"Happenings" are the creative brainchild of Allan Kaprow, 36, professor of fine arts at the New York State University College.

Kaprow says "Happenings" derive directly from recent innovations in paintings. But their remote sources may be found in parades, circus acts, sports and religious rituals.

"They are unique, however, in utilizing sites other than stages or arenas, in eliminating the spectator and rehearsals and in being enacted generally, only once," he says.

"The productions are the outgrowth of another Kaprow creation "Envirement," in which players are surrounded by sounds, lights and odors. He added voices and action, and "Happening" was born.

More than 20 Kaprow "Happenings" have been performed at art galleries, festivals and universities in the United States and abroad.

★ ★ ★

The sequence of events:

Men build a wooden tower on a trash mound. Poles topped with tar paper clusters are stuck around it. The women build nests of saplings strings. Around the nest, on a clothesline they hang old shirts. Cars arrive towing a smoking wreck.

Women enter next and screech. Men roll the smoking wreck into the dump and cover it with strawberry jam.

People's voices call "Hey! Hey! Hey!" Men go to women, put on skirts and squat down and watch them.

Women go to the car and lick the jam. Men destroy the nest (accompanied by shouts and cursing).

It ends when the women remove their blouses and wave them like handkerchiefs, leave the dump and drive away, with automobile horns blaring.

Alma Perry, an attractive 19-year-old blonde, said the experience was "absolutely wonderful!"

Michael Singer said:

The symbolism of "Household" is clear to Kaprow.

"A dump is a graveyard of human waste. Yet it also is a nest generating rats and fires. In time, everything turns to soil; grass, flowers and trees bloom there. A household with its attics and basements is much like a dump. Years are packed away in drawers, decaying memories are rubbed into old furniture, resentments smoulder among the house's occupants, now and then flaring into holocausts . . .

"In Household, towers and nests are built and destroyed, a car belonging to both men and women is eaten, beaten, consumer in fire (as was the phoenix); and everyone returns to other households."

TV TALK

By JIM TAYLOR

CBC has announced its nighttime schedule for the new season, and there are some interesting additions and deletions.

For instance, Parade, the 36-episode CBC variety series, and Playdate, the Canadian dramatic series, have both been cut. So has Horizon. Also gone will be the Garry Moore, Lucille Ball and Grindl shows.

The schedule, for the 7:30 to 11 p.m. period, divides programs about equally between CBC shows and those purchased from U.S. and British producers.

CBC has landed the Danny Kaye show, Jack Benny's NBC show, and three of the new U.S. entries, Mr. Broadway, The Rogues, and Slingray, a puppet show.

Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster will do four specials and narrate six filmed programs on Playdate's replacement, Show of the Week.

"Those are the nominees for President and now the winner. The envelope, PLEASE . . ."

Wednesday's Highlights

7:30 p.m.—World Town Meeting, via Telstar II, features Richard Nixon in New York; Senator J. William Fulbright in Washington; British labor party leader Harold Wilson in London, and Maurice Schumann, chairman of the French National Assembly's Foreign Affairs committee, in Paris—7.

10:00—Art Carney and Rod Serling visit Danny Kaye—7, 12.

10:30—Lively Arts tours Rideau Hall—2, 6.

Wednesday's Movies

9:00 a.m.—She Devil (1957 drama), Mari Blanchard—4.

1:00—I Love a Soldier (1944 drama), Paulette Goddard—6, 8.

3:30—Eight Iron Men (1952 drama), Lee Marvin—5.

5:30—Bring 'Em Back Alive (1932 documentary), Frank Buck—12.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Today's hand was a tale of two tens; to beat the contract, East had to figure out whether partner held the spade ten or the heart ten. The only chance to find a sure clue was at trick one.

North's two diamond bid was better than any other, since three no trump was unlikely to be there unless South held stops in both majors; in this case he would bid no trump over two diamonds, so he duly did. The final contract was ambitious, but declarer had the advantage of knowing where the opponents' strength was.

SOUTH

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♣ | Dbl. | 2 ♣ | Pass |
| 2 ♦ | Pass | 2 N.T. | Pass |
| 3 N.T. | All Pass | | |

Opening lead: Spade four

West's spade lead was sagely chosen. East was likely to have strength in the majors for his takeout double. After the hand, East criticized partner for not leading the spade eight, but West was right in leading small to give partner a count. On this bidding, West might lead spades with only two or three, and it could have been important to tell partner that he held four.

East was so thrilled with the spade opening that he put up the ace and returned the queen without stopping to think. Declarer attacked clubs and made his contract, losing two tricks in each of the black suits.

"I beat the hand if I shift to hearts at trick two, partner," said East. "But I thought you must have the spade ten when you led the four. How could I tell that you had the heart ten instead?"

There was no sure way for East to be sure that West had the heart ten, but he could be sure that West lacked the spade ten. East should have played the spade nine to trick one. On the bidding, West cannot possibly have the spade king, so the play cannot lose. If declarer wins with the spade ten, East knows his only chance to beat the hand is to switch to hearts as soon as he can.

Hotels Dispense With Live Acts

Manitoba

Winnipeg hotelmen have decided to abandon live entertainment in their beverage rooms during the summer. Up to now 36 of the 40-odd hotels with beverage rooms have been providing song and dance acts. Hotelmen say the costs are high, and the entertainers interfere with the customers' drinking.

* * *

A two-year expansion program for St. Boniface Hospital and the sanitorium attached, costing $6,500,000, has been approved by the Manitoba government. Plans include a 300-bed building for mentally and physically handicapped. Construction will begin next year.

* * *

A young lawyer was reprimanded in Winnipeg after eight court appearances in the case of a $2 parking ticket.

Saul Froomkin was given a parking ticket outside a police station Feb. 4 while he was in court acting in someone's defence.

Mr. Froomkin said he was arguing for free parking for all who appeared in Magistrate's court. He said lawyers and witnesses were unable to leave court to attend to parking meters.

Saskatchewan

A symbol-crest showing a human figure, a gear-wheel and farmland furrows has been chosen to represent Saskatchewan in celebrations of the province's 60th birthday in 1965 and Canada's centennial in 1967.

The crest, created by Regina artist A. W. Davey, is designed to represent the three elements which have gone into Saskatchewan's development—its people, industry and agriculture.

The Saskatchewan government has a surplus of $9,200,000 on its operations in the 1963-64 fiscal year ended March 31.

The government said in a semi-annual white paper released at the weekend that revenues in the year were $207,600,000 compared with $195,450,000 in 1962-63.

Expenditures were $197,700,000 compared with $185,500,000 in 1962-63.

Alberta

Mayor William Hawrelak of Edmonton, now on a 30-day tour to drum up new business for his own city and Alberta generally said in London he feels the time is ripe for European and British investors to take a "new look" at Alberta.

"We have received a wonderful reception everywhere we have gone in our attempt to generate and regenerate investment in Edmonton," the mayor told a press conference at Alberta House.

Increased oil research and growth has led to the provincial government approving $300,000 worth of road construction in the Swan Hills area, Gordon Taylor, minister of highways says. A nine-mile stretch of road will connect existing oil roads and give all-weather access between the communities of Swan Hills and Kinuso fifty miles away.

Alberta Industry Minister A. R. Patrick and member of Parliament for Cariboo Bert Leboe, are supporting an annual adventurer's tour, a re-enactment of Sir Alexander MacKenzie's search for a Pacific water-route on the Peace River. Mr. Patrick said the tour would catch the attention of the tourists to the Peace River country. The 1793 journey was re-enacted during the weekend by 50 boatmen from Taylor, B.C. 175 miles to Peace River.

The Olds town council has decided to resume drilling for water and appointed Joe Toth of the Alberta Research Council to supervise the drilling. The water-poor town of Olds, located 50 miles north of Calgary, had drilled five holes with only one well capable of a satisfactory flow. Council was told one more well would alleviate the shortage.

Witnesses Told

Materialism Threat

South Vancouver Island's spring circuit of Jehovah's Witnesses concluded Sunday night after being attended by between 13,000 and 14,000 people in S. J. Willis Junior High School.

Among the highlights of the convention were a two-hour color movie which featured a round-the-world series of assemblies, also a public talk delivered by Richard Arnett, circuit supervisor, who spoke on Facing Up To the Urgency of Our Times.

During the speech he said, "at no time in man's history have times been as urgent as they are now. This is due to various pressures that are brought to bear on each and every one of us."

He said there is the pressure of widespread immorality.

CRIME UP

"In the United States since 1950 crime has increased 69 per cent, four times as fast as the expanding population," he said.

"Another pressure is that of materialism, resulting in consuming desire to be rich which has become like a cancerous growth causing many to cheat, steal and even kill," he said.

MAKES APPEAL

He made an appeal for those "who desire life in God's new order" to seek righteousness and peace through the study of God's word, the Bible. He called for them to draw on the Bible for strength and to apply its counsel in their daily lives, maintaining Christian conduct and helping others to face up to the pressures of our urgent times.

Twenty-three new ministers were ordained in a baptism ceremony in which their dedication was symbolized by complete immersion in water.

Court Test For Bingo

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Supreme Court of B.C. is to be asked to rule on the right of Royal Canadian Legion branches to stage bingo games.

Magistrate Douglas Hume Monday granted the defence an adjournment to June 1 after refusing to quash the charges against a Vancouver legion branch and a branch officer in connection with a series of bingo games.

Dual-Purpose Visit

Island Schools Hear Actress

By KEN JOHNSON

If you see a sophisticated brunette around town who speaks with a faint French accent, it will more than likely be Helene de la Hitte-MacPherson, actress, former Victorian and viscountess.

She's here on a two-purpose visit. The wife of bandleader Fraser MacPherson, of Vancouver's Cave Supper Club, she is in Victoria to visit her parents, the Count and Countess R. V. de la Hitte, 158 Barkley.

But she's also here on a speaking tour of up-Island and lower Island schools.

A member of La Troupe Moliere, Mrs. de la Hitte-MacPherson brought with her some great news. Her company has been chosen to take part in the Vancouver International Festival July 4 and 5.

FIRST HONORED

Born in France, Mrs. de la Hitte-MacPherson has been in the theatrical world since the age of four. After her parents came to Victoria in 1946 she began to play with Victoria Little Theatre when she was 11.

For three years she was filming in Hollywood, then, in 1959, when she was married in Vancouver, she decided to give up professional acting.

JOINED TROUPE

But her love for the theatre prevailed and soon she joined La Troupe Moliere, which was formed in 1946 and specializes in plays in French.

The troupe visited Victoria last month.

Now she will spend the next couple of weeks talking to schoolchildren about Moliere, the festival, and the Vancouver Metro Theatre, where the troupe plays.

"If there are any schools in Victoria which would like me to visit them, I'd be glad to," says Mrs. de la Hitte-MacPherson. She can be reached at EV 2-5276.

Two-Fold Celebration

Dominion Drama Festival At Playhouse Here in '66

The 1966 Domion Drama Festival, to be held at Victoria's McPherson Playhouse, will play a two-fold part in provincial and national celebrations.

The week-long festival will mark the aniversary of the union of Vancouver Island and the colonies of B.C. in 1866, and will also coincide with precelebration of Canada's centenary.

INVITATIONS ACCEPTED

Invitations were accepted last week by the festival committee for Dominion Drama Festivals in Brockville, Ontario, next year; Victoria in 1966; St. John's, Newfoundland, in 1967, and Regina in 1968.

He said yesterday the festival, which will be held about the third week of May, will be a committee-organized community-wide affair, helped by the B.C. centennial committee.

"This will be an outstanding event," said Mr. Wallace, "and will try to be self-supporting. There will be admission charges for performances, and representations of the best plays from across Canada."

Conservatory Exams In June

Examinations in music and speech arts by Royal Toronto Conservatory examiners take place in Victoria starting next Monday.

From June 1 to 13 Lawrence Goodwill judges the efforts of aspiring pianists. Holder of a Bachelor of Music degree from Toronto University, Mr. Goodwill has studied composition under Darius Milhaud and has numerous concerts and recitals, both live and on the CBC, to his credit.

INSTRUMENTAL

Violinists and other instrumentalists appear before John Moskalyk who has played with such well-known orchestras as the Toronto and CBC symphonies. These examinations will be held June 13 to 16.

Mrs. Florence Aymong of the Conservatory Arts and Drama Department conducts tests in speech arts on June 17 and, on June 20, singers will be heard by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, a leading teacher and former performer who studied in London.

Italian Movie

By IAN STREET

The Conjugal Bed, now showing at the Fox Cinema, is subtitled "A Story of the Queen Bee."

The analogy, at times, wears a bit thin, but there are lots of belly laughs in this Italian movie.

A Roman woman of good standing repels all advances by her 40ish fiance before the wedding. There is the brief rapture of the honeymoon and then the husband begins finding excuses to stay away from his bride.

BEST ACTRESS

As the wife, Marina Vlady won the best actress award at Cannes in 1963. She pursues her hapless husband to the office, where he is pretending to work late, and when he flees to the country, she follows.

Then when she is pregnant the husband is shunned. His job is finished and he lingers a while before falling victim to a heart attack.

LACKS BITE

This film has been called Marriage Italian Style but, I think, lacks the wit and bite of Divorce Italian Style.

Huge Blast Scheduled

OTTAWA (CP) — A 500-ton blast of TNT will be detonated July 16 at the Defence Research Board's Suffield experimental station in southeastern Alberta, it was announced Tuesday.

It will dwarf a 100-ton detonation at the same station in 1961 which was described then as one of the world's biggest non-nuclear blasts.

The ground-level explosion will be observed by scientific teams from Canada, the U.S. and Britain.

Copters Known By Nicknames

OTTAWA (CP)—Two types of helicopters used by the army and air force henceforth will be known by the nicknames Voyageur and the Nomad, the defence department announced. The Voyageur is the CH-113A medium transport helicopter to be used by the army at Rivers, Man. The Nomad is the CH-112 light reconnaisance helicopter now used at Rivers and in West Germany.

B.C. Fishermen Going to Ottawa

President H. A. Stevens of the United Fishermen's and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) said the union wants to discuss such matters as the North Pacific fisheries treaty, the Canadian 12-mile fishing limit, and limitation of commercial fishing licences.

Miss Sidney Title Goal of 11 Girls

Eleven beauties are competing in the 1964 Miss Sidney contest which will be decided at Sanscha Hall, Sidney, at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Linda Douma, who held the dual titles of Miss Sidney and Miss PNE from last year's contests, will present a bouquet to the new queen, who will be officially crowned during Sidney Day festivities on July 1.

But Ouimet Says No

Non-Commercial Basis Suggested for CBC

OTTAWA (CP)—The publicly owned CBC should be operated on a non-commercial basis, leaving advertising revenue to private stations, says Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors.

Dr. Stewart made his suggestion in a report prepared for the government and tabled in the Commons Tuesday by State Secretary Lamontagne.

However, CBC President Alphonse Ouimet, in a similar report for the government, commented "a retreat from advertising dollars by the CBC on the grounds that it would help the over-all private sector would not be warranted."

The BBG head said that in his opinion all the public funds made available by Parliament for direct support of broadcasting should be applied to the CBC.

He added: "... In principle, the public service should be operated on a non-commercial basis, leaving the market for advertising revenue as the means to support the private service."

IWA Leader Charges

Information Withheld

Special to the Colonist

Leaders of four big IWA locals were accused yesterday by regional president Jack Moore of withholding vital information from members in the coast lumber contract dispute.

* * *

Meanwhile, in Victoria, the seven-member IWA executive voted to support the union policy committee's decision to accept the recent settlement formula.

But because several of the seven officers opposed the formula, the executive decided to make no recommendation to the membership.

Mr. Moore said members of locals in Vancouver, Duncan, Port Alberni and Courtenay have not received a bulletin issued by the policy committee.

It outlined the settlement proposals and the committee's reason for recommending acceptance.

* * *

The union has 26,000 members in eight coast locals and the four locals named by Mr. Moore have more than 15,000 members. Their leaders have recommended rejection of the proposals.

Mr. Moore said he will use advertisements in newspapers, radio and television to inform members of reasons for the policy committee decision.

It was learned the Victoria local, which will vote on the settlement formula Friday, distributed the bulletin.

The Victoria local decided Sunday not to take a stand for or against the formula, and also voted to keep its decision secret. But a Colonist story from Duncan Monday disclosed the Victoria decision, so the executive met yesterday to clarify matters.

The decision against a recommendation was the result.

Centennial Square

Report on Planning Facing Council Soon

A comprehensive planning report on new development in the vicinity of Centennial Square will be brought before city council at a special meeting in about two weeks.

City manager Dennis Young has ordered preparation of separate reports dealing with the area as a whole and with a specific application for permission to erect a 25-storey apartment at Blanshard and Pandora.

He told the zoning committee yesterday that many inquiries have been received at city hall from developers who want to put in new enterprises and new buildings adjoining the $2,000,000 civic centre.

Detailed consideration should be given to all such applications before any decision is made, said Mr. Young.

He added: "Twenty-five storeys is a tremendous height and if such a building is not properly planned and set-back it may dominate Centennial Square and all that we are trying to do there."

The committee agreed that the study outlined by the manager was necessary but at this stage decided that it should, approve the apartment application in principle.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said the provision of apartments in the downtown area was highly desirable.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of Centennial Square planning, said it was gratifying to learn that the civic project was stirring the interest of private investors.

City council at its meeting Thursday will honor those responsible for planting of 2,000 trees in Beacon Hill Park some 75 years ago.

The 35 varieties of trees still form the nucleus of the park's attraction for residents and visitors alike, said city parks administrator W. H. Warren.

The group — spearheaded by John Heywood and John Blair — included Lady Douglas, Robert Dunsmuir, R. P. Rithet, Thomas Earle, J. H. Turner, J. D. Pemberton, W. P. Sayward and W. Macaulay.

Parks committee also recommended that the erection of cairns commemorating presentation of colors and a pennant to the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) and King's Own Calgary Regiment be permitted alongside the Royal Parade Square in Beacon Hill Park.

Old Grave Found Dry But Friends Lace New

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — There was not a trace of whisky when they opened pioneer Alexander Zan Hicklin's grave in Greenhorn Valley Tuesday.

It had been an oft-repeated story in these parts that one of Hicklin's final requests was to be buried with several bottles of whisky.

Either his widow vetoed the dying request 90 years ago or vandals made off with the spirits and covered the grave again.

But when Hicklin's remains were buried in a new cemetery in Colorado City, the state's newest community, a quarter bottle of whisky was buried with them.

Descendants of friends of the pioneer rancher saw to that.

Spread of Strike Worries Peterson

Special to the Colonist

Labor Minister Peterson said last night he "would register strong disapproval" if the Alberni office workers' strike spread to Nanaimo and Powell River.

He spoke after announcing receipt of a telegram from the Office Employees International Union Local 15 rejecting his proposal for binding arbitration of the eight-day-old strike.

PICKET LINES

Unofficial reports late last week said the union, whose picket lines at MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River plants in the Alberni Valley have idled 2,900 men, was considering picket lines at Mac-Powell plants in Nanaimo and Powell River.

Mr. Peterson did not say if his department would take any action should these extra lines be set up.

"DIFFICULT"

He said the strike is "a difficult one" to solve but he, his deputy William Sands and other department officials would continue to hold separate meetings with the two sides.

"No joint meetings will be called unless there is a prospect of success," he said.

"NOT ENOUGH"

Mr. Peterson said a six-hour joint meeting in his office Monday narrowed the gap on wages and union security, the main issues, "a little . . . but not enough."

William Lowe, international vice-president of the striking union, announced the arbitration proposal had been rejected unanimously by the 60 strikers and added:

"We regret this action was necessary."

Mac-Powell officials issued a statement following the union's announcement but did not give its views on arbitration.

The statement said in part: "The company had hoped it might have been possible to settle the majority of the outstanding issues by negotiating and the remaining items might be submitted to binding arbitration."

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Federation of Labor secretary Pat O'Neal said last night he would give a new Alberni strike-settlement plan to deputy labor minister Bill Sands today. He gave no details.

VMD Bid 'High' For Ferry

A $3,894,264 tender for a new Swartz-Bay Tsawwassen ferry prompted Premier Bennett to remark Tuesday that costs of operating the B.C. Ferry Authority are climbing faster than traffic volume.

The tender from Victoria Machinery Depot — only one submitted — compares with a total bid of $7,000,000 for two sister ships VMD is now building, the Queens of Nanaimo and New Westminster.

Opening the tender in his office, the premier termed the bid "very high."

UP 10 PER CENT

VMD President Harold Husband agreed it was up about 10 per cent from the earlier bids but blamed a combination of increased costs and the fact one ship instead of two was being built.

Mr. Bennett expressed disappointment that only one of the coast's three shipyards had submitted a tender.

"DON'T LIKE PRICES"

"It looks as if the shipbuilding industry has a lot of business these days," he said.

"We like to see the yards busy but we don't like the high prices."

"Do you consider it as close and tight as your last bid, keeping in mind your costs?" the premier asked Mr. Husband.

TO FILL SLOT

"Yes," the VMD president replied. "We want the job and we need it to fill in the slot before we start work on the Prince Rupert ferry."

Saanich Silent on Promotions

Saanich police commission announced last night the appointment of three new sergeants and a detective sergeant —but withheld the names of those who will be promoted.

Commission chairman Reeve Stanley Murphy said the men must be interviewed by Chief W. A. Pearson. The promotions from within the force were based on performance, ability and seniority. They go into effect on a six-month probationary basis and the officers must take medical exams.

Hellyer:

Single Chief Vital

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's integration of defence headquarters under a single chief of staff is absolutely essential if savings are to be achieved, Defence Minister Hellyer said Tuesday.

Outlining his plan to the Commons defence committee, Mr. Hellyer said the number of generals, lieutenant-generals and major-generals is being reduced to 12 from 17, and similar savings can be achieved as integration of the armed forces on functional lines proceeds.

"We feel this will operate satisfactorily and efficiently, and that we will be able to keep our forces at a high state of readiness, and keep up the support which is absolutely essential."

CHIEFS OF STAFF

Under existing defence headquarters organization, the minister is advised on military matters by the chairman of a chiefs of staff committee and by the chiefs of the navy, army and air force. The chairman of the Defence Research Board and the deputy minister of national defence also have direct lines to the ministry.

Under the new setup, the chairman of the chiefs of staff and the three services' chiefs will be replaced by a single chief of defence staff.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) questioned Mr. Hellyer about the source of his new organization plan, and the real purpose to be achieved.

TO SAVE MONEY

Mr. Hellyer said it was to streamline the forces and use the money saved on new equipment purchases. The purpose, he said, was "to get the maximum amount of force in a high state of readiness for the least amount of money."

Mr. Lambert said it involved a fundamental reorganization of the armed forces which Parliament was being asked to approve "on his own word and the word of the government."

Grand Unfurling: Today's the Day

Which

Will It Be?

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's proposed maple leaf flag will be shown to Parliament for the first time today.

Prime Minister Pearson told Commons Tuesday that a resolution describing the new Canadian flag design would be published in today's votes and proceedings, a Commons document usually issued in mid-morning.

He also indicated that a pictorial representation of the flag would be distributed to MPs, by Thursday at the latest.

DEFINITELY READY

A spokesman for Mr. Pearson said Tuesday night that the pictorial representation would definitely be ready for today.

It was learned that the colored design would be disclosed publicly at 6:30 a.m. PDT in a committee room of the Parliament Buildings.

DEBATE SOON

Earlier, the spokesman said officials were waiting to see how the color reproduction turned out at the printers' plant before deciding when to reveal it.

Mr. Pearson said debate on the flag resolution would be started "in a matter of days." He wanted MPs to have ample opportunity to study the resolution and design first.

STRONG FEELINGS

On the eve of the new flag's parliamentary introduction, it still was not certain how the thorny issue would be handed to the MPs, most of whom have strong, and often divided, feelings on the matter.

Some Conservatives still speak privately in favor of a filibuster, confident they can rally enough support in the country to support their stand. But most Quebec Conservatives are anxious to see the proposed flag adopted without undue delay. So far there has been no indication of the party itself taking any stand.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

The Creditiste group has already pledged support to the government and a majority of New Democrats and Social Credit members have indicated they will support the maple leaf flag.

The design of the new flag still remained an official secret Tuesday—five days after the

Red Ensign Favorite On Ballots

First-day results of a national newspaper poll on choice of an official flag for Canada indicate more Canadians rallying around the Red Ensign than around a distinctive new flag.

Of 1,448 ballots received by the Toronto Telegram, 1,150 readers voted for the Red Ensign, while only 298 supported a distinctive flag, making the Ensign four-to-one favorite.

'Cannibalistic'

Russian Raps Barry's Proposal

(From AP, UPI)

Soviet United Nations delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko Tuesday accused U.S. Senator Barry Goldwater of urging on the U.S. a "cannibalistic policy" of atomic warfare in South Viet Nam—and suggested that Goldwater be placed in a strait-jacket.

In other developments involving Southeast Asia:

● UN Secretary-General U Thant said in Ottawa he doubts the competence of the UN to undertake any task at present in Southeast Asia.

● U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon, South Viet Nam, said Communist Viet Cong guerrillas stepped up activities near that capital, wiping out a platoon of Vietnamese soldiers within 40 miles of the city.

● Reports from Vientiane said right-wing Laotian forces and pro-communist Pathet Lao troops were manoeuvering in evident preparation for a battle for a strategic point on the Mekong River across from Thailand.

● In Cambodia, Prince Sihanouk said he was ready to welcome UN inquiry teams and eventually UN troops to police his country's tense border with South Viet Nam.

Neither the Nahodka of Russia nor the Fontenay of France was seriously damaged. Some minor stern damage was reported by the Soviet vessel.

Rare Type Of Blood Sought

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Red Cross Society is looking for two bottles of rare blood needed for the birth of an Oshawa baby June 1. The birth will be a caesarian section.

HALIFAX AREA

The Red Cross said the most convenient location for donors of this blood type is in the Halifax area. There are also some persons in the Alberta foothills, about 150 miles northeast of Edmonton, who have the same blood type.

The Red Cross said Halifax authorities have been notified but if two donors are not found in time to meet the emergency, a search will be made among those known to have the rare blood type in Alberta.

Planes Seek Missing Pair

WINNIPEG (CP) — An RCAF spokesman said a "full-scale" search will start early this morning for two Winnipeg men and a small plane, missing since they left Saturday morning for a fishing trip.

Aboard the plane, headed for a remote area on the border of Manitoba and northwestern Ontario, were the pilot Ivan Casselman, 49, and Malcolm Blake, 43.

Charge Dropped

100-Day Prisoner Deported

TORONTO (CP) — After languishing 100 days in Don Jail, a 27-year-old Buffalo, N.Y., man was given a swift plane passage back to the United States Tuesday.

The end came almost as an anti-climax for Eric Claude Hooper when immigration officials Tuesday dropped a charge they had laid 94 days after he was first imprisoned, and ordered him deported.

Hooper, who has been deported three times since 1962 when he was convicted on a narcotics charge and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, was taken to the plane by RCMP.

NO ACQUITTAL

A few hours earlier, defence lawyer Allan Mintz had insisted in court that the charge under the Immigration Act of refusing to answer questions be proceeded with so he could win Hooper an acquittal, but Magistrate S. T. Bigelow permitted the charge to be withdrawn.

Hooper had been remanded Monday to June 12 on the charge on personal bail, but was nabbed on a deportation order by RCMP officers.

Hooper said in an interview he had refused to answer any questions until he obtained legal counsel, and an immigration officer had told him:

Canadian fires Browning at Turks

By DON GAIN
Colonist Military Reporter

NICOSIA — In the dry hills below St. Hilarion Castle yesterday morning I watched the second engagement of the Canadian contingent since their arrival in Cyprus.

It was probably one of the most serious incidents so far in the two months since the Canadian troops arrived on the troubled Mediterranean island.

It was directed by Major Patrick Tremblay, officer commanding Charlie Company, Royal 22nd Regiment, and squadron leader at Royal Roads from 1952 to 1955.

SIX RIFLE SHOTS

I counted six rifle shots from a Turkish Cypriot mud embankment half a mile up the hill from me. They were answered by two bursts of machine gun fire from fervet troops of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. There were no casualties.

Later, in the Kyrenia Pass, 10 miles north of Nicosia, Greek Cypriots fired on United Nations television and radio officer Antonello Maresalchi and Capt. Jean Lajeunesse.

PINNED DOWN

The two men were pinned behind their UN civilian vehicle by savage fire. While the bullets peppered the car as they lay behind it, they recorded a tape describing the scene, punctuated by the sound of fire.

Neither man was hurt. While they recorded the scene, four Canadians of the Royal 22nd regiment drove off under fire to reach Greek Cypriots and stop the shooting.

CYPRIOTS APOLOGIZE

The Cypriots quickly apologized and a Cypriot government press release blamed the incident on "mistaken identity."

Maresalchi later told reporters: "We were flying UN flags."

SKIRMISHES

I left for Cyprus last week and walked right into the middle of this outburst of skirmishes between UN peace force patrols and Greek and Turkish Cypriot fighters.

A UN spokesman has accused the Cypriots of deliberately firing on the patrols in the Kyrenia Mountains when "there was no possibility the firing was accidental and due to mistaken identity."

A special military service was held yesterday for Finnish UN soldier Juhani Matikainen, who was shot and killed by

Makarios Seeking Red Arms?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States administration is reported to be concerned over the likely delivery of Soviet heavy armament to the government of President Makarios of Cyprus.

NEGOTIATING?

This was acknowledged Tuesday by administration informants, who were asked to comment on reports from diplomatic sources that the Makarios government is negotiating with Moscow for the delivery of fighter planes, armed vehicles, artillery pieces, anti-aircraft guns, and small naval craft.

The negotiations are understood to have been initiated in Nicosia through the Soviet embassy in the Cypriot capital. The embassy is reported to have told Makarios the Soviet Union is willing to supply him with weapons.

VIOLATION

Such a deal would be a violation of a resolution approved unanimously by the UN Security Council March 4, administration sources said. The resolution, which the Soviet Union supported, called upon members of the world organization ". . . to refrain from any action or threat of action likely to worsen the situation" in Cyprus.

Chicken Settles Tug Suit

First Chop, Then Cheque

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—Two Chinese businessmen settled a suit out of court and in a Buddhist temple Tuesday by cutting off the head of a white cockerel with an axe.

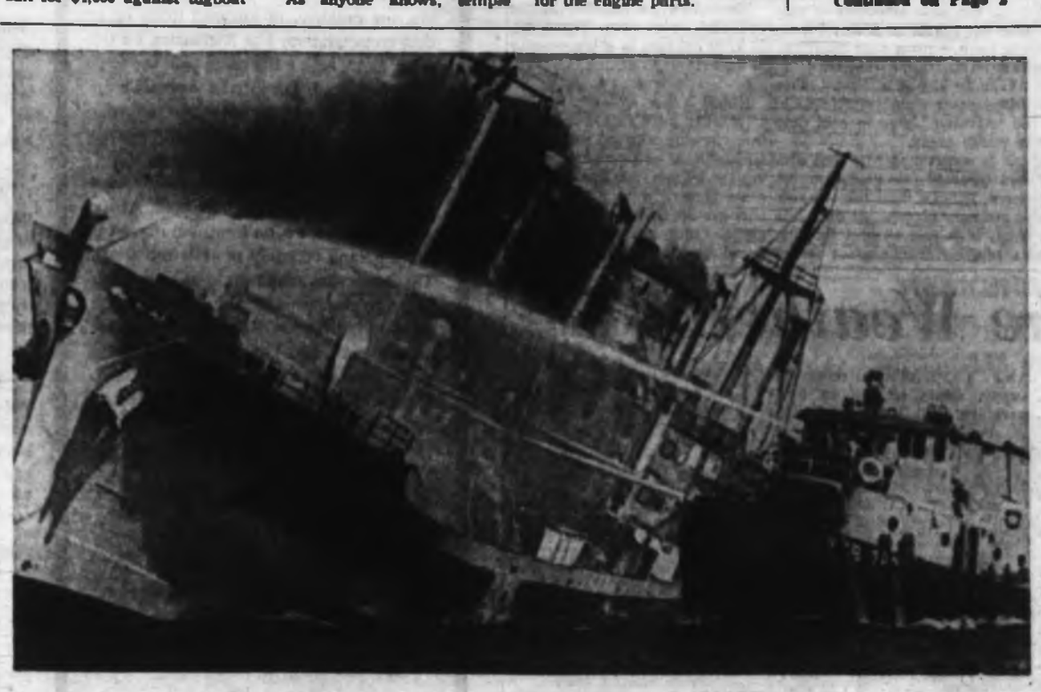

Marine engine salesman Lai Teck Leong had brought the suit for $4,000 against tugboat company owner Chia Gek Khoon for payment for spare parts.

Chia said the salesman had guaranteed the parts would last for seven years, but they only lasted for one. Lai denied he had given a seven-year guarantee, and went to the temple to prove his point.

As anyone knows, temple authorities said, it is bad luck to kill a chicken in the temple if you are lying.

As Chia and 100 spectators looked on, Lai, to the roll of drums, severed the cockerel's head.

Mets Clobber Chicago, 19-1

NEW YORK 4 3 0 0 2 0 4 0 6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick Farrell, Houston right-hander, became the winningest pitcher in the major leagues Tuesday and the lowly New York Mets went on a rare offensive spree in a red-letter date for the National League's expansion clubs.

Farrell won his seventh of eight decisions, cooling off Milwaukee Braves on four hits and striking out 11 in the Colts' 4-2 victory. The Mets established club records for runs and hits by burying Chicago Cubs 19-1 under a 23-hit attack.

Jim Pagliaroni's grand slam homer paced Pittsburgh to a 13-4 rout of Philadelphia and Cincinnati tripped Los Angeles 6-2 in other NL games. The San Francisco-St. Louis contest was rained out.

Wally Bunker, Baltimore's rookie pitching sensation, picked up his fifth straight victory with help from Stu Miller as the Orioles edged Detroit 2-1 in one of three American League cliff-hangers.

New York Yankees nipped Cleveland 3-2 on Bobby Richardson's bases - loaded single in the ninth and Boston shaded Washinton by the same score on Ed Bressoud's ninth-inning hit. Chicago and Kansas City were rained out.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

HERE WE GO AGAIN: One of the brightest feathers in the head-dress of accomplishment so proudly sported by Premier Bennett and his government is the one which represents the B.C. Ferries. Instituted as a needed service, the project, rather unexpectedly one has to believe, became a huge financial success. This was because, obviously, the service was so badly needed but, somewhat ironically as well as somewhat exasperatingly, service has become somewhat secondary on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run which has proven so profitable.

As much as it has done for the economy in these parts the service will not be complete, or completely satisfactory, until it provides later sailings from both terminals to enable Island and Lower Mainland residents to avoid expensive, in both time and money, overnight stays necessary when business or pleasure visits cannot be satisfactorily completed by 8 p.m., when, if we wish to get home before a new day dawns, we have to head for the terminal.

Another case in point is the upcoming international soccer match at Vancouver's Empire Stadium on June 6 between Liverpool, England's first-division champions, and Meidericher, West Germany's second-best league side. Because of the cost of providing such an attraction the match has been scheduled at night for maximum attendance. And because there is no late ferry service, hundreds of Vancouver Islanders have the choice of either passing up something they want badly to see or paying more for it than they can rightly afford.

Interest is extremely high, and has been ever since Liverpool clinched the Division I championships. Quite a number of fans have called to find out if it was going to be possible to make the trip in one day and Hans Demseger, manager of Victoria Kickers, says that he would have at least four busloads of fans if someone in authority would just relent and permit a late sailing.

Without it, the match will be denied to most. A late sailing would enable fans to make the trip for approximately $10, and between 5 p.m. and midnight. The way it is, one has the choice of paying $25 or more along with the added inconvenience of overnight stay or of staying home.

One understands that there are some problems to overcome in providing later sailings but, surely, a start has to be made some time if there is any intention to provide a wanted service. And to give this taxpayer-owned business an image other than that of a corporation all too intent on gaining a maximum of profit from a minimum of service. A good time to start would be June 6.

It might be argued that giving the chance to take in a sports event, no matter its magnitude or significance, or even the number of taxpayers to whom it appeals, is something too minor to be considered in the operation of such a vast enterprise as B.C. Ferries has become. But there is more to it than that. It's not one event, but dozens, being denied to Islanders who cannot afford the time or money to stay over night—and that's most of us. More to the point, it's a B.C. ferry system risked with B.C. tax money and made profitable by British Columbians paying tolls no better than reasonable. Most of us, I'm certain, would accept a little less profit and a bit more service.

COME OFF IT: Hilarious is about the only word to describe the current flare-up between hockey and lacrosse for designation as Canada's national game.

Jack Roxburgh, a Liberal member of parliament and a former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, gleefully claims there is no substance to the long-held belief that lacrosse was designated as our national game by an act of parliament. Just as gleefully, he says he is about to introduce a bill which will officially give that distinction to hockey.

It has made the flag issue of minor import. In Ontario, Ed Blair, president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and James Naish, president of the OLA, got together to issue a joint communique. In New Westminster, Harry McKnight, president of the Inter-City Lacrosse League club there, and aspiring to higher rank, rallied the forces on the west flank (there is no centre).

"We're going to fight," McKnight grandly proclaimed, "and if we have to introduce a bill of our own we'll do that, too."

Harry isn't fooling. He's reportedly alerted NDP leader Tommy Douglas that a new cause is his for the taking and briefed Barry Mather, the New Westminster MP, about this foul political machination. To prove that this could well be an issue that could topple governments, fans in ICLL arenas will be asked to sign petitions of protest. They'll be forwarded to Prime Minister Pearson, who, presumably, will suddenly discover that the FLQ is, after all, only a minor problem in his life of travail.

One can hardly blame lacrosse for its discomfiture at the prospect of losing its cherished "officially national" designation. It matters not that its only claim is that it was played here by the Indians, who seem to have been sort of forgotten as being the bona fide Canadians, before the white man took over. In a country in which baseball, rugby, football, badminton, tennis, soccer, hockey, golf, softball, bowling and curling are played from coast to coast by far more people than play lacrosse, this is something not to be given up without a fight.

Hilarious is right. Lacrosse today is about as national in Canada as pickled eels, and no amount of law-making is going to change that fact. No act of parliament could do for the game what a particularly aimless group of officials isn't doing and, surely, no one can expect legislators in a country which after 97 years of nationhood has finally come to grips with the question of a national flag to pay much attention to a squabble over a national game.

Shamrocks Protest 9-8 Loss Argument Continues Tonight

Error Makes It Easy

Routine relay is dropped by Dodger catcher John Roseboro in eighth inning at Cincinnati as Reds' catcher John Edwards swings around him to score smiling. Dodgers protested Edwards left basepath, but run counted and Reds won, 6-2.—(AP Photofax)

VANCOUVER — Victoria Shamrocks, their tempers snapping along with their four-game unbeaten streak, lost, 9-8, to Vancouver here last night, and at the rate they were going they'll still be snarling when the clubs meet again tonight in Victoria.

Shamrocks have officially protested the loss, which lifted Vancouver into first place in the Inter - City Lacrosse League. Point of contention is a goal scored by Shamrocks' Reg Foster with four minutes left in the game.

It would have tied the score, but while referee Whitey Severson signalled a goal, referee Ralph Plumridge indicated that Foster had scored with his foot in the crease, so the goal was disallowed.

"How could he have been in the crease?" a Shamrock official said. "Two Vancouver players were in front of him, and the whole Vancouver team thought it was a good goal."

Shamrocks contend that either Foster scored, or he should have been given a penalty for playing the ball in the crease. No penalty was called.

ONLY ONE MISSED

It was about the only penalty the Rocks missed. They drew 61 minutes, including three 10 - minute misconducts, while Vancouver was assessed only 15 minutes.

Barry Ashbee, who scored twice, drew two of the misconducts and three minors, and Jim McNeill got the other misconduct in a post-game argument when Shamrocks stayed on the floor to argue with the officials.

BRUISES FOOT

Shamrocks were ahead for almost three-quarters of the game, although they lost starry Tom Collett early with a bruised foot.

They led, 3-1, at the end of the first quarter and 5-3 at the half, but the well-balanced Vancouver club came on to tie it at 7-7 going into the final period.

SHUT OUT

Sid Warick was held without a goal for the first time this season but drew three assists to tie New Westminster's Jack Blonda for fist place in the scoring list. Both have 32 points, followed by Gimple with 30.

Juniors Handle Legion

Junior Shamrocks, who must win half of their 12 games to qualify for playoffs in the Inter-City Junior Lacrosse League, whipped South Vancouver Legion, 19-8, to square their record at 2-2.

Al McLean and John Allen each scored four goals for Shamrocks, who led, 12-2, at the half. Charlie Granewell, Ranjit and Nirmal Dillon and Don Munro scored twice, the other goals going to Tom Black, Rod Kilduff and Rod Nesbitt.

Sigmund, Hornby, McDonald, Ciccone, Dawson, Jensen, Treloar and Robinson got the Vancouver goals.

National League Umpires Threatening Strike Action

CHICAGO (AP) — The National League Umpires Association served an ultimatum Tuesday that if the baseball umpires do not receive a pension increase by July 3 the group may be forced to go on strike.

The announcement was made by attorney John J. Reynolds of Chicago, who represents the organization. The association comprises 20 umpires.

Eighteen of the umpires met with Reynolds in Chicago Monday and drafted a letter which was sent to Warren Giles, president of the National League, and to each of the clubs.

It read in part that "it is the position of the association that we have been courteous, patient and reasonable in attempting to negotiate an increase to the plan but have not been given an opportunity to negotiate on the increases."

"Therefore, we wish to advise that in the event we do not obtain the consent of the National League of professional baseball clubs to the increase by 3 p.m. July 3, 1964, we will have no alternative but to take appropriate action."

RETIRE AT 55

Under the existing pension plan, which has been in effect since 1955, an umpire, when retiring at the age of 55, receives $200 a year for each year of service. This meant that an umpire serving 10 years would receive a pension of $2,000 a year.

The group now seeks a minimum of $300 a year for each year of active service.

Two weeks ago Reynolds said he received a letter from Giles in which the league recommended to increase the plan to $250 a year a man retroactive to last Jan. 1. The umpires, however, rejected it.

The American League has no umpire association. Its pension plan provided for $150 a year a man until this spring when it was boosted to $250.

Ike Wows 'Em With Long Putt

"It's up to the general," the four - time Masters champion said.

'LET'S GO'

The former president, tanned and fit for his 73 years, turned to an aide who said: "I think it would be better if we leave, general."

"Ah, let's go on and play it out," Eisenhower said. Then he proceeded to the 17th hole where he ran in a 40-foot putt over two rolls for a birdie deuce.

LIMITED CROWD

The limited crowd of 700—200 patrons who paid $100 and $500 who forked over $50 each for the Heart Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania — became delirious.

"You're great, Ike," some yelled. The five - star general had even captured Arnie's army.

KEY SHOTS

The fabulous putt on the 17th was just one of a half-dozen key shots turned in by the spry former president whose golf up to now has been a classified secret.

He never missed a fairway, and he chipped and putted brilliantly as the partner of Palmer, whose booming drives, although often wild, kept the team in the vicinity of par.

Fireball 'Critical'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)— Glenn (Fireball) Roberts remained in critical condition Tuesday with severe burns suffered when he was trapped in the blazing wreckage of his race car Sunday.

Memorial Hospital officials said the 34-year-old veteran circuit driver was conscious but still in critical condition.

Halloooo There!

Fog Fouls Trials

GOSPORT, Eng. (UPI) — The second series of trials to determine a British challenger for this year's America's Cup races opened yesterday amid incredible confusion.

When the Sovereign and Kurrewa sailed out of Gosport Harbor they ran into fog and fickle northeast winds.

The Royal Thames Yacht Club committee boat decided to move the starting marker and disappeared into the mist. The yachts finally found the marker, four miles from its announced destination. It turned out it had not been anchored.

The start of the race was delayed for another hour by lack of wind. When the trial finally got underway, the Sovereign lost sight of the weather mark and its navigator wheeled off in the opposite direction from the Kurrewa.

Moseley threw a four-hitter as Greaves beat McLarens, 4-1, in the Senior Amateur Baseball League. He struck out 11 in the seven-inning game, and finished with a real flourish.

Mike Hodge and Gerry MacAdams started the seventh with successive singles off Moseley, putting the potential tying run at the plate. But Moseley reared back and set Bob Lumley, Joe Patterson and Larry Johnston down on strikes to end the game.

Island Locals in Dark—IWA Leader

'Vital Information Withheld'

Special to the Colonist

Leaders of four big IWA locals were accused yesterday by regional president Jack Moore of withholding vital information from members in the coast lumber contract dispute.

Meanwhile, in Victoria, the seven-member IWA executive voted to support the union policy committee's decision to accept the recent settlement formula.

But because several of the seven officers opposed the formula, the executive decided to make no recommendation to the membership.

Mr. Moore said members of locals in Vancouver, Duncan, Port Alberni and Courtenay have not received a bulletin issued by the policy committee.

The union has 26,000 members in eight coast locals and the four locals named by Mr. Moore have more than 15,000 members. Their leaders have recommended rejection of the proposals.

Mr. Moore said he will use advertisements in newspapers, radio and television to inform members of reasons for the policy committee decision.

It was learned the Victoria local, which will vote on the settlement formula Friday, distributed the bulletin.

The Victoria local decided Sunday not to take a stand for or against the formula, and also voted to keep its decision secret. But a Colonist story from Duncan Monday disclosed the Victoria decision, so the executive met yesterday to clarify matters.

Port Alberni Votes Yes So Does Departure Bay

A $175,000 recreation bylaw passed by 63.2 per cent in Port Alberni, 701 to 408. The turnout was about 25 per cent of the total of 4,596 eligible voters. Most of the money, $90,000, will go into the hockey rink.

The biggest turnout of Departure Bay voters in years, more than 70 per cent of the 1,025 eligible, approved a $155,000 sewer system by 68 per cent. Approximate vote was 490 to 230.

Peterson Strongly Opposed

Strike Spread Threat Brings New Warning

Special to the Colonist

Labor Minister Peterson said last night he "would register strong disapproval" if the Alberni office workers' strike spread to Nanaimo and Powell River.

He spoke after announcing receipt of a telegram from the Office Employees International Union Local 15 rejecting his proposal for binding arbitration of the eight-day-old strike.

PICKET LINES

Unofficial reports late last week said the union, whose picket lines at MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River plants in the Alberni Valley have idled 2,900 men, was considering picket lines at Mac-Powell plants in Nanaimo and Powell River.

Mr. Peterson did not say if his department would take any action should these extra lines be set up.

"DIFFICULT"

He said the strike is "a difficult one" to solve but he, his deputy William Sands and other department officials would continue to hold separate meetings with the two sides.

"No joint meetings will be called unless there is a prospect of success," he said.

"NOT ENOUGH"

Mr. Peterson said a six-hour joint meeting in his office Monday narrowed the gap on wages and union security, the main issues, "a little . . . but not enough."

William Lowe, international vice-president of the striking union, announced the arbitration proposal had been rejected unanimously by the 60 strikers and added:

"We regret this action was necessary."

The statement said in part: "The company had hoped it might have been possible to settle the majority of the outstanding issues by negotiating and the remaining items might be submitted to binding arbitration."

Investigation Sought

Arena Association Queries Range Of Power Rates

NANAIMO — The B.C. Arenas, Auditoriums and Stadiums Association called yesterday for further investigation of what it called "fluctuations" in power rates from one part of B.C. to another.

A delegation to study the problem and eventually seek lower rates will include the association's new president, Kelowna recreation superintendent Gordon Smith.

Other members will be Esquimalt Coun. James Bryant and two members to be selected by the new executive.

The executive, chosen yesterday, includes Mr. Smith; Fred Madden of Chilliwack and J. J. Iannarelli of Esquimalt, vice-presidents, and V. A. Culpin of Vancouver, secretary-treasurer.

KELOWNA NEXT

Indian Village

Two, Three Families Share House

VANCOUVER—The Indian affairs department has been urged to start a crash program of housing construction for the tidal wave-stricken Indian village at Hot Springs Cove on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union said the village must "not be overlooked or forgotten while the majority of (disaster fund) publicity and aid is being directed at the Alberni area.

A union statement said the Indians suffered extensive home damage and loss of clothing, bedding and other personal possessions, and "the result is that two and even three families are sharing one house."

It said the housing crisis will become even more acute in the next few weeks when 80 children return to the village from residential schools.

GAVE $500

The fishing union recently gave $500 to the disaster fund and asked that some of the money collected be used toward the rehabilitation of Hot Springs Cove.

Meanwhile, the disaster fund committee announced yesterday it will travel to Hot Springs Cove, Kyuquot and other west coast communities to make payments this week.

Fund Aided By Archers In Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Nanaimo Archery Club presented a $10 donation to the Alberni Valley and West Coast Disaster Fund Tuesday in memory of Edgar Brady, who was killed a month ago in Port Alberni when the barge he was working on exploded in the harbor.

Mr. Brady was on the executive of the Vancouver Island Archery Association and a member of the Port Alberni Archery Club. His wife is secretary of the Island Archery Association.

Also making donations to the disaster fund were the Moose Lodge, women of the Moose and the carpenters' union, boosting the fund to $159,000.

Minister Sees Union Monday

Labor Minister Peterson will meet with representatives of the carpenters' union in Victoria at 11 a.m. Monday.

Local 1598 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters asked for the meeting after expressing dissatisfaction earlier this week about delays in negotiations for a new contract.

Car-Crashing Federal Affair

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Les Hammer doubles in brass as local postmaster, but that doesn't swing any weight when it comes to federal complaints about runaway drivers.

A letter from a federal works department official to city council said Monday that cars are crashing into planters at the federal building.

Mayor Hammer, whose office is on the south side of the building, said: "I'm glad the planters are built of granite, otherwise the cars would come right into my office."

He said cars hit the building on the average of once a week and invariably the drivers are women.

★ ★ ★

City superintendent Len Crowshaw said the sidewalk was lowered at the time of construction, when the building was built too low. He said adding three inches to the sidewalk would be quite expensive.

Council decided that the federal department had created the problem and should be prepared to find the solution.

Cowichan Projects

Bids Returned To Committee

DUNCAN — Cowichan school trustees, struck by a big difference in three bids for a ground-seal and roof-vent job at Cowichan Senior Secondary, decided Monday to refer the matter back to their building committee.

The original estimate was $7,900 and the bids were Burak Construction $8,600, Cowichan Construction $6,247 and Peterson Construction $4,054. The committee will discuss the matter with its architect and report back.

SCHOOL BUS BIDS

Two bids were received for a new school bus. Willock Truck and Equipment of Vancouver quoted one price of $13,476 while Campbell and Unicum of Duncan submitted prices of $13,469 and $13,414.

Area counsellor E. A. McKlerahan told trustees that since he began last January he had interviewed 29 children and 96 parents. He had also spoken to 20 parents of prospective occupational and slow-learner pupils.

NO DRAMATIC CHANGES

No dramatic change can be expected, said Mr. McKlerahan, "but even if a child does not progress, you can still win the battle as he does not regress either."

Trustees agreed with Will Dobson, who said the new service has certainly come up to expectations.

The school board granted free use of Quamichan Junior Secondary auditorium for a student band and choir concert June 3. Proceeds will help send four Cowichan district girls on a world tour this summer with the Vancouver Elgar choir.

Duncan Goes to Market

Bonds for Hospital

DUNCAN — City council has decided to call tenders for the sale of $188,000 worth of debentures, the city's contribution toward the $3,500,000 cost of the new Cowichan district hospital.

The city already has contributed some of the money.

Council also decided to study a $50,000 dyking plan submitted by its consulting engineer, Russell Potter, to ease the annual fall and spring flood threat along the Cowichan River.

WATER EXTENSION

Mr. Potter's report on the city waterworks was accepted and the water committee was given the problems of water extension and financing.

The engineer said there was no doubt of the feasibility of the water installation in the city and its immediate surrounding area.

Such areas as Maple Bay, Koksilah, Eagle Heights and the Fairfield-Ortana subdivision could be supplied but financing would be a problem. Financing could be by the consumer, the utility or sales through meters.

Council also:

● Ordered more detailed estimates from its works committee on the rebuilding of Trunk Road between the highway and McKinstry. The provincial highways department will pay $7,000 toward the project.

● Learned the highways department will widen the inside shoulder of Government to allow for pedestrians, as soon as the project can be fitted into its program.

● Agreed to instal two benches in front of the post office for use by elderly people.

Study Likely On Traffic In Nanaimo

NANAIMO — Recent approval of the Commercial Inlet development project may result in a civic study of downtown traffic.

The traffic and parking committee announced Monday it may give further study to all loading zones in the coming year "following the expected change in downtown traffic flow patterns."

One Home for Senior Citizens

Second stage of Kiwanis village for senior citizens in Courtenay will open officially in ceremonies at 2 p.m. Sunday on site at Pidcock and Fifth. One of eight units in $57,165 second stage is shown, and rents for $31 a month plus heat. Third and fourth stages are planned within five years. —(Harry Harris)

Study, Not Fight

Albernis Lose Pollution Move

PORT ALBERNI — A local Chamber of Commerce resolution urging federal and provincial legislation to fight air and water pollution has been tossed out at the B.C. Chamber of Commerce convention in Vancouver, it was learned here.

The B.C. group decided instead to ask government and industry to support pollution studies by the B.C. Research Council.

Delegates asked for better policing of provincial campsites, full-time attendants for campsites with more than 25 units and "a reasonable charge" for the use of all camps.

Cecil Ramsden of Nanaimo was elected a B.C. director of the Canadian Chamber, while Island directors for B.C. are Mayor Les Hammer of Port Alberni, Cliff Laver of Courtenay and W. J. Cockrill of Brentwood Bay.

Zot Takes Opener

Sailing Season Opens For Maple Bay Craft

DUNCAN — The sailboat racing season began at Maple Bay Sunday with several races. The events and winners:

Roome Cup, races one and two—1. Lightning Zot, owned and skippered by John King, 2. Hornet Tsumtsumai, Brice Bevan, 3. Lightning Hyak, Jim Piers; other races, 1. Lightning Klatawa, owned by Bob Sherman and skippered by Gerald Coleman, 2. Tsumtsumai, Bevan, 3. Zot, King; Six-metre series, 1. Juno, owned and skippered by Mike Hansen and Mike Stone.

'Mad' Driver Off Road For Year

NANAIMO — A Nanaimo man told magistrate's court yesterday he drove at speeds of up to 55 miles an hour through town Monday night because "I was angry" after an argument with a friend in a beer parlor.

NOT RUNNING

"I wasn't running from them (police)," said H. N. J. Praestegaard of Bowen Road after pleading guilty to dangerous driving.

Magistrate Eric Winch issued a $125 fine and one-year licence suspension and said:

NOT APPRECIATED

"You were taking your mad out on the vehicle. Driving is a privilege and you have shown you are not appreciative of that privilege."

Citizens' Protest Defeats Bowling Alley Application

By MARGARET TREBETT

PORT ALBERNI—A citizens' protest, led by lawyer William Beckingham, has defeated the plan for a bowling alley on the former curling rink site at the north end of Tenth Avenue.

Rezoning of the site for commercial purposes went to a vote at a city council meeting Monday. The result was 3-3, where a two-thirds majority was needed.

AND SO ASSURING

The city had sold the land, 200 feet by 250 feet, to Albert Wishart and Jack Gilchrist, believing it was already zoned commercial and so assuring the buyers.

Mr. Beckingham, speaking for 123 petitioners, told a recent meeting there was no zoning at all and the Municipal Act stated unzoned land must be regarded as residential.

Council called a public hearing for Monday and Mayor Les Hammer invited Glenwood area property owners to speak their piece.

NOR ANYWHERE

One man said "When I bought up there I intended to put up a $25,000 home. If a bowling alley is allowed in the neighborhood, I won't build there nor anywhere in Port Alberni."

A woman added council had a moral obligation to the residents and called conditions along Tenth a mess.

"Can't we try to make something out of Tenth Avenue?" she asked.

NOTICE QUESTIONED

Mr. Beckingham stressed the petitioners obviously considered their property would be devalued if rezoning went through, and also questioned whether an "abbreviated" notice of the hearing complied with the Municipal Act.

Acting city solicitor George Badovinac agreed the notice did not conform with the act.

'I'M SURPRISED'

Mayor Hammer looked at clerk-comptroller Denis Thain and said: "Mr. Thain, with all your experience, I'm surprised."

Members of the audience were reminded Tenth is scheduled to become a thoroughfare connecting the Twin Cities within the next five or six years. It was pointed out some of the petitioners lived some blocks from the site, adjacent to other commercial property or to industrial lots.

VOTE REQUESTED

Mr. Wishart urged council to vote immediately in fairness to the petitioners and to himself and his partner.

The mayor suggested proper notice be given for another hearing in two weeks but Ald. Howard McLean, who opposed rezoning, said:

"Let's vote on it now. I think council should realize by now this should be quashed."

Asking councillors to consider how they would feel if this happened to them, he said: "We have the power but we shouldn't use it. We should remember our moral obligation to the people of Glenwood."

Aldermen Jack Perry, Bob Dalton and Garnet Reynolds voted in favor of the motion to rezone. Opposed were Aldermen McLean, George Cole and William Goddard.

Logger Still Missing

CAMPBELL RIVER — An intensive air and ground search has failed to turn up a trace of Neil Lindsay, 22, missing for a week from a logging camp at Hayden Bay, 30 miles northwest of here.

He lived all his life in the area and was said to be familiar with surrounding woods.

Golf Club Has Field Day

CHEMAINUS — Mrs. W. O. Wilson of Ladysmith and Joe Carmichael won the Kay's trophy competition, main event of the recent annual Mount Brenton Golf Club field day. Mrs. Austin Renfree and Alex Wilkinson were runners-up.

Bob Jansch, who arranged the field day, won the horse race with Al Nelson second and other winners were Mrs. Harold Cook, Chris Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Young, Hal Cook, Mrs. Reg. Harwood, Ed Hess, John Coupland of Duncan and Jean Piper and Mrs. Terry Jackson of Nanaimo.

ALBERNI — Highways Minister Gaglardi has agreed to rebuild tidal wave-stricken River Road this summer, but the decision means Alberni will have to wait another year for a project requested for almost 15 years.

JOHNSTON ROAD

Mayor Fred Bishop disclosed Tuesday rebuilding of River Road as the first step in the rehabilitation of flood victims has forced another delay in the conversion of Johnston Road, from Helen to Tebo, as an arterial highway.

He said a meeting with Mr. Gaglardi was told "the department could not undertake both projects this year."

The Alberni delegation pointed out property owners on the north side of River Road were hesitating to rebuild and move back homes "until they had assurance the road would be raised to provide some protection against future flooding."

COULD CONFORM

It was also necessary to learn the road's elevation so building could conform, and this in turn made it "obvious no future building would be advisable south of River Road, between the road and the river, if the road levels were going to be elevated substantially."

Mr. Gaglardi agreed to rebuild River Road providing the city pays 50 per cent of the cost of road sections which need four lanes, curbs and gutters.

TWO BUILDINGS

Mayor Bishop said the department will buy necessary right-of-way and two buildings on the right-of-way so it can move the highway closer to the river between Beaver Creek Road and the Indian reserve.

The road will be one and a half to six feet higher in this area, which took some of the worst tidal wave damage.

Parksville Day Big Success

PARKSVILLE—Bad weather which forced even the maypole dancers to move indoors didn't prevent the 23rd May Day celebration from being a big success.

The parade did it—everyone agreed it was one of the best on record.

QUEEN JANICE

A large crowd witnessed the crowning of Janice Moncrieff as 1964 May Queen. Due to the absence of retiring queen Janet Cutler the ceremony was performed by Aileen Field, president of the student council, who gave the new queen a locket.

Navy cadets also formed a guard of honor for the May Queen and entourage, and the salute to the queen was given by the Nanaimo air cadet band and drill team.

Norman Trim was master of ceremonies and afternoon entertainment included the dancing, displays by Moose Lodge Majorettes of Nanaimo, and selections by the bands and French Creek School choir.

A children's dance followed and the May Queen's Ball climaxed the festivities at 9 p.m.

FIVE ESCORTS

May Queen attendants were Darlene Guderyan and Tenney-Ann Campbell and 1963 attendants were Sharon Nabseth and Cindy Thompson. Escorts were Peter Avis, David Clayton, Jack Ferguson, Peter Giovando and Bob Malone.

The entire program was sponsored by Parksville Parent Teachers' Association. Winners of parade prizes:

Floats—Organizations: 1, Parksville-Qualicum 4-H Club; 2, Parksville Kinsmen Club; 3, Boy Scouts, honorable mention, Girl Guides. Commercial—1, Parksville and District Credit Union; 2, B.C. Hydro. Decorated cars—1, Parksville fire department women's auxiliary; 2, Canada Frontier Service; 3, Parksville Yard. Group entries—1, Trimble Riding Club; 2, Parksville Riding Centre; 3, French Creek Choir; special, Parksville Brownies.

Children — Costumes, pre-school: 1, Karen Jenkins; 2, Michel Botfield; 3, Craig Peterson; school age, 1, Yvette Botfield; 2, Bruce Jenkins; 3, Melanie Epp; decorated vehicles: 1, Linda Fitton; 2, Maureen Anderson; 3, Sandra Irving; decorated bicycles, 1, Judy Aitken; 2, Sandra Hayward; 3, Bobby Levirs.

Single Chief Vital

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's integration of defence headquarters under a single chief of staff is absolutely essential if savings are to be achieved, Defence Minister Hellyer said Tuesday.

Outlining his plan to the Commons defence committee, Mr. Hellyer said the number of generals, lieutenant-generals and major-generals is being reduced to 12 from 17, and similar savings can be achieved as integration of the armed forces on functional lines proceeds.

"We feel this will operate satisfactorily and efficiently, and that we will be able to keep our forces at a high state of readiness, and keep up the support which is absolutely essential."

CHIEFS OF STAFF

Under existing defence headquarters organization, the minister is advised on military matters by the chairman of a chiefs of staff committee and by the chiefs of the navy, army and air force. The chairman of the Defence Research Board and the deputy minister of national defence also have direct lines to the ministry.

Under the new setup, the chairman of the chiefs of staff and the three services' chiefs will be replaced by a single chief of defence staff.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) questioned Mr. Hellyer about the source of his new organization plan, and the real purpose to be achieved.

TO SAVE MONEY

Mr. Hellyer said it was to streamline the forces and use the money saved on new equipment purchases. The purpose, he said, was "to get the maximum amount of force in a high state of readiness for the least amount of money."

Mr. Lambert said it involved a fundamental reorganization of the armed forces which Parliament was being asked to approve "on his own word and the word of the government."

Grand Unfurling: Today's the Day

Which

Will It Be?

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's proposed maple leaf flag will be shown to Parliament for the first time today.

Prime Minister Pearson told Commons Tuesday that a resolution describing the new Canadian flag design would be published in today's votes and proceedings, a Commons document usually issued in mid-morning.

He also indicated that a pictorial representation of the flag would be distributed to MPs, by Thursday at the latest.

DEFINITELY READY

A spokesman for Mr. Pearson said Tuesday night that the pictorial representation would definitely be ready for today.

It was learned that the colored design would be disclosed publicly at 6:30 a.m. PDT in a committee room of the Parliament Buildings.

DEBATE SOON

Earlier, the spokesman said officials were waiting to see how the color reproduction turned out at the printers' plant before deciding when to reveal it.

Mr. Pearson said debate on the flag resolution would be started "in a matter of days." He wanted MPs to have ample opportunity to study the resolution and design first.

STRONG FEELINGS

On the eve of the new flag's parliamentary introduction, it still was not certain how the thorny issue would be handed to the MPs, most of whom have strong, and often divided, feelings on the matter.

Some Conservatives still speak privately in favor of a filibuster, confident they can rally enough support in the country to support their stand. But most Quebec Conservatives are anxious to see the proposed flag adopted without undue delay. So far there has been no indication of the party itself taking any stand.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

The Creditiste group has already pledged support to the government and a majority of New Democrats and Social Credit members have indicated they will support the maple leaf flag.

The design of the new flag still remained an official secret Tuesday—five days after the

Red Ensign Favorite On Ballots

First-day results of a national newspaper poll on choice of an official flag for Canada indicate more Canadians rallying around the Red Ensign than around a distinctive new flag.

Of 1,448 ballots received by the Toronto Telegram, 1,188 readers voted for the Red Ensign, while only 288 supported a distinctive flag, making the Ensign four-to-one favorite.

A special survey of readers by the Winnipeg Free Press shows an almost even split in voting.

'Cannibalistic'

Russian Raps Barry's Proposal

(From AP, UPI)

Soviet United Nations delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko Tuesday accused U.S. Senator Barry Goldwater of urging on the U.S. a "cannibalistic policy" of atomic warfare in South Viet Nam—and suggested that Goldwater be placed in a strait-jacket.

In other developments involving Southeast Asia:

- UN Secretary-General U Thant said in Ottawa he doubts the competence of the UN to undertake any task at present in Southeast Asia.
- U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon, South Viet Nam, said Communist Viet Cong guerrillas stepped up activities near that capital, wiping out a platoon of Vietnamese soldiers within 40 miles of the city.
- Reports from Vientiane said right-wing Laotian forces and pro-communist Pathet Lao troops were manoeuvering in evident preparation for a battle for a strategic point on the Mekong River across from Thailand.
- In Cambodia, Prince Sihanouk said he was ready to welcome UN inquiry teams and eventually UN troops to police his country's tense border with South Viet Nam.

Canadian fires Browning at Turks

By DON GAIN
Colonist Military Reporter

NICOSIA — In the dry hills below St. Hilarion Castle yesterday morning I watched the second engagement of the Canadian contingent since their arrival in Cyprus.

It was probably one of the most serious incidents so far in the two months since the Canadian troops arrived on the troubled Mediterranean island.

It was directed by Major Patrick Tremblay, officer commanding Charlie Company, Royal 22nd Regiment, and squadron leader at Royal Roads from 1952 to 1955.

SIX RIFLE SHOTS

I counted six rifle shots from a Turkish Cypriot mud embankment half a mile up the hill from me. They were answered by two bursts of machine gun fire from Ferret troop carriers of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. There were no casualties.

Later, in the Kyrenia Pass, 10 miles north of Nicosia, Greek Cypriots fired on United Nations television and radio officer Antonello Maresalchi and Capt. Jean Lajeunesse.

PINNED DOWN

The two men were pinned behind their UN civilian vehicle by savage fire. While the bullets peppered the car as they lay behind it, they recorded a tape describing the scene, punctuated by the sound of fire.

Neither man was hurt. While they recorded the scene, four Canadians of the Royal 22nd regiment drove off under fire to reach Greek Cypriots and stop the shooting.

The Cypriots quickly apologized and a Cypriot government press release blamed the incident on "mistaken identity."

Maresalchi later told reporters: "We were flying UN flags."

SKIRMISHES

I left for Cyprus last week and walked right into the middle of this outburst of skirmishes between UN peace force patrols and Greek and Turkish Cypriot fighters.

A UN spokesman has accused the Cypriots of deliberately firing on the patrols in the Kyrenia Mountains when "there was no possibility the firing was accidental and due to mistaken identity."

A special military service was held yesterday for Finnish UN soldier Juhani Matikainen, who was shot and killed by

Stroke Kills Nehru

NEW DELHI (CP) — Prime Minister Nehru, leader of India's 400,000,000 population since independence in 1947, died today after suffering a stroke. He was 74 and had been in ailing health for several months.

The 74-year-old Nehru had been ailing since last January with high blood pressure and weakness of the left side. There were reports at the time that he had suffered a stroke.

TREMBLING HEART

Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda said in the lower house: "It is with trembling heart that I have to convey to the house information about the state of health of the prime minister which has just been passed on to me by doctors in attendance on him.

"Suddenly at 6:20 this morning he (the prime minister) was taken seriously ill and his condition is causing anxiety."

THROMBOSIS

Nehru has been prime minister since India received its independence from Britain in 1947.

Reuters News Agency said usually well-informed sources said Nehru was believed to have suffered a thrombosis (blood clot). It did not say where. There had been a sudden drop in his blood pressure.

Governor Asks For New Troops

GEORGETOWN (CP) — Governor Sir Richard Luyt of British Guiana has requested more reinforcements from Britain, the local garrison commander, Col. Robin King, said Tuesday.

Fresh violence Monday night forced the authorities in this troubled colony to fly 150 armed police and British troops to the tense bauxite town of MacKenzie.

Charge Dropped

100-Day Prisoner Deported

TORONTO (CP) — After languishing 100 days in Don Jail, a 27-year-old Buffalo, N.Y., man was given a swift plane passage back to the United States Tuesday.

The end came almost as an anti-climax for Eric Claude Hooper when immigration officials Tuesday dropped a charge they had laid 94 days after he was first imprisoned, and ordered him deported.

Hooper, who has been deported three times since 1962 when he was convicted on a narcotics charge and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, was taken to the plane by RCMP.

NO ACQUITTAL

A few hours earlier, defence lawyer Allan Mintz had insisted in court that the charge under the Immigration Act of refusing to answer questions be proceeded with so he could win Hooper an acquittal, but Magistrate S. T. Bigelow permitted the charge to be withdrawn.

Hooper had been remanded Monday to June 12 on the charge on personal bail, but was nabbed on a deportation order by RCMP officers.

Hooper said in an interview he had refused to answer any questions until he obtained legal counsel, and an immigration officer had told him:

Rare Type Of Blood Sought

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Red Cross Society is looking for two bottles of rare blood needed for the birth of an Oshawa baby June 1. The birth will be a caesarian section.

HALIFAX AREA

The Red Cross said the most convenient location for donors of this blood type is in the Halifax area. There are also some persons in the Alberta foothills, about 150 miles northeast of Edmonton, who have the same blood type.

The Red Cross said Halifax authorities have been notified but if two donors are not found in time to meet the emergency, a search will be made among those known to have the rare blood type in Alberta.

Chicken Settles Tug Suit

First Chop, Then Cheque

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—Two Chinese businessmen settled a suit out of court and in a Buddhist temple Tuesday by cutting off the head of a white cockerel with an axe.

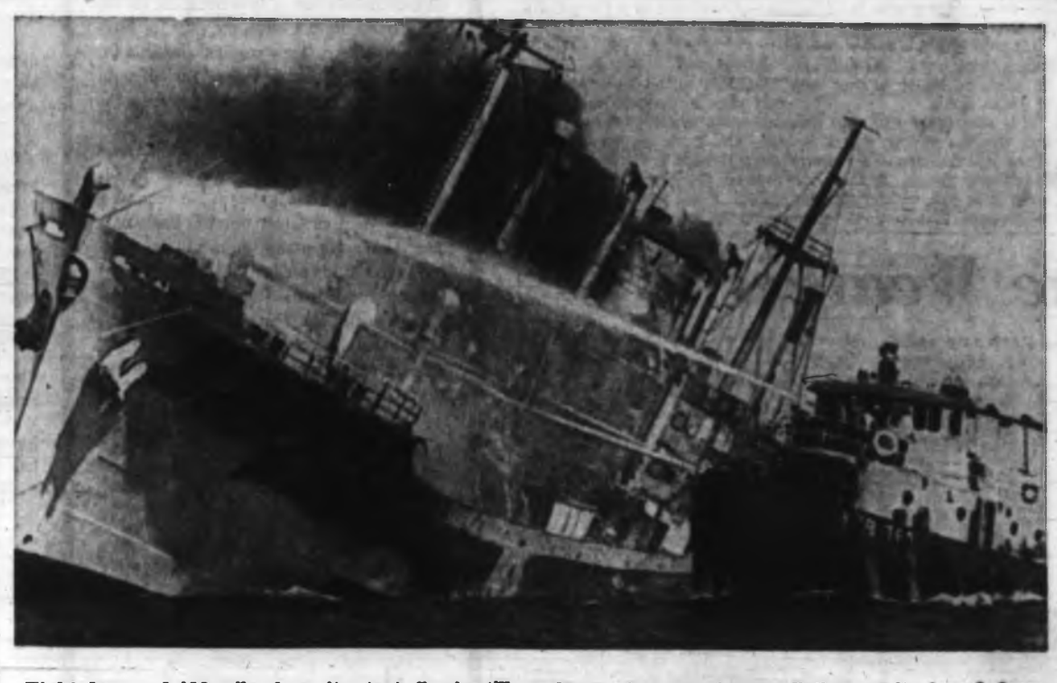

Marine engine salesman Lai Teck Leong had brought the suit for $4,000 against tugboat company owner Chia Gek Khoon for payment for spare parts.

Chia said the salesman had guaranteed the parts would last for seven years, but they only lasted for one. Lai denied he had given a seven-year guarantee, and went to the temple to prove his point.

As anyone knows, temple authorities said, it is bad luck to kill a chicken in the temple if you are lying.

When lightning did not strike, Chia shrugged and handed Lai a cheque for $4,000 for the engine parts.

Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda said in the lower house: "It is with trembling heart that I have to convey to the house information about the state of health of the prime minister which has just been passed on to me by doctors in attendance on him.

"Suddenly at 6:20 this morning he (the prime minister) was taken seriously ill and his condition is causing anxiety."

Nehru has been prime minister since India received its independence from Britain in 1947.

Reuters News Agency said usually well-informed sources said Nehru was believed to have suffered a thrombosis (blood clot). It did not say where. There had been a sudden drop in his blood pressure.

Hellyer:

Single Chief Vital

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's integration of defence headquarters under a single chief of staff is absolutely essential if savings are to be achieved, Defence Minister Hellyer said Tuesday.

Outlining his plan to the Commons defence committee, Mr. Hellyer said the number of generals, lieutenant-generals and major-generals is being reduced to 12 from 17, and similar savings can be achieved as integration of the armed forces on functional lines proceeds.

"We feel this will operate satisfactorily and efficiently, and that we will be able to keep our forces at a high state of readiness, and keep up the support which is absolutely essential."

CHIEFS OF STAFF

Under existing defence headquarters organization, the minister is advised on military matters by the chairman of a chiefs of staff committee and by the chiefs of the navy, army and air force. The chairman of the Defence Research Board and the deputy minister of national defence also have direct lines to the ministry.

Under the new setup, the chairman of the chiefs of staff and the three services' chiefs will be replaced by a single chief of defence staff.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) questioned Mr. Hellyer about the source of his new organization plan, and the real purpose to be achieved.

TO SAVE MONEY

Mr. Hellyer said it was to streamline the forces and use the money saved on new equipment purchases. The purpose, he said, was "to get the maximum amount of force in a high state of readiness for the least amount of money."

Mr. Lambert said it involved a fundamental reorganization of the armed forces which Parliament was being asked to approve "on his own word and the word of the government."

Charge Dropped

100-Day Prisoner Deported

TORONTO (CP) — After languishing 100 days in Don Jail, a 27-year-old Buffalo, N.Y., man was given a swift plane passage back to the United States Tuesday.

The end came almost as an anti-climax for Eric Claude Hooper when immigration officials Tuesday dropped a charge they had laid 94 days after he was first imprisoned, and ordered him deported.

Hooper, who has been deported three times since 1962 when he was convicted on a narcotics charge and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, was taken to the plane by RCMP.

NO ACQUITTAL

A few hours earlier, defence lawyer Allan Mintz had insisted in court that the charge under the Immigration Act of refusing to answer questions be proceeded with so he could win Hooper an acquittal, but Magistrate S. T. Bigelow permitted the charge to be withdrawn.

Hooper had been remanded Monday to June 12 on the charge on personal bail, but was nabbed on a deportation order by RCMP officers.

Hooper said in an interview he had refused to answer any questions until he obtained legal counsel, and an immigration officer had told him:

House of Commons

Grand Unfurling: Today's the Day

Which

Will It Be?

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's proposed maple leaf flag will be shown to Parliament for the first time today.

Prime Minister Pearson told Commons Tuesday that a resolution describing the new Canadian flag design would be published in today's votes and proceedings, a Commons document usually issued in mid-morning.

He also indicated that a pictorial representation of the flag would be distributed to MPs, by Thursday at the latest.

DEFINITELY READY

A spokesman for Mr. Pearson said Tuesday night that the pictorial representation would definitely be ready for today.

It was learned that the colored design would be disclosed publicly at 6:30 a.m. PDT in a committee room of the Parliament Buildings.

DEBATE SOON

Earlier, the spokesman said officials were waiting to see how the color reproduction turned out at the printers' plant before deciding when to reveal it.

Mr. Pearson said debate on the flag resolution would be started "in a matter of days." He wanted MPs to have ample opportunity to study the resolution and design first.

STRONG FEELINGS

On the eve of the new flag's parliamentary introduction, it still was not certain how the thorny issue would be handed to the MPs, most of whom have strong, and often divided, feelings on the matter.

Some Conservatives still speak privately in favor of a filibuster, confident they can rally enough support in the country to support their stand. But most Quebec Conservatives are anxious to see the proposed flag adopted without undue delay. So far there has been no indication of the party itself taking any stand.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

The Creditiste group has already pledged support to the government and a majority of New Democrats and Social Credit members have indicated they will support the maple leaf flag.

The design of the new flag still remained an official secret Tuesday—five days after the

Red Ensign Favorite On Ballots

Of 1,448 ballots received by the Toronto Telegram, 1,150 readers voted for the Red Ensign, while only 298 supported a distinctive flag, making the Ensign four-to-one favorite.

Rare Type Of Blood Sought

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Red Cross Society is looking for two bottles of rare blood needed for the birth of an Oshawa baby June 1. The birth will be a caesarian section.

HALIFAX AREA

The Red Cross said the most convenient location for donors of this blood type is in the Halifax area. There are also some persons in the Alberta foothills, about 150 miles northeast of Edmonton, who have the same blood type.

The Red Cross said Halifax authorities have been notified but if two donors are not found in time to meet the emergency, a search will be made among those known to have the rare blood type in Alberta.

Liberals Survive Another

OTTAWA (CP) — The minority Liberal government survived its 10th non-confidence vote of the 1964 parliamentary session Tuesday night with the backing of two New Democratic and eight Social Credit MPs.

A Conservative motion, accusing the government of failing to meet pressing agriculture problems, was defeated 130 to 112.

There were 130 Liberals on hand for the vote.

Red Raps Barry's Proposal

(From AP, UPI)

Soviet United Nations delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko Tuesday accused U.S. Senator Barry Goldwater of urging on the U.S. a "cannibalistic policy" of atomic warfare in South Viet Nam—and suggested that Goldwater be placed in a strait-jacket.

In other developments involving Southeast Asia:

- UN Secretary-General U Thant said in Ottawa he doubts the competence of the UN to undertake any task at present in Southeast Asia.
- U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon, South Viet Nam, said Communist Viet Cong guerrillas stepped up activities near that capital, wiping out a platoon of Vietnamese soldiers within 40 miles of the city.
- Reports from Vientiane said right-wing Laotian forces and pro-communist Pathet Lao troops were manoeuvering in evident preparation for a battle for a strategic point on the Mekong River across from Thailand.

Canadian fires Browning at Turks

'We Fire Back —Turks Quit'

By DON GAIN
Colonist Military Reporter

NICOSIA — In the dry hills below St. Hilarion Castle yesterday morning I watched the second engagement of the Canadian contingent since their arrival in Cyprus.

It was probably one of the most serious incidents so far in the two months since the Canadian troops arrived on the troubled Mediterranean island.

It was directed by Major Patrick Tremblay, officer commanding Charlie Company, Royal 22nd Regiment, and squadron leader at Royal Roads from 1952 to 1955.

SIX RIFLE SHOTS

I counted six rifle shots from a Turkish Cypriot mud embankment half a mile up the hill from me. They were answered by two bursts of machine gun fire from Ferret troop carriers of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. There were no casualties.

Later, in the Kyrenia Pass, 10 miles north of Nicosia, Greek Cypriots fired on United Nations television and radio officer Antonello Maresalchi and Capt. Jean Lajeunesse.

The two men were pinned behind their UN civilian vehicle by savage fire. While the bullets peppered the car as they lay behind it, they record-

Neither man was hurt. While they recorded the scene, four Canadians of the Royal 22nd regiment drove off under fire to reach Greek Cypriots and stop the shooting.

The Cypriots quickly apologized and a Cypriot government press release blamed the incident on "mistaken identity."

Maresalchi later told reporters: "We were flying UN flags."

A UN spokesman has accused the Cypriots of deliberately firing on the patrols in the Kyrenia Mountains when "there was no possibility the firing was accidental and due to mistaken identity."

A special military service was held yesterday for Finnish UN soldier Juhani Matikainen, who was shot and killed by

First Chop, Then Cheque

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—Two Chinese businessmen settled a suit out of court and in a Buddhist temple Tuesday by cutting off the head of a white cockerel with an axe.

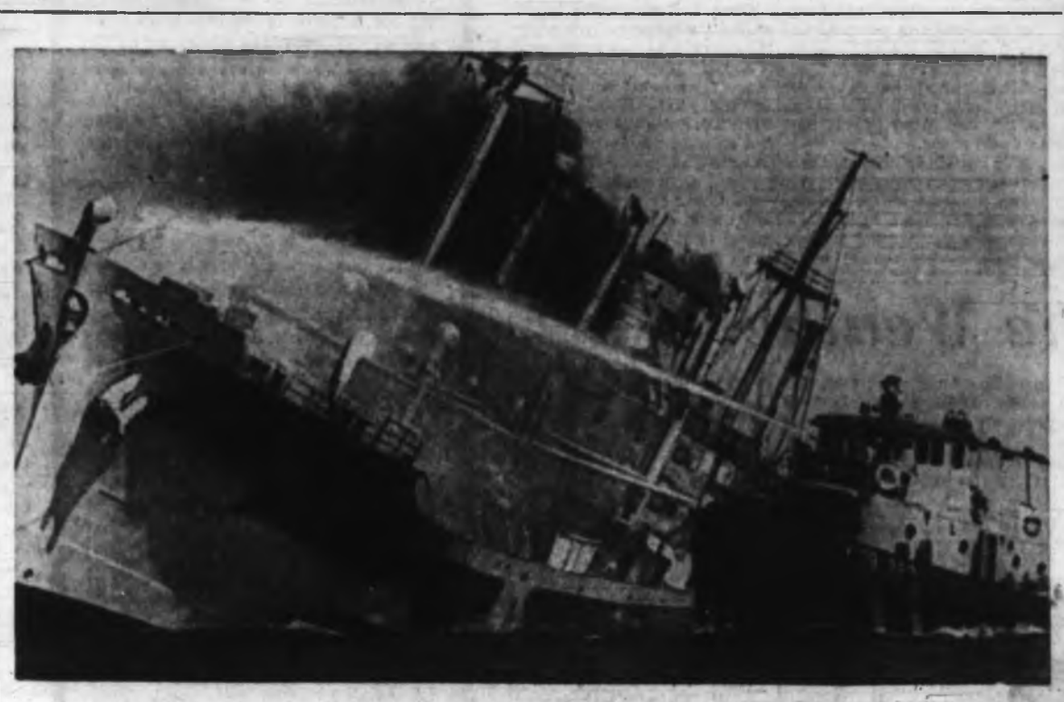

Marine engine salesman Lai Teck Leong had brought the suit for $4,000 against tugboat company owner Chia Gek Khoon for payment for spare parts.

Chia said the salesman had guaranteed the parts would last for seven years, but they only lasted for one. Lai denied he had given a seven-year guarantee, and went to the temple to prove his point.

As anyone knows, temple authorities said, it is bad luck to kill a chicken in the temple if you are lying.

When lightning did not strike, Chia shrugged and handed Lai a cheque for $4,000 for the engine parts.
